Railway Sells Lot For New Gas Station

The Editor's Column

By STUART R. PADDOCK

We wonder how many voters who received a blue envelope from the county clerk recently took time to cut out their voter's registration or to read the text of the three special propositions on which they will have the opportunity of voting Nov. 4.

The voter's certificate will not cost anything.

The bonus for Korean war veterans will cost a tax of 1½ mills for every cigarette sold or smoked. Nothing is said about "king size."

As a safeguard against a shortage of cigarette smokers, the act provides for a state real estate and property tax if such additional money is needed to pay the bonus bonds and interest.

After 10 years of no state tax, it will be back with us again if the voters approve a $248,000,000 bond issue for various improvements at institutions owned by the state.

Will increased taxes never end? These are both worthy causes, but many of us have thought we were doing our tax part by approving bonds to build local schools.

The amendment to the state judicial system has no bond issue tied to it, but it provides for the firing, at the end of their present terms, a lot of judges and courts. The firing does not alone apply to justices of the peace and police magistrates, but covers the closing of present municipal, county, probate, the superior and criminal courts. An enlarged circuit court will take over the present functions of all of these.

One of the greatest changes in the new court system is the elimination of the masters in chancery. The large fees they are at present permitted to charge tend to make them a political plum at the cost of litigants.

The amendment, however, does not provide for selection of judges on a non-political basis. They will continue to be nominated by political parties.

At least the Circuit court system in the suburban area will be independent of Chicago.

The amendment provides that the area of Cook county outside the city of Chicago shall be a separate unit for the election or selection of associate judges and shall have at least 12 associate judges who shall run at large from such area.

In addition, one-fourth of the 48 magistrates in Cook county must be appointed from and reside in the area outside the corporate limits of Chicago.

One-fourth of the 48 magistrates in Cook county must be appointed from and reside in the area outside the corporate limits of Chicago.

Only licensed attorneys shall preside in the courts. The salaries of all the judges will be paid by the state, but in Cook county they will be allowed to collect additional compensation from the county as may be provided by law.

The sheriffs and county treasurers of the state have tacked onto the amendment a provision that will allow those office holders to serve more than one term.

Voters who desire to be fully informed on the amendment can learn arguments on both sides while sitting in an easy chair at home. The pros and cons are fully covered in legal notices that the county clerk has mailed to all registered voters.

The above gives a few of the highlights of the proposed judicial amendment and the two other special propositions that will appear on the November ballots.

Pastor Honored by Parish For Service and Loyalty

"Built only six years ago and it's already too small . . ."

This comment, which applies to so many phases of suburban life, was made by an Arlington Heights pastor about his church this week but it could also serve as a capsule summary of his 23 years in the parish.

FOR THE PROBLEMS of growth have been foremost in the mind of the Rev. George J. Stier since he arrived at St. James Catholic parish on August 23, 1935.

Sunday, on the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, 225 friends and parishioners gathered at a dinner to honor him both as priest-pastor and builder.

Priests who served under Father Stier recounted the story of the growth of the parish in the years of the population tide into the suburbs. They recalled that his first task after coming here from Fremont Center, Ill., was to expand the parish school with the help of volunteer labor. The result of this and later expansions was that the enrollment of 162 in 1935 rose to its present 1,300 pupils. And the eight classrooms now have increased to 28.

THE FLOOD of new members into the sprawling parish outstripped its facilities, however, and late in the 1930's a second parish was carved out of its territory. First St. Theresa parish was begun in Palatine, then St. Raymond in Mount Prospect. Within the last six years, three more parishes were split off, Our Lady of the Wayside in Arlington Heights, St. Colette in Rolling Meadows and St. Alphonsus in Prospect Heights.

Along with the migration to the suburbs came a change in the make-up of the parish. Father Stier recalled this week that Catholics numbered at most one in 10 when he came here and these few were nearly all descendants of original German stock. Now his fluent German is little used and the Catholic population, he estimates, is nearly half of the total population.

FRIENDS AND PARISHIONERS of St. James Catholic church in Arlington Heights gathered at a dinner and reception Sunday to honor their pastor, Rev. George J. Stier (left), on the 40th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. At right are two girls who recently moved from the parish, Faith Dueball (rear) and her sister, Stephanie.

Pausing to light a cigar, the ruddy-complexioned priest reflected that the newer and younger element in the parish has brought "growing pains" but also "new blood and enthusiasm" into parish life. "I'm only sorry I can't know all of them now that I don't get around like I once did," he mused.

THE 64-YEAR-OLD priest has been slowed down in the past several years by a heart ailment, asthma and high blood pressure. He still handles the heavy bookkeeping duties of the parish, busily figuring ways of paring the debt which the huge building program of the past decade has brought.

Members of the church demonstrated their appreciation for his concern for them Sunday by heaping praise upon him and also by presenting him with a new auto. Attending the dinner and reception afterward were the priest who preceded him at St. James, Rt. Rev. Msgr. John T. Wagener, Rev. Albert Stier, a brother, five former assistants at the church and several clergymen from nearby towns.

Other guests included Mayor and Mrs. Edward G. Carlisle, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lattof, two other brothers and a sister of Father Stier and many parishioners. Co-chairmen of the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murran, 1319 N. Dunton.

Downtown Parks Are In Danger

The Chicago and North Western railway was not bluffing!

It has sold a part of Railroad park in Arlington Heights for commercial purposes. Also, another — and the largest — section of the park has been taken from the village.

The action came Monday and caught many village officials by surprise. First official notice of the railroad's action came when a letter from a vice president of the railroad was read to a village board meeting Tuesday night. The action was not discussed but was sent to a committee for study.

The communication, signed by Kendall Cady, notified the village that the lease for the Railroad park was being terminated.

"We have sold some of the property demised in the lease," the letter said. "If you wish, we will be happy to enter into a new lease covering all of the premises covered in the lease that is cancelled, except the property north of our tracks lying between State and Evergreen, and the property south of our tracks lying between Evergreen and Dunton."

SHORTLY AFTER the letter arrived, a representative of the Sun Oil co. appeared at village hall and applied for a permit to construct a filling station on the southeast corner of Evergreen and Northwest hwy.

What the railroad has in mind for the other property involved—the large park area just south of the depot—was not made known.

Presumably, the railroad has a purchaser for this parcel, too.

If the village grants a permit to Sun Oil co., a 2-bay filling station building will be built on the southeast corner of the lot which is now used for metered parking. Entrances would be built both on Evergreen and Northwest hwy.

THE LOT HAS a 140-foot frontage on the highway and extends in depth to the station platform.

Sale of the property ended years of discussion, much of which has been devoted to the theme that Arlington Heights must preserve its "center charm" at all costs.

Cries of protest have arisen in the past against "chopping down the elms, and tearing up the turf."

However, no definite action ever was taken to purchase any of the land from the railroad.

There have been various offers, and counter-offers, and it wasn't until this week that Arlington Heights awoke to the fact that the railroad meant business when it said it was "liquidating non-revenue producing property."

THERE HAVE BEEN questions whether the railroad had the legal right to sell the park property.

Stephen Jurco, village attorney, two months ago searched records at the Chicago Title & Trust co. for a document that apparently doesn't exist.

Oldtimers claimed that William H. Dunton, founder of the village, deeded the land to the railroad with the stipulation that the land was to be used only for recreational purposes.

Hugo Thal, who was village attorney before Jurco, also searched the records for the document several years ago when a sale of part of the park was being discussed.

But both Jurco and Thal failed to find exact stipulation on the use of the property.

"If there was such a restrictive deed, it must have been destroyed in the Great Chicago fire," Thal said.

GEORGE DUNTON, a descendant of the village's founder who now lives in Arlington Heights, said he knows where the deed is located. But village officials have not seen it.

And, apparently the railroad is sure of its ground.

Their notification to the village of lease termination stated "the land has been sold."

Actually, two leases are involved.

Two Youths Face Burglary Charges

Two youths, aged 16 and 18, are by being held by police awaiting trial on grand larceny charges after they allegedly burglarized an Arlington Heights school and two Des Plaines schools last Wednesday night.

A TOTAL OF $607.60 in cash and checks was stolen from Miner junior high in Arlington Heights while $40 was obtained from Forest school in Des Plaines. Des Plaines police were unable to determine the amount taken from Algonquin high school in that city because a stolen safe could not be opened.

The youths are Terrence P. Lindquist, 18, of 250 W. Dupont, Palatine, who is absent without leave from the army according to police, and Ernest L. Kelly, 16, of 120 S. Hickory, Palatine.

Juvenile Officer Jack Aldrich of Arlington Heights said police had been unable to question Kelly, who was sent to Cook County Psychopathic hospital, but that Lindquist had admitted taking part in the burglaries. Lindquist was also charged with possession of a deadly weapon after police found a .22 caliber rifle in his auto.

A THIRD PALATINE youth, 17 years old and without a police record of serious offenses, was arrested with the other two and admitted taking part in the two Des Plaines burglaries, said Aldrich.

Kelly has a police record including convictions on several grand larceny and petty charges and for auto theft. Lindquist was sent to St. Charles school for boys from Evanston and later returned there as a parole violator, according to juvenile authorities.

Des Plaines police picked up the suspects about 3:30 a. m. Friday in downtown Des Plaines. They were tipped off by several citizens who noticed a safe sticking out of the trunk of an outo.

The theft at Miner school was discovered by a custodian who opened the school at 7 a. m. Thursday. The funds were taken from the office of Principal Robert P. Campbell. Vertical glass panels in two locked doors leading to his office were broken to gain entry.

THE BURGLARS left muddy tracks from the spot where they entered the building by dropping through a skylight to Campbell's office. Retracing their steps, police learned they climbed an outer wall on the south side of the H-shaped building by placing their feet on the narrow-edged window frames and crossed the roof to a plastic dome skylight. Unscrewing the brakets holding the dome, they removed it and dropped 10 feet down into a girls' locker room.

From there it was an easy matter to pass through one-way fire doors leading into the gym and out into a main corridor. Two screwdrivers were taken from a janitors closet and used to break the glass and pry open the principal's desk .

THE SUM OF $534.75 in book rental, lock and accident insurance receipts was taken from an envelope in a desk drawer and $72.85 in cafeteria receipts from another envelope in a closet. The yeggs left the building by another one-way door on the south side of the gymnasium. They had carefully left a path of retreat by propping open a door into the gym with a bent coathanger.

Campbell said the funds had been taken in between 11 a. m. when money is daily deposited at the central school office, and the close of school at 3 p. m. About $1,100 was deposited early in the day. Only in the first week of school, when fees are paid, are there substantial amounts on hand, he noted. All funds were insured.

Broken glass, several small marks on Campbell's desk and dirty floors constituted the only damage to school property. No classrooms, all of which are locked, were entered.

Family Service to Make Area Fund Appeal Monday

"HELP KEEP THIS DOOR OPEN" is the theme of Family Service association's general fund appeal scheduled for next Monday. The "clients" shown about to enter the agency's Mount Prospect office were posed by friends of Family Service.

"Please help your Northwest Family Service to keep this door open!" is the slogan of the house-to-house fund drive in which more than 1,500 block workers will ring doorbells next Monday evening in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Palatine township.

The "door" referred to in the slogan is that of the Family Service office, 214 S. Emerson, Mount Prospect, the only family counseling agency permanently located in the northwest suburban area between Des Plaines and Palatine.

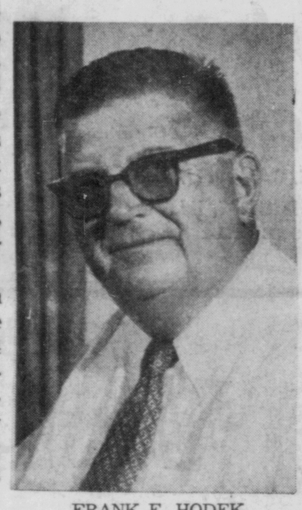
PREVIOUSLY, the individual communities associated in Family Service have raised funds in various ways, points out Stephen Jurco, Arlington Heights, finance chairman. This is the first united fund drive conducted by the association.

Frank E. Hodek, Jr., of Inverness is general chairman of the campaign, assisted by area captains D. M. Johnstone, Des Plaines; Frank N. Lynn, Mount Prospect; William E. Griffith, Arlington Heights; George T. Dupre, Palatine township. Albert E. Goldthwaite, Arlington Heights,, is special gifts chairman.



FRANK E. HODEK

Northwest Family Service had its beginnings at the "grass roots level," explained Dr. Robert G. Savage, president of the association. Family Service agencies have existed for many years in many communities through the country. The need for such a service became so acute in this area that school authorities, clergymen, village officials, newspapers, physicians and public-spirited citizens, many of whom were familiar with Family Service in their former home communities, joined forces in 1957 to incorporate the Northwest Family Service Association as a not-for-profit organization for family counseling.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT from local organizations and individual contributors enabled the board of directors to establish a budget, rent a small office and employ a trained director and caseworker, Mrs. George E. Nicklaus.

"Mrs. Nicklaus, with one clerical office assistant, has handled 230 requests for help in the eight months since Family service opened its door," says Dr. Savage. "Our waiting list in non-emergency cases now extends over a period of several months. Requests for help, now averaging 30 per month, are increasing rapidly as family population increases in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine Township."

The board of Northwest Family Service Association is enthusiastic about the outstanding work of Mrs. Nicklaus in establishing and maintaining the operation of Family Service. "She has carried a schedule normally assigned to three trained caseworkers, in addition to a full administrative load. Northwest Family Service is fortunate to have such a capable person as its executive director. We have the ORGANIZATION — now we must supply more MANPOWER."

PLANS APPROVED by the association's board of directors for increasing the effectiveness of Family Service include the hiring of two additional trained caseworkers; more office space for confidential interviews; and services of professional psychiatrists and psychologists for consultation when needed.

Bank Announces Expansion Program

Expansion plans of the Arlington Heights National bank were laid before the village board Tuesday.

The bank will construct a one-story addition, estimated to cost $75,000, on the west end of the triangle bounded by Dunton ave., Davis and Campbell sts.

PRESIDENT Arthur H. Franzen said razing of a former tavern now on the site is expected to begin within two to three weeks. Target date for occupancy of the addition is next June, he added.

Co-incident with the announcement of building plans was the disclosure that two St. Louis, Mo., bankers have purchased a substantial interest in the Arlington Heights bank and been named bank directors.

They are Douglas Dodds, now executive vice-president, and James Dodds, who became chairman of the board of directors. They acquired the interest owned by the Chicago firm of Mullaney, Wells and co. since last December.

The Dodd's other banking interests are in the Pine Lawn Bank and Trust co., St. Louis, Mo.; First State bank, Fornfelt, Mo.; Farmers State bank, Trenton, Ill., and Franklin State bank, Franklin, Ill.

THE NEW ADDITION will have floor-to-ceiling windows fronting on all three sides, offering pedestrians a clear view into a lobby stretching the length of the building along the Dunton and Campbell sides. Exterior trim will be of aluminum. Adjoining the main entrance to be located at the northeast corner of Dunton and Campbell will be a section of wall decorated with ceramic tile and a second section of tiled wall will be on the south face of the addition, near the existing building.

At the northwest corner of the addition a new vault with 2,500 safety deposit boxes will rise to second-story height and also be partially faced with tile.

The appearance of the interior of the bank will be improved by the removal of present tellers' cages, which will be replaced by waist-high counters to match those in the new portion. The counters with 12 teller windows will form an L-shape grouping around existing and new vaults and inner offices. Eight bank officers will be seated behind low partitions in the northwest corner of the addition. Counters and other furnishings will be of walnut.

DIMENSIONS OF THE addition will be 37 feet along Campbell st. and 65 feet along Dunton st. It will be air-conditioned and of sufficient size to allow for a doubling of the volume of business to the $25,000,000 level, according to the president.

Architect for the project is Arthur C. Purdy of the Chicago firm of Burgess, Stevens and Purdy.

Franzen said the exterior of the existing building will not be remodeled "for the present."

Schedule New Hours

New hours will go into effect Sept. 15 for Arlington Heights barber shops.

Closing time on weekdays will be 6 p.m. instead of 7 p.m. and the shops will close at 5 p.m. instead of 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

The hours were voted by Chicago members of the barbers' association, reportedly in an effort by city barbers to capture the commuters' business.

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

College-bound Arlington Heighters this week continue the exodus begun early in the month when rush week activities were scheduled on many campuses. The family car appears to be the favorite mode of transportation and the most practical, for as one mother said, "The kids want to take everything they own — and half of my stuff, too." In several instances the family went with the family car, affording younger brothers and sisters a foretaste of life on a college campus.

DAVE BROOKE had a family escort a week ago Saturday when he began his college career at Drake university in Des Moines. The family stayed overnight and enjoyed a tour of the campus before returning home to 518 S. Dunton.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Rogers, 312 N. Dwyer, took a day off last Thursday to enjoy the drive with their son, Curt, to Ripon, Wis. where he is transferring for his third year in psychology and associated sciences.

It was family day Sunday on the Monmouth college campus and accordingly the Howard Lips family, 711 N. Evergreen, accompanied Judy as she prepared to begin her first year there as a major in elementary education, designated by the college as "an honor student at entrance." While parents were at dinner in the college dining hall students were hosts to younger members of their family at a picnic on the campus grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Lips, Nancy and Susan returned home Sunday night.

THE FOREST Tracy family, 738 S. Dunton, also took the road to Monmouth this weekend. They left here Saturday to establish Marilyn for her first college year, and stayed overnight to enjoy the family program Sunday.

Another Monmouth freshman is Janet Pearson, who shared the pre-college hubub at home with brother, Bob, while their mother, Mrs. Harry Pearson, put in double time getting them both ready. Bob left for Champaign Wednesday where he is doing graduate work at the University of Illinois. Sunday Mrs. Pearson stayed overnight, returning home Monday afternoon to an unusually calm 503 N. Haddow.

The Victor Bedingfields, 612 N. Dunton, made a round trip to Mt. Vernon, Iowa last Thursday when Jane returned to Cornell college for her second year as a major in elementary education.

UNIVERSITY of Illinois freshmen Tom Amberg and Bob Creviston left for Champaign, together right after Labor day for rush week on the Illini campus. Tom, son of the Carl Ambergs, 612 S. Walnut, has since pledged to the Phi Kappa fraternity and Bob, son of the Mark Crevistons, 717 N. Pine, has pledged to the Acacia fraternity. Both boys returned home for the weekend after rush weekend made the trip back to Champaign for the official start of the freshman year last Tuesday. The Crevistons went on to Springfield for a few days after leaving Bob at the campus.

The population at the W. H. Froembgen household seems to run to extremes lately. After two years in Germany with the army, Bill recently returned home almost on the heels of his brother, Jim, who arrived from Monterey, Cal. with his wife and baby, after completing a hitch with the coast guard, and there was a full house at 823 N. Vail st. However, the count will go down to two Monday when Dick leaves for South Bend to begin his third year at Notre Dame university. Jim and his family left for Bloomington, Ind. last Monday where he will work for his doctorate in business administration, and Bill, whose law study was interrupted by his army duty, is back at the law school of Loyola university.

DEAN PAAJANEN chose to postpone the celebration of his September 3 birthday until cousins from Hillside could be in Arlington Heights to join him. At a recent outdoor barbecue Dean's cousins and neighborhood boy friends made up a party of 11 at the Paajanen home, 515 S. Mitchell and belatedly "whooped it up" for the occasion of Dean's ninth birthday.

When the 11th of the month rolls around at the Earl Pelland household, 45 S. Salem, there's almost a 50-50 chance that it's time to celebrate a birthday since all four members of the family have the 11th as their birth date. This month it's Ricky's turn. He was seven years old last Thursday and celebrated at an after school party in his parents' home with a dozen school and neighborhood friends.

MRS. WALTER Smith of Metuchen, N. J., arrived Sunday for a week's visit here with her son and family, the J. A. Smiths, 909 S. Dunton.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Watt, Tim and Bill, 143 S. Fernandez, left for the east early last month when Mr. Watt began a short business course at Columbia university's graduate school of business in Harriman, N. Y. Mrs. Watt and the boys went on to Butler, Pa. after Mr. Watt's enrollmen and spent three weeks there with Mrs. Watt's sister, Mrs. Adolph Herrmann. Mrs. Herrmann returned here with her sister and the boys a few days after Labor day for a visit that ended last Wednesday.

Ted Krotsgren of Woodbury, Conn. was a guest last week in the J. Ned Graef home, 737 S. Mitchell, during a brief stay in Chicago.

MRS. JOHN Angus was welcomed by 10 of her new neighbors along the 100 block of S. Fernandez last Wednesday at an afternoon get-together over coffee and cake in the home of Mrs. Carl Larsen, 102 S. Fernandez. The Angus family has recently taken possession of the former E. H. Weigman home at 101 S. Fernandez, coming to Arlington Heights from West Hartford, Conn.

Robert, 15, barely had time to get acquainted with his new home before he was off for St. Petersburg, Fla. where he attends the Admiral Farragut academy. At home are his sisters, 3-year-old Laurie and Susan, 5 months, and a great aunt, Mrs. Jule McCuen of Boston, here for an extended visit with the Angus family.

IT WAS FAMILY reunion time at the Lyle Huntleys', 421 N. Wilshire, over the weekend. Thursday Mr. Huntley's brother, George, and his wife and daughter, arrived by train from Santa Rosa, Cal., and Friday their parents, the Harry Huntleys, arrived from Eldora, Iowa to complete the family picture.

It was the first time in 16 years that everyone was together at the same time and aside from a sightseeing and shopping trip to the Loop Saturday, the weekend was spent in reminiscing. Monday the California branch of the family accompanied the senior Huntleys back to Eldora to spend a 2-week vacation there.

Picnics while the weather still permits remain the favorite way to entertain. Mr. and Mrs. Morris McBride, 2608 Cornell, recently hosted 30 Chicago area and local friends at an outdoor barbecue at their home, uniting a group that has not been together for almost five years. Several of the men in the company hail from Sedalia, Mo. the McBrides' home town, and Mrs. McBride reports that when they all get together it sounds like a meeting of the Sedalia Booster club. Tentative plans were made so that another five years do not go by before they all meet again.

A WORD TO the picnic-minded is sufficient and when Al May, 509 S. Prindle, recently mentioned "block picnic" one was organized and ready to roll almost before he finished talking. Twenty-one families in the S. Prindle area met at Deer Grove a week ago Saturday, outwaited some rain that tried to crash the party and proceeded with a successful potluck picnic. Games and prizes entertained the children and uncounted numbers of bottles of pop refreshed them.

A WHOLE weekend of celebrating marked the 75th birthday of Adolph Lindstrom, 745 S. Beverly lane. Saturday evening, his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lindstrom, 824 S. Beverly, entertained the family, which included the Lindstroms' six children, most of their 16 grandchildren, a brother and a family friend, at dinner. Sunday morning breakfast was held at the home of another son and daughter-in-law, the Howard Lindstroms of 831 Harvard.

The senior Lindstroms then concluded the celebration by entertaining the family and friends for Sunday dinner before out-of-town family members departed. The Lindstroms' daughters and were Dr. and Mrs. John D. Osmond of Shaker Heights, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Finlayson of Decatur, Ind. Other close by children were the Thomas Thackerys of Arlington Heights and the Theodore Lindstroms of

INSTANT TONIC

Back in the old days a thing called a "tonic cup" was a favorite remedy for almost anything that ailed you. Cheap, too. You took a cup made of bitter wood . . . added hot water . . . let it steep. Then, when bitter, you drank it. Simple? Yes. Too bad it didn't do any good. Nowadays science gives us more reliable medications. Even so, some people still take "home remedies" when their illnesses require more effective medication. Play safe. When you or a member of your family is ill, seek professional care. Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Palatine. Mr. Lindstrom's brother and sister-in-law, the Gunnar Lindstroms of Skokie, and a friend, Dexter Ford of Hartford, Conn. were among the guests.

Mr. Lindstrom has been associated with John Lindstrom, Inc., building contractors, for 50 years and is presently the secretary-treasurer of the organization. He and Mrs. Lindstrom have lived in Arlington Heights since 1946.

THOMAS CAIN, 111 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, will move to Winona, Minn. about the first of the year, where he will be operating a McDonald drive-in. The Cain family has lived in Arlington Heights five years, during which time Mr. Cain has been associated with the Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral home here.

Mrs. Cain and the children, Colleen, 6, Thomas Jr., 4, and Kathleen, 2, moved to Winona over the Labor day weekend so Colleen would be able to begin school there.

Enjoying an outing as the guest of Lee Watson on his boat on Fox Lake this past Sunday before returning to their respective colleges were Gary Young, returning to Carleton college, Northfield, Minn.; Donald Stadelman, to Michigan Tech at Houghton, Mich.; Keith Sim, to University of Illinois at Navy Pier, and their host, Lee Watson, returning to his studies at Northwestern university, Evanston.

MR. AND MRS. E. ALLEN Kovar, 431 Windsor, and their weekend guests attended the inaugural meeting of the new Meadowdale International Raceway in Carpenterville Sunday. Both the Kovars are enthusiastic sport car fans and members of the Sports Car Club of America, and they were chosen to score and time the individual drivers and automobiles.

A group of Stonegate neighbors, seeking a place that served authentic Mexican food and atmosphere, called on the Mexican council for advice. A restaurant on Chicago's near north side was recommended at which the Roger Maitlands, John Vanniers and Frank Daniels dined on superlative Mexican cuisine and had a wonderful time.

Alan Milleren, 441 Windsor, who spent the summer working in an insurance company in Peoria, spent a brief weekend at home with his parents and was off again to begin his junior semester at Bradley university.

MISS STEPHANIE Empkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Empkie, 209 Stratford, and Miss Nancy Wilkinson of Mt. Prospect, are visiting friends in Champaign prior to leaving for their respective schools. Miss Empkie leaves September 16, for Duke university in Durham, N.C. where she is a sophomore. Miss Wilkinson soon will leave for Purdue.

Mrs. Frank Daniel, 346 Derbyshire, president of the Carousel Dinner Dance club, entertained newly-elected officers of the club at a coffee September 4. The group discussed the first dance which will be held October 4, at the Itasca country club.

Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Gale Oberlin, 201 Dryden, extend their sympathy on the death of Mrs. Oberlin's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Pratt. Mrs. Pratt, who made her home with her daughter, died September 11, after a long illness.

RECENT GUESTS OF Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moltz, 215 Drury, were Mrs. Joseph Melcer of Anderson, Ind., and Mrs. Carl Defenderfer of Marion, Ind.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Lussow, 407 Windsor, were Mrs. Lussow's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips of Rocky River, Ohio. Monday, Bill Lussow and Al Rose left for Ft. Collins to attend the Colorado State university, where both boys are juniors.

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given Sunday for Mrs. James Morris, at the home of Miss Barbara Wilkins, 1112 E. Northwest hwy. Miss Wilkins decorated the bridal table beautifully with a flower arrangement of tiny white roses and pale pink carnations set in a milk glass bowl arranged beneath a white and silver net umbrella. Guests were served punch and fancy sandwiches. About 20 guests attended the shower, presenting the new bride with many beautiful gifts for her home.

CHRISTINE OGIER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Ogier, 333 Stratford, celebrated her seventh birthday, September 10, by taking her eight guests to Fun Fair in Skokie for the afternoon, and then coming home for refreshments and birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hickox, 314 Windsor, entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. David Everard and Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Gutzman at a barbecue, and patio party Saturday evening.

A birthday party and luncheon for Mrs. Edward F. Cummiskey, 313 Stratford, was held at the Indian Trail restaurant in Winnetka, September 12. Among her Stonegate neighbors who shared in the birthday celebration were Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. William Hines, Mrs. Everett Wagner and Mrs. Earl Ogier.

Mrs. H. W. Colburn, 535 S. Burton, left for Boston Wednesday to be near her critically ill father, Frank Lonergan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jarecki, 705 E. Fairview, entertained their neighbors and a few friends from Chicago at a cocktail party Sunday.

DAVE BRUNNER, 357 S. Burton, has finished his basic 8-week army training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. and is spending two weeks at home before he leaves again. Dave was chosen to attend the Naval School of Music at Washington D. C.

Among the group of 33 young people who had a delightful weekend at Lake Geneva with the Junior Tuxis of the Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights, were Daryl and Larry Down, children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Down, 230 Bristol. The weather was warm and sunny and the youngsters were able to go swimming and boating.

Mrs. Quentin Lambert, 519 S. Pine, is home after spending five days in Sherman hospital, Elgin.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Elliot, 529 S. Pine, and their three children, Peter, Christopher and David, will soon leave Arlington Heights for their new home in Riverside, Conn.

MR. AND MRS. FRANZ Burnier and their baby daughter, Delysa, who spent the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Burnier, 516 Fairview, left Monday for Ann Arbor, where Franz will attend the University of Michigan. He will graduate in January and then enter law school.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell F. Christy, 505 S. Belmont, held open house Saturday, from 4:30 to 6:30 to welcome friends. The Christys recently returned from an 11-month stay in Lansdown, Pa., while Mr. Christy attended the University of Pennsylvania, taking a special course in humanistic studies for executives.

The Christy children, Linda and Lowell Jr., spent the summer in Bloomfield, Iowa, visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Christy.

Houseguests of the William Balls, 454 Banbury, are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McNamara of Boston.

Bruce Bolas, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bolas, 630 S. Beverly, left Monday for Ann Arbor, where he will be a freshman at the University of Michigan school of engineering.

MISS CAROL HOPE Hampton, 422 E. Central, spent the weekend in Harvey visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pardin and family, formerly of Arlington Heights.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Baughman Jr., 617 S. Burton, for the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menalis Jr. of Minneapolis.

September 7, the Baughmans and Menalises attended an open house in honor of Mr. Baughman's parents' 60th wedding anniversary, at the Warrenville home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Baughman. About 80 relatives and friends were on hand to congratulate the senior Baughmans.

Miss Judy Clabaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clabaugh, 510 S. Beverly, left September 4 for Bloomington, Ind., where she will assume her duties as counselor for freshman orientation week at the University of Indiana. Miss Clabaugh is a sophomore at the university.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wittenburg, 715 S. Beverly, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dinse of Palatine crossed Lake Michigan Sunday in the Wittenburgs' 18-foot cabin cruiser, the Jodi Lyn stopping off at the Indiana Sand Dunes. They spent the day swimming and picnicking. On their trip home, strong winds and choppy water slowed their boat considerably, causing them a little concern.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Dotts, 600 Banbury, had as their guests the past weekend, the latter's sister and niece, Mrs. H. W. Dosey and Mrs. R. O. Ferguson, both of Pittsburgh. Currently visiting the Dotts family is another sister of Mrs. Dotts, Mrs. H. A. Beatty, also of Pittsburgh. (A couples' bridge tournament and neighborhood couples wishing to participate may call Mrs. Ann Mockenhaupt, CL. 5-2335, by Sunday.

4-H Fair Attracts Record Attendance

GRAND CHAMPION DAIRY WINNER, a Holstein cow, at the North Cook county 4-H fair is shown by its owner, 15-year-old Bill Engler of the Palatine Township 4-H club.

THE BEST IN VEGETABLES is displayed by grand champion Dale Landmeier. Dale, who is 10 years old, is a member of the Elk Grove Village 4-H club.

The largest number of people to attend any single day of the North Cook county 4-H fair turned out Saturday night at Arlington Park.

APPROXIMATELY 15,000 persons were estimated to have attended the 12th annual Fair Saturday night, Assistant Farm Advisor James Fizzell noted.

In all, attendance considerably topped the 30,000 mark for the three-day event last Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday 11 grand champions were crowned in all phases of 4-H agriculture.

THE BARRINGTON Pioneers walked off with the most titles, three. Ralph Hess showed the prize-winning beef, William Wunschl the best rabbits and Donald Magnuson captured the Brown Swiss award.

The Washington 4-H club, Wheeling Do'ers and the Palatine Township 4-H club each won two awards.

Washington had the only two girl grand champions in Carol Ottinger, swine, and Joanne Reid, crops.

Wayne Deeke in commercial gardens and Roger Drewes in Sheep were the Wheeling Do'ers grand champions.

BILL ENGLER showed the No. 1 dairy cow, and Wesley Plote captured the showmanship award for the Palatine Township 4-H club.

Clubs winning single championships were Elk Grove and the Hanover Hawks. Dale Landmeier won the home garden grand championship for Elk Grove and Lee Helberg the poultry award for Hanover.

Revoke Driver's License

One northwest suburban motorist had his driver's license revoked and seven had theirs suspended, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced last week.

They were among 154 drivers who had their licenses revoked and 280 who had them suspended.

THE LONE DRIVER to have his license revoked was William Giles, 18 Mandel lane, Prospect Heights. Giles was found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

The seven who had their licenses suspended all had received tickets for three moving violations within one year. They were Merton J. Gillies, 749 N. Green drive, Wheeling, Charles K. Hudson, 1428 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, William J. Johnson, 315 N. Lincoln lane, Arlington Heights; Raymond J. Smith, 403 Olive st., Prospect Heights; William M. Tuteur, 333 Forestway drive, Northbrook; Peter M. Varney, 850 S. Vail, Arlington Heights; and Marie K. Young, Route 2, Box 36, Palatine. (B8

Judicial Candidate Urges Support for Court Reform

Edward Jacobs, Democratic candidate for Probate Judge of DuPage County, spoke out last week in favor of the court reform amendment up for referendum at the Nov. 4 election.

Addressing a meeting of Wheaton and Glen Ellyn Democratic leaders at 1013 Wakeman ave., Wheaton, Jacobs charged that the fight against judicial reform in DuPage county is a fight to keep the judicial system in the hands of intrenched political bosses.

"Newspapers of Sept. 2 reported the formation of a speakers' bureau in DuPage to defeat the judicial amendment," Jacobs said. "Of the 12 speakers listed, all but one are on the public payroll or are present or former justices of the peace.

"They have a direct financial interest in the outcome of the bill. Thats why they have such a well-organized movement to try to kill it.

"The Probate Judge of DuPage county sits an average of two days a week and practices law the rest of the week. Why should the taxpayer have to shell out $13,500 a year for part-time service?

"ROBERT HAENISCH, clerk of the Circuit court of DuPage county has stated in letters to newspapers that we have five judges and three courtrooms in DuPage county. He admits that "our difficulty is keeping our judges and juries busy."

"If there are five judges and only three courtrooms, obviously the judges aren't all working full-time. A purpose of the judicial reform bill is to stop this unnecessary waste of funds for idle time.

If the judicial reform amendment is adopted, there will be no difficulty keeping judges busy. If a judge can't be used in one Circuit he can be transferred temporarily to another.

"This question of economy is vital at this time considering the back-breaking real estate taxes that homeowners in DuPage County are now forced to bear."

Jacobs, a member of the Illinois State Bar Assn., Chicago Bar Assn. and the National Association of Claimants' Compensation Attorneys, has been practicing law since 1940 in DuPage, Cook, Lake and McHenry counties.

He lives in Wheaton. (B12

Q. Should a girl ever sent a gift to the man whom she has been dating, and whom she especially likes?

A. Not unless she is engaged to the man, and even then the only gifts necessary are at Christmas and on his birthday.

Q. What is the correct thing for a man to say to a woman who is blocking his way when leaving a bus or other public conveyance?

A. "May I get through, please?" And as she moves aside to allow him to pass, he should tip his hat and thank her.

Railway Sells Lot For Station

One is with the village and the other with the village's park district.

The one with the village was rewritten recently to cover installation of the parking meters.

The lease with the park district covers maintenance of the land as a park area.

Both leases were on a yearly basis, but had 30-day cancellation clauses.

THE PARK DISTRICT'S responsibility was to beautify the land for the benefit of the village. This, during the years, has required the expenditure of park district funds.

About 10 years ago, the park board spent $5,000 for landscaping Railroad Park and this year spent $1,800 for trimming trees. Also, the park is kept mowed and cleaned throughout the year.

As word got around the village of the railroad's action, mixed reaction developed.

One park board member, Robert Skallerup, said his group had been notified of the lease termination.

"We have no prepared course of action to follow and I doubt if a special meeting will be called. After all, there isn't much that we can do," he said.

OTHER MEMBERS of the park board could not be reached for comment, but Webb Hartmann, manager of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, expressed concern.

"We shouldn't stand by and let this happen. Perhaps we don't need the entire Railroad park as it is now constituted, but certainly the 'center charm' area should be preserved," he said.

'We should put up a fight to retain the land directly north and directly south of the depot. That is the heart of Railroad park. The village should consider buying just these two sections, and let the railroad commercialize the remainder if it wants to."

The concern expressed by Hartmann was also echoed in comments by leaders of home owners associations in Arlington Heights.

R. N. Cummings, 1115 W. Elm, president of the Ridge Park Community assn., said:

"The railroad needs business, and we need the park area, but shouldn't be gouged for $500,000."

At one time it was estimated the railroad would want close to $500,000 for the entire park area.

"If the Arlington Heights trustees would stiffen their backs, they could make sure the Sun Oil co.'s request for a permit is refused. The village has a whip over the railroad's head. Sure, the railroad can terminate the lease but nothing can be built on the property until a permit is issued."

"We certainly will watch the village's actions very closely in this matter," Cummings added.

Robert Skamfer, 437 Banbury, president of the Scarsdale Home Owners assn., agreed the situation should be watched. He stated:

"We would like to know when the board is going to act on this matter. I think every home owner group should be represented at that meeting. And, it's fair that we be notified in advance of the meeting."

Harry Bierma Jr., a resident of Arlington Heights who is employed by Real Estate Research corp., consultants for the railroad, said the North Western had waited in vain for an answer to a proposition made Arlington Heights last July.

AT THAT TIME, the railroad offered to sell a parcel of Railroad park immediately north of village hall to the village for a possible site of a new village hall.

The offer was discussed but no action was taken.

The price tag put on this piece of property resulted, by projection, in the $500,000 figure which has become commonly accepted as the amount the railroad hopes to get if all the park area is sold.

And that figure is what stopped talk of calling a referendum to determine whether the village wanted to purchase the entire park.

Comments this week were in agreement on one thing. It was:

"A referendum to authorize a $500,000 bond issue would not be approved now with taxes increasing as they are."

BIERMA SAID he hoped the village would not "twist the facts." He said:

"The railroad made an offer to the village and then waited for word.

"Mr. Cady was even willing to delay sale of the property until a referendum could be scheduled.

"But he heard nothing from Mayor Carlisle or Atty. Jurco."

Bierma added that the railroad's program of liquidating property that does not produce revenue has been in operation for several months.

"They knew this here in Arlington Heights and should not twist the facts and say that the North Western has acted without proper notification." (AF

Historical Society Plans Tea, Open House Sunday

MAYOR EDWARD G. CARLISLE (left) congratulated Albert F. Volz, president of the Historical Society of Arlington Heights, after proclaiming next week as "Historical Society week." The society will hold a display of recent accessions at North school from 4 to 7 p. m. Sunday.

Arlington Heights will stop building for the future for a moment Sunday and glance over its shoulder into the past.

MEMBERS OF the Historical Society of Arlington Heights, a group chartered in May, 1957, will display household articles and documents telling the story of the village's first 100 years Sunday. The items, a sample of the accessions received by the society, will be on exhibit at a tea in the auditorium of North school from 4 to 7 p.m.

Original deeds conveyed to the first settlers by William Dunton, founder of the community, a chest used by Eli Skinner, early resident and Revolutionary War veteran, and samples of carpentry fashioned by pioneer woodworker Christian Volz will be among the exhibits.

A greeting committee of lifelong residents will acquaint newer suburbanites with the background of the displays. Members are Albert F. Volz, president; Theodore Militzer, vice-president; Mrs. Marjorie B. Allen, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Milton Daniels, custodian, and Mrs. Charles Klehm and Mrs. Josie Sieburg.

MAYOR EDWARD G. Carlisle proclaimed the week of September 21 through 27 as "Historical society week," noting that "as citizens of this village we take great pride in its establishment by the sweat, toil and struggle of our pioneers, and the giving to us of an heritage which as a way of life has made us known as a city of good neighbors . . ."

There will be no admission charge to the Sunday exhibit, to which the public is invited. (AF

Bad Check Cache Found in Shoe

A 29-year-old Grayslake man told Arlington Heights police Monday the $300 he was carrying in a shoe when arrested was the proceeds of a weekend check-cashing spree.

The man, Leonard McPharlin, 129 N. Center, Grayslake, was taken into custody when he attempted to cash a check for $172 at a local auto agency Monday noon.

The auto dealer, George C. Poole, 400 W. Northwest hwy., recognized him as the man who had given him a bad check for $51.25 in December, 1955.

After four hours of questioning by police, McPharlin said that he and a friend, James Cameron, 28, who formerly lived near Wheeling, had been on a drinking and check-cashing bout for several days last week. The only place he recalled stopping at was the Vail tavern, 33 W. Campbell.

THE TAVERN owner, Anton Frigo, identified McPharlin as the person who cashed a fraudulent check for $127 there Saturday and he was booked on two counts of check fraud.

From the Palatine National bank police learned that the pair passed at least seven checks totaling more than $1,100 since the account on which they were drawn had been closed. The account was that of the Arlington Floor co., formerly operated in Palatine by Cameron .

The largest loss was reported by Krause and Kehe, Arlington Heights realty firm. The firm cashed a $525 check for Cameron last Wednesday.

Cameron moved out of a Chicago hotel some time ago and did not leave a forwarding address. He had a reserved seat on a flight to Havana, Cuba several days ago but cancelled the reservation before flight time, according to police. (AF

Faith Lutheran Announces Rally Day and Choir Plans

Children of the Sunday school and the congregation of Faith Lutheran church, S. State rd. at Park, Arlington Heights, will observe Rally day this Sunday at the 10:45 a. m. worship service. Children from all Sunday school departments will have a part in the service by singing departmental songs and choral readings. The staff of the Sunday school will be consecrated. Rev. Edgar H. Behrens will preach the sermon.

Henry J. Schroeder is superintendent of the Sunday school, assisted by Irving Johnson. Those in charge of the various departments are: Mrs. Paul Michaels, kindergarten; Mrs. William Keiser, primary; Mrs. Henry Schroeder, upper departments; Walter Strobel and Fred Danker, high school Bible classes. All friends are invited.

George A. Schrader, minister of music at Faith Lutheran church, has announced the new fall schedule of the choirs. Anyone interested in singing in the church choirs is invited. The children's choir for children in school grades three, four and five will have rehearsals Wednesday afternoons at 4. The junior choir will meet Saturday mornings at 10:30 for children of junior high age. The high school choir will meet Wednesday evenings at 7 and the senior choir Thursday evening at 7:45.

An interesting choir year has been planned for each choir. Music of the masters as well as music of contemporary composers will be used. (A

How Family Service Has Helped Northwest Suburbs

by Mrs. George E. Nicklaus,
Executive Director, Northwest Family Service

Since Northwest Family Service is not yet a full year old in point of service, our so-called "annual" report, covering our first eight months, will answer questions generally asked about Family Service and discuss briefly the type of assistance which we are rendering to the community.

WHAT is Northwest Family Service?

It is a confidential counseling service to help families and individuals solve personal problems in marital relationships, child-parent adjustment, old age, mental and physical handicaps and other human difficulties. Family Service is the only resource for general counseling permanently located in this area. Family Service is NOT a relief organization.

WHAT AREAS are included?

Des Plaines — Mount Prospect — Arlington Heights — Palatine Township (with the exception of Rolling Meadows).

WHO started Family service?

Family service agencies have existed for many years in many communities throughout the country. The need for such a service in this area became so acute that school authorities, clergymen, village officials, physicians, newspapers and public-spirited citizens joined forces in 1957 to create the Family Service Association now serving our communities.

WHERE is the Family Service office?

At 214 South Emerson Street, Mount Prospect, as near as possible to the population center of the geographical area served. It is readily accessible by car, bus and train.

WHO "RUNS" Family Service?

A board of directors, elected from the four associated communities; its elected officers; and the executive director selected by the board.

HOW is Family Service supported?

The organization must be supported largely by community and business organizations, and by individual contributions. Clients who can do so are expected to pay a nominal fee. Most applicants desperately needing assistance cannot afford to pay; help is never refused for that reason.

WHY don't you hear more about this service?

By its very nature, the work of Family Service is always confidential. A majority of our clients seek Family Service help voluntarily; others are referred to it by physicians, schools counselors, clergy or village authorities.

WHO MAY USE Family Service?

This service is available to all, regardless of race, creed or economic situation.

HOW many requests for service?

During the eight months Family Service has been open, it has received 230 requests for help.

WHERE do clients come from: Des Plaines, 54; Mount Prospect, 44; Arlington Heights, 52; Palatine Township, 34; Rolling Meadows, 18; and Others, 28. Total cases, 230.

WHAT TYPE of cases do we receive?

A family is faced with difficulties stemming from physical or mental illness of one of its members . . . a husband and wife are headed for divorce and breakup of the family . . . and adolescent is at odds with his family and community . . . an unmarried mother needs help in planning for herself and her baby . . . a father needs advice in caring for motherless children. These situations are typical examples of disruptive factors which trouble a community, regardless of its economic level.

By percentage, types of cases handled are as follows: Family relationships, 74 per cent; Personality adjustments, 7 per cent; Substitute care for children, 4 per cent; Old age, 3 per cent; Economic, 4 per cent; Educational or vocational adjustment, 1 per cent; Housing, 1 per cent; and Other, 6 per cent.

Our clients come to us because they are in trouble and need help. We try, together with our clients, to figure out effective ways and means of meeting or solving these difficulties. Sometimes merely discussing these problems with a sympathetic, understanding, trained social worker will help the client gain a fresh viewpoint and arrive at a satisfactory solution. Frequently, a case requires many interviews, outside investigation, and weeks or months of follow-up and counseling. Occasionally, after a case is serviced at the community level, it can be referred to other specialized agencies, many of which are located in the Chicago metropolitan area.

At present, with only one caseworker, we are not able to cope with all calls for help, and are deeply concerned because scores of requests must be placed on our waiting list. Our proposed plan for enlarging the scope and usefulness of Family Service includes the addition of two trained caseworkers to give adequate attention and help to applicants.

FAMILY SERVICE is now occupying two small office rooms. Our budget for 1958-59 proposes new office space, with additional space for two caseworkers and for the confidential interviews so important in social work.

Frequently, a caseworker will be greatly aided in analyzing a difficult situation by the diagnosis and advice of a professional psychiatrist or psychologist. Until now, we've lacked the funds to obtain this assistance. The 1958-59 budget will help to provide for necessary professional consultation.

Family Service is deeply committed to the fundamental American belief in the dignity and worth of the individual, and the importance of sound family living. In making use of known strengths and capacities, the family agency can help individuals and families continue to be respected and productive citizens.

In our current fund drive, we are asking for your contribution, large or small, to help strengthen and safeguard family life in your own community. (B8

Nursing Offers Future for Youth

by PAUL ZEHNER

Youth who enter the nursing profession have a wonderful future. A recent study by the Committee on the Future of the National League for Nursing states that more nurses are needed today and at least 40 per cent more by 1970. We need 35,000 more students a year to supply our future needs.

The nurse has the advantage of an education which is useful at any time. She learns to care for the sick in her professional role, and this training is invaluable to her when she marries and raises her family. If she leaves her profession her education has not been wasted.

MANY NURSES return to nursing when their children have grown. If an unfavorable economic situation develops a trained nurse can earn a good income by going back to her chosen field.

Modern design in hospitals has greatly improved working conditions for nurses. The "double corridor" design of Lutheran General Hospital places all of the nurse's supplies close at hand, and materially decreases the amount of walking she must do. The farthest distance from a nursing station to a patient room in this new hospital is 52 feet. This greatly increases the effectiveness of nursing personnel as the "fatigue factor" is reduced.

MORE THAN 90 per cent of all nurses trained today are trained in nursing schools connected with voluntary, non-profit hospitals like Evanston, St. Francis, and Lutheran General. This is a contribution to our American way of life made by voluntary, non-profit hospitals as the supply of nurses for not only hospitals but also for doctor's offices, public health, and industry are dependent on these schools.

Students interested in being trained as nurses have a choice of educational programs, all of which qualify them for a Registered Nurses Certificate.

The regular three year course includes classroom and laboratory work, basic science courses for which college credit is given, clinical, medical and surgical nursing as well as special training in obstetric, pediatric, phychiatric and tuberculosis nursing. Four and five year courses which lead to bachelors and advanced degrees are also available.

WITH THE great progress of medical science, nursing has become more complex and exciting. As further advances come the nurse will find her work more effective in relieving suffering and speeding recovery. Within just the last year the average hospital stay has been reduced from 8.1 days to 7.7 days largely due to better hospital and nursing care.

The northwest suburban area will have its first full fledged school of nursing late next year when the 32 year old Lutheran Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing, Chicago, is moved to the new hospital. (B8

Mrs. John Vork Chairman For Know Your Town Book

Mrs. John Vork, 415 Yale, is the newly appointed "Know Your Town" chairman for the League of Women Voters of Arl i n gton Heights.

S h e is currently conferring with Arlington Heights chamber of commerce president, Wilb e rt Hartman and acting village manager, J. Ward Wright, regarding publication of a booklet to contain the history, activities and governmental agencies and services in Arlington Heights; a factual study that will be an informative and useful directory for all residents.

THE BOOKLET will be based on a revision of the "Know Your Town" publication titled, "Presenting Arlington Heights," a project of the Arlington Heights League published two years ago after a year of gathering and compiling information obtained by the membership through interviews and research.

Publication of the booklet is expected about the first of the year and will be financed and supported by the chamber of commerce.

Well qualified to handle h e r job, Mrs. Vork has been active in the community. In addition to her League pursuits as a past member of the board and service on the committee for the Judge's Training School sponsored by the League, Mrs. Vork has also served on the board of the Northwest Community Hospital Auxiliary and was publicity chairman for the Red Cross Fund Drive and assisted with the Cancer Drive.

Mrs. Vork and her husband, John and their daughters, Karen and Julie are members of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights. (A

Program Is Announced

Classes to keep up Father's muscle tone during the winter months and teach Junior how to paint and ice skate are additions to the fall and winter program of the Arlington Heights park district.

A class in physical conditioning for men is a new activity on the Thursday night schedule at Recreation park fieldhouse while the children's art classes will be taught at Pioneer park on Saturday mornings.

Ice skating instruction will be offered for the first time at Recreation and Pioneer parks and possibly at Hasbrook park on Thomas st.

THE FALL AND winter recreation schedule is now complete but activities will not begin until early November. The only program going now is midget football. Schedules will be mailed to residents later and also published.

Programs held for the first time last year to be repeated are tumbling, basketball, archery, badminton, volleyball, golf and a "slimnastics" course for women. Most will be held at Recreation park fieldhouse, remodeled into a gymnasium last year.

Village Is Winner Of Parking Debate

A disagreement between the village and park boards of Arlington Heights as to how cars should be parked ended last week with the village as winner.

The park wanted to develop Fernandez st., adjoining Pioneer park, with diagonal parking in the public parkway. The village objected, claiming diagonal parking would be hazardous to children at the park. The village board passed a resolution last month banning diagonal parking there and last week park board members decided to agree to the village demand.

The street will be improved without diagonal parking.

Car Strikes Girl

A 2-year-old Arlington Heights girl was struck by an auto and injured while she was playing in a box next to a driveway Tuesday.

Barbara Ann Sneary, 2, of 802 N. Gibbons, received multiple cuts and a collapsed lung and was taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin. The box she was concealed in was at the side of the driveway, near a garbage can, at the home of Mrs. Arlene Rosenstern, 730 N. Gibbons. Mrs. Rosenstern's car nudged the box as she pulled into her driveway. (AF

Traffic Signals Approved by State

Installation of traffic signals at the intersection of Euclid ave. and Northwest hwy. has been approved by the state highway department, Arlington Heights trustees heard Tuesday.

The village board voted to have plans and specifications prepared for the lights at one of the village's most dangerous intersections. (AF

"TOMORROW WILL GIVE US SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT"

"Now I answer the phone even while I'm getting dinner!"

Phones where you need them—wonderful for helping you get more things done—the key to extra fun and comfort for everyone in the family!

Upstairs and down—where you work, sleep, relax and play—convenient phones save you lots of time and countless steps every day. Bring you extra protection and privacy, day and night. And, of course, help you in the big job of running a home and raising a family.

The cost is low . . . for example, you can have three extension phones, if you need them, for only about 10 cents a day! Your choice of nine handsome colors to complement your interiors and decorating. There is a one-time-only charge for color.

Where would you like your phones? Your Service Representative at the telephone business office will be glad to help you choose the proper locations and colors to suit the needs of your family. Call her today. The number is shown on page 1 of your telephone directory.

Suburbs' Shame Is Topic

The plight of Mexican-Americans in northwest suburbs will be discussed Saturday night by the Couples club of Our Saviour's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Dryden school.

LEADING DISCUSSION will be Charles Hayes, managing editor of Paddock Publications and co-author of the recent series "Shame of the Suburbs," and Mrs. Katherine McFeely, vice-president and director of adult education for The Opportunity Council, Inc. and the northwest chapter of League of United Latin American Citizens.

The Couples club will be informed what individual citizens may do to help relieve some of the problems which face the Mexican-American attempting to establish permanent residence in suburbia.

HAYES HAS BEEN associated with Paddock Publications since 1954 and was graduated from Wittenberg college and Northwestern university.

Mrs. McFeely, a public health nurse, is a teacher with Elk Grove school district 59 and has worked extensively with Mexican-American pupils at Higgins school. She is also the originator of the unique elementary school program for Mexican-American adults in this area. (A

the HARRIS huddle

CORA DORNAN

As a general rule, the soda-fountain luncheonette is slowly but surely passing from the every-day scene — that is those that have not become an integral part of the business.

My boss, George Harris, has seen fit to make the Luncheonette at Harris Pharmacy one of the best eating places in Arlington Heights, particularly for those luncheon menus. Naturally, we do not do a dinner business as we close at 7 p.m. Breakfast has become one of our "special" meals and our luncheon business has increased by leaps and bounds. Most of my life has been spent in the restaurant business so it is not unlikely you will find the aroma of home-cooked food at Harris Pharmacy.

Please give us a try when you are in our neighborhood, and I am sure you will find it is all that I have said — and remember — the PRICE IS RIGHT.

Rumors have been heard all summer of the approaching marriage of two of Palatine's young people before the return of the bride-to-be from Minnesota and when it became known Saturday night that Mr. Rufus Starck had left that evening for Prescott, Wis., his friends were wise to the fact that his days as a single man were numbered. The ceremony took place Sept. 7th at high noon at the home of the bride's grandparents.

Mr. Starck, or known among his friends as simply Ruf, is a modest and unassuming young man. He is an example of what conscientious hard work will do. After taking a business course in a Chicago school, he entered t h e employ of the United Shirt & Collar Co. and in the short period of four years has arisen from a minor position to that of head bookkeeper and cashier of one of the largest wholesale firms of its kind in the city.

Miss Rose was born and raised here graduating from our high school in 1903. She made a specialty of kindergarten work and conducted such a school at her home last year.

Miss Jeannette Paddock is attending Knox College for which school she received a scholarship while at the Des Plaines high school, last year.

Many have remarked how free the Saturday game with the Normals was from back talk, slams and quarreling. No matter what was said in the side lines, the players smiled and bore it, not even retaliating with a word. That is the right kind of sport. This quarreling, kicking a n d back talk heard at so many ball games is a relic of prairie games and only degrades the person or persons who indulge in the same.

Mr. Henry Peck, who has been a resident of Schaumburg for over 50 years, died from a paralytic stroke Sept. 5th, aged 81 years., at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Wittenberg. Mr. Peck was born in Germany in 1826, came to this country in 1852 and four years later married Charlotte Wilkening. The deceased settled in Schaumburg on his arrival to this county.

The Ladies Aid Society will hold their annual bazaar in Henry Hartman's Hall, C h i c a g o House at Wheeling, Oct. 2. Admission including s u p p e r, 25 cents. Proceeds for benefit o f church. Mrs. L. Koebelin, president. Miss Anna Armbruster, secretary.

THE LYCEUM COURSE of seven entertainments to be given at Arlington Hall, at intervals of about twenty days apart during the next six months, will start with a popular lecture, Oct. 5. The course is guaranteed by a committee of ten leading citizens. Prof. Gamble has already sold 135 season tickets, so the course is an assured success.

Caroline Boeger was born near Wheeling Center in 1866 and married Henry Rohling in 1890. Four children were born, three of whom died in infancy. She died of cancer Sept. 11.

Friedrich Goemer was born in Germany in 1848 and married Miss Bertha Drawer in 1870. He brought his family to America in 1881 and settled at Arlington Heights which has since been their home. He died Sept. 13.

Blown more than 500 miles by gentle air currents and kept close to earth by peculiarly favorable atmospheric c o n d i t i o n s, the smoke from Northern forest fires blew over Chicago Saturday and Sunday. This is the first time in many years that Chicago has felt the effects of the forest fires that rage in the far north every summer. Lake traffic was badly hampered by the smoke.

There was a dramatic story of the rescue of the north shore settlers and the citzens of Grand Marais by Duluth naval reserves. Homeless settlers with everything they possessed licked by the flames fled to the lake shore for refuge. It was apparent Saturday that unless rains came the entire forest in the fire-swept district was doomed to total destruction. The great peat beds of northern Minnesota were a l l ablaze.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS -There is no longer any excuse for people endandering their lives by walking on the railroad right-of-way since the railroad company has laid a 4-inch oak plank crossing just outside the gates on Dunton street; also built a fence to keep people from walking from the park onto the tracks.

The people occupying the old Allison homestead have b e e n fooled into a bad legal fight by the bad advice of a pseudo pettifoger who don't know an ounce of law, but lacks common sense. His victims will see their mistake after the first skirmish when their advisor, receiver and court costs have absorbed their possible profits and then they must put up more cash to pay for hired help. Some of the doings there would make racy news items for the sensational city papers. Wouldn't their pictures stir up the local scandal?

The peaceful, quiet village of Palatine stands face to face with a dire calamity. Unless certain municipal improvements a r e forthcoming, the dawn of another summer will see the gas ranges and cook stoves of Palatine deserted. The good ladies of Palatine threaten a strike and the cause of it all is the dusty streets of our village. The dust, which pours into their home in clouds, makes life a burden to them. They unite one and all in asserting that Palatine streets should be sprinkled and so save the housekeepers from some of the woes of a dry season. In a village of our size and progressiveness, it does seem an oversight that there is not some provision made for a sprinkling system. At least let us use our water system and hose for the purpose of laying the dust, which at present is ankle deep on most of the streets.

Edward Mundhenk and Hosea Sawyer are on their vacation, both complaining because there is "nothing doing" in Palatine.

There are some mightly nervy people in this county, that don't know any better than to let their boys steal other people's melons and sugar cane.

The new barn of Nason Bros. was raised Wednesday afternoon by about 50 friends and neighbors with contractor Horstman as boss. The work was done in short order after which they partook of a big supper spread out under the trees, by ladies of the house.

A bus load, containing a quartette of Palatine Maennerchor members besides their wives and friends, drove to Addison to attend the Orphan's Fest. While passing John Rohlwing's place, they serenaded him in grand style, upon which he responded with refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Arps celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Saturday evening.

A select number of near relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Sawyer, last Wednesday afternoon, to witness the marriage of Miss Winnie Sawyer to Mr. Chester Brannigan of Byron. Winnie has been a resident of Palatine for 20 years; she will be greatly missed here.

Boys and girls bear in mind that summer will soon be gone. If you care for another sporting trip take it now.

The Roselle roller mills, under the management of Geo. E. Franzen is enjoying splendid patronage. Farmers are coming from every direction to have their wheat turned into flour, which cannot be surpassed. Rucker & Raab veteran and Millers are experts. Roselle Flour Mills have been running night and day the past week.

Itasca — Since the fire scare several citizens have purchased hose to attach to their force pumps which are also used to lay the dust in front of their homes.

It was well a certain couple quit their frequent trips to the woods or they might have been treated to a coat of tar and feathers.

Bensenville — Mr. Emil Blume and Miss Melinda Kolze w e r e u n i t e d in marriage Thursday evening in Friedens church. The young couple will make their future home on the old Blume homestead at Manheim.

Fruit robberies are of frequent occurence of late. A. D. Rotermund having lost his peaches, Mrs. Dierks and Hy Hurmeister's grapes and W. F. Franzen a good share of his pears. This is more than merely boys' tricks and people who have fruit should watch it with a shot gun.

Arlington Heights — A baby boy arrived safely at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Sieburg Sept. 14.

Pedestrians can now cross the R. R. tracks on Evergreen and Vail avenues without going in the dangerous auto roads. The R. R. Co. have after these many years, built those needed concrete sidewalks.

Wanted - a young man 14 to 18 years old to chore, build office fire and learn the printer's trade. Good wages for good service. No user of tobacco, cigarettes nor liquor will be tolerated. Apply to H. C. Paddock.

George Earl Allison who has been a faithful and trusted employee at the Cook County Herald the past 4 years, has decided to serve his country as a soldier.

Mr. Herman Fisher, a pioneer resident of Freemont Township Lake county, died at his home in Palatine Sept. 13, aged 75 years. He was born in Germany in 1842. He came with his parents when 8 years old to America and settled in Freemont townshi p which was his home until 1910, when he retired from the farm and moved to Palatine where he had built a residence. He married Miss Dorothy Schroder in 1870 and to this union were born six children, all of whom survive.

HERMAN KORNATZ was born in 1878 in Germany. He and his wife came to Palatine in 1908 where they have since lived on a farm at Staples Corners. He leaves his wife and 7 children.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Eich and Mr. Lester Freye, September 5, was a pleasant surprise to the many friends.

It is ultra conservatism that is putting off the day for he building of a new sewer system in Palatine. It is the same disease that makes our people think that the postoffice good enough 20 years ago is good enough now. The hotels, and other business houses have been the same for 30 years. Their volume of trade is now less than in the closing days of the century.

Hanging on the walls of the Palatine Athletic Club is a football picture taken 22 years ago. Stories of those players are still heard. The days before the great flax mill fire, etc. was the time that Palatine was in the Radical class. It was in 1896 that Palatine was nearly torn in two by the conservatists on one side and the radicals on the other. The Radicals won and Palatine had a water works system ten years before her neighbors. This past history is given to show that Radicalism, not Indifference is what makes a real town, real and worth-while people.

Arlington Heights village board held an important meeting Monday and approved the plans of Architect Abel for the village hall.

No one takes pity upon the proprietor of the moonshine still after it is raided, judging from what has taken place at the Wolf farm west of Palatine. The federal men wrecked the place with axes and sledges and took much of the valuable equipment with them. Almost everything of value that they left behind has also disappeared. Even some of the machinery was divided up, one man running off with half of it and someone else taking the other half. One bunch proceeded to kill the chickens, another came to get the chickens because they were never paid for while another came to claim the chickens because settlement had not been made for the feed that the chickens ate. One woman was discovered attempting to take up linoleum on the kitchen floor. The silos are still standing and hundreds of people visited the place last Sunday, but the relics are going fast.

Last minute propaganda is considered responsible for the defeat Saturday of the proposition that would have enabled Arlington Heights high school board to accept a government g r a n t of $72,000 and the issuance of a $95,000 bond issue for the purpose of making additions to present struction. Almost before the election was over, members of the High School Board began to receive numerous phone calls and disappointed parents were quite outspoken against the voting down of such a needed improvement.

JUST AT NOON on election day yellow hand-bills of uncertain origin appeared upon the streets of Arlington and Mt. Prospect which called upon the voters to vote against the improvement. The circular was printed in an out-of-town shop and distributed by a crew of strange men even though the authors expressed themselves as being in favor of spending their money in this community.

By Monday morning the board had received warning that a large delegation would attend the regular meeting of the board the following night and were asked for blank petitions which could be circulated calling for an election as soon as possible on the same propositions. Twenty petitions were filed Tuesday night with a total of 642 names. Notices were posted Wednesday for another election to be held September 24. (B12

United Motor Coach To Buy 45 Buses

Authority to purchase four 45-passenger diesel buses from General Motors at a total cost of $103,516.64 has been granted the United Motor Coach company by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

The vehicles are to be added to United's fleet of 62 buses, Leonard Manuel the company's g e n e r a l manager, said l a s t month at a hearing before the ICC in Chicago.

Trustees Complain

"That's too high," moaned Arlington Heights trustees Tuesday when they received a final bill for the drilling of a new north side well.

Total cost of the project was $68,899.05, which is $22,754.05 higher than the original estimates. The board paid the bill but asked for a cost breakdown.

The board also approved purchase of two new dump trucks and a panel sedan for the village, passed an ordinance annexing 40 acres in the Hasbrook subdivision to the village and decided to allow Arlington Market to erect two directional signs on the railway right-of-way at Kensington and Dryden. The toll highway commission will also be permitted to put up signs within the village. (AF

Grant Eighth Continuance In Building Permit Suit

Judge Thomas E. Kluczynski has granted the eighth continuance of Circuit court hearings in an Arlington Heights builder's lawsuit to compel village officials to issue a home building permit.

The continuance, to September 30, was granted Wednesday in the year old judicial battle because the plaintiff's attorney, Richard McPartlin, was engaged in another court.

JACOBSEN, who developed the Sherwood area in Arlington Heights, is seeking a writ of mandamus compelling village officials to issue a home building permit for a lot containing only 15,000 square feet on Salem blvd., 100 feet north of Watling st.

The builder contends that Arlington Heights village board and its president have the power in hardship cases to waive the ordinance banning septic tanks on lots containing less than 20,000 square feet.

A septic tank for the lot on Salem is necessary because the only alternative is too expensive, Jacobsen contends. The closest tie-in to the village sewer system is two blocks away and extending it to the lot would cost $65,000, according to Jacobsen.

BOTH SIDES regard the outcome of this hassle over a septic tank for one lot important. Jacobsen owns 22 lots in the area and the same issues are involved, it was said.

The village board last October turned down Jacobsen's plans for a septic tank to serve the proposed single family residence on the lot. (A

Fellowship Church to Mark Second Anniversary Sunday

Countryside Universalist Fellowship, which meets each Sunday, 10:45 a.m., in the Parkside public school, Maple and Howard streets, Roselle, will observe the second anniversary of its formation Sunday morning. The Rev. Philip R. Giles, DD, general superintendent of the Universalist Church of America, will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Giles, a well-known leader in liberal church circles, has served for five years in various executive offices of the Universalist church. Previous to his election to the general superintendency in 1957, he served as assistant to the general superintendent and director of the departments of ministry and education.

At the same 10:45 hour Sunday the Fellowship's school of religion, for children through high school, will hold its class sessions. Mrs. Mitchell Schorow, Hoffman Estates, and Mrs. Willard Zucker, Elk Grove Village, are the school's coordinators.

The service of worship will be conducted by the two past chairmen of the Fellowship, Mrs. William L. Tillman, Winston Park, and the present chairman, Mrs. Lester Mogren, Medinah. During the service, the Fellowship's minister, Rev. Albert F. Harkins, will officiate at the naming and dedication service for several children.

REV. PHILIP GILES

Following the morning service there will be a potluck luncheon for all the members and friends of Countryside who are in attendance.

Attends Meeting

H. Glenn Smeltzer, 506 Pine st., Mt. Prospect, a regional director of the Washington National Insurance Company, will attend a sales-managers' meeting at the Statler Hotel, Dallas, Texas, Sept. 22-23.

This is one of eight regional meetings to be held in different parts of the country by Washington National during the month of September. The purpose of the two-day gatherings, which are held twice a year, is to survey the progress made in the sale of Life and Accident and Sickness insurance over the past months and to lay plans for the months ahead. Newcomers Meet Thursday; Tell Social Plans

Arlington Heights Newcomers club will hold its first night meeting of the fall season Thursday, Sept. 18, at Pioneer Park field house at 8. Following an introduction of new members and guests, the evening will be devoted to various card games. Refreshments will be served by Evening Hostess Mrs. Edward Sundstrom and her committee.

All newcomers to Arlington Heights with less than one year's residency are invited to come to this meeting as guests. This will be the last opportunity to register for those wishing to participate in the round-robin bridge tournament.

THIS MONTH'S couples event will be a square dance and box supper to be held at the American Legion hall Saturday, Sept. 27, at 6:30 p.m. Those planning to attend should notify Mrs. Donald Kirkham, CLearbrook 5-6272.

Tickets are now on sale for the club's annual fall fashion show and luncheon to be held at Rolling Green country club October 8. Fashions will be by Maurice L. Rothschild, and by Heirs and Expectations, Inc. Ticket requests should be directed to the chairman of the fashion show, Mrs. W. J. Carns, CLearbrook 5-9123.

Mrs. Thomas B. Hamilton, CLearbrook 5-9182, may be contacted by newcomers to the community at any time for information concerning membership in the Newcombers club.

Village Faces Court Suit, Accountants Check Records

Village officials of Arlington Heights moved quickly Tuesday to counter a court suit filed last week demanding an accounting of special assessment records.

TRUSTEES APPROVED the hiring of two accountants at a cost of $7,500 to $10,000 to do "an immense bookkeeping job" of bringing special assessment records up to date.

A suit was filed in Circuit court Thursday on behalf of Lilly Redeker of Arlington Heights by attorney Everett Lewy. Village Attorney Stephen Jurco said she seeks to have the village pay the principal and interest on $9,900 worth of special assessment bonds she has owned since 1929.

The suit declares that she has been paid only $100 on the bonds since they were issued and asks that the full par value and interest be paid on them.

THE BONDS were issued to finance the paving of S. Highland ave. in 1928 and the paving of Windsor blvd. and other streets in 1929.

(Special assessment bonds are financial obligations issued by a village to finance public improvements such as streets, sewers and street lights. They are sold on the open market, as are privately-issued securities, and the principal and interest paid back over a stated period with assessments levied against owners of property who have benefited from the improvements.)

Jurco said that the audit and up-dating of records ordered by the trustees will constitute at least a partial defense against the court suit by showing that the village wants to make a proper accounting of special assessment funds.

A complete overhauling of special assessment records was urged by the village auditors in their last two audits at the end of the 1956 and 1957 fiscal years. Filing of suits against the village had been expected for some time and Jurco said that several other suits will probably be filed shortly.

THE NEED FOR the overhaul was again made plain to trustees in a report given to them Tuesday. At the request of J. Ward Wright, acting village manager, a certified public accountant made a survey of the village's problem.

The accountant, M. C. Ninneman, 400 S. Vail, concluded that "the work of bringing your special assessments out of the woods is of considerable urgency." His report cited numerous specific instances of records not properly kept.

Wright commented that he has withheld payment of funds to special assessment bondholders since taking over as finance director in mid-1957 because the records were not in good shope. He said that those in the worst condition are for improvement projects carried out in the 1920's and 1930's.

Ninneman and an assistant, Charles Heiss, will pour over all records available to balance the books. In the future any auditing will be much simpler because the record system is now being changed from a hand-entry to a machine-entry system. (AF

Arlington Man Winner of $1000

An Arlington Heights man is $1000 wealthier this week, but may have sore arms as a result.

Walter B. McCall, 13 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, won a bucketful of silver dollars given away by the Lake Zurich American Legion at a dance September 13. McCall collected the loot Sunday and reports that 1000 silver dollars are quite heavy.

The winner was notified late Saturday night by his daughter and son-in-law, who were attending the dance. McCall and his wife had stayed home to baby-sit with their grandchildren. (A

TO CELEBRATE their sixth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George Wotruba, 208 E. Oakton, attended a barbecue supper party given for them by Mr. and Mrs. Al Boy of Des Plaines. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Prospect Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Mort Nierman of Itasca and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Priebe of Bensenville.

Getting away for the day, while on vacation, the Wotrubas enjoyed a visit to White Pines National park, near Oregon, last Monday, sightseeing through the Indian village and hiking the forest trails.

The Belmont ave. canasta club met in the home of Dorothy Swoboda, 1119 N. Belmont, last Monday evening. Enjoying the evening of cards and refreshments, the first of the season, were Bette Bunnelle, June Holst, Evenly Jahnke, Mimi Haugh, Ann McLean, Mary Dahl and Frances Brosseit.

Three-year-old Billy Bunnelle, 1115 N. Belmont, had an impromptu birthday party last Friday afternoon. After refreshments of birthday candled cup cakes and ice cream provided by Mrs. Mimi Haugh, a neighbor, Billy went home to join his sister, Toni, brother, Paul, Clarice Swoboda, Lynn and Mark Holst, Debbie, Sandy and Ruth Jahnke, Jan and Sheri Haugh for more ice cream.

BRUCE WARMAN, 1115 N. State rd., observed his eighth birthday in high style September 12. Accompanied by his brother, Scott, and Steve Hedberg, the boys rode the train to the loop, where they met Harold Warman. Dinner downtown was followed by a trip to Soldier field and the Chicago Bears game. The next afternoon Kenny Swoboda, Jack and Paul Brosseit, John McLean, Bruce Holst, Mike Summers, Ricky Bierma, Jim Dahl, Bill Kushner and Steve Hedberg were all invited to the cake and ice cream party.

The Clarendon ave. bridge club met last Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Warren Horner, former resident of the Greens, in Winston Park. The ladies, Lee Hoover, Lenore Schlack, Mickey Tomaso, Ginny Sims, June Carlson, Jeane Marshall, Pat Peterson, Lois Anderson, Lorraine Dowd and Jean Thorsen, instead of playing cards, enjoyed the evening's conversation and looking at the new house.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Barbee of Chicago were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnes, 1155 N. Hickory, Sunday afternoon.

Round 'n About Westgate

A neighborhood barbecue was held at the home of Arlene and Marvin Verbeck, 1511 W. Euclid, Saturday. Among the couples attending were Louise and Ken Smith, Carolyn and Dick Burkett, Fran and Bill Johnston, Bernice and Barney Callahan, Fern and Gene McMurry and Lois and John Madden.

Congratulations are extended to Lorraine and Guy Karm, 103 S. Yale, who celebrated their 13th wedding anniversary September 15.

Among the 94 high school students in the Chicago Presbytery attending the second week-long Senior Hi conference on Lake Forest college campus August 24-30, was Karen Vork, daughter of Jay and John Vork, 415 N. Yale.

THE FIRST MEETING of the season of the Westgate Two Bridge club was held at the home of Lois Brask, 104 S. Yale. Among the members present were Alice Gaare, Trudy Brex, Elly Berge, Lorraine Nendel, Fran Kolk, Ann McVicker, Dee Saxe, Gloria Travis, Joan Bramsley, Ruth Hess, Lou Gosney, Mary Jean Kelly, Lorraine Van Wazer and Helen Lohr. Co-hostess was Lorraine Karm.

Spending five days with Kitty and Dick Abbott and children, Sherry and Vaughn, 1410 W. Sigwalt, were Dick's brother and sister-in-law, Vera and John Abbott, from Pittsburgh, Pa.

Celebrating his first birthday Saturday, was Michael McMurry, the son of Fern and Gene McMurry, 1415 W. Euclid. Helping him celebrate were his brothers and sister, Bruce, Sherry and Scott, and his cousin, Greg Dobbins.

A surprise birthday party was given for Sherry Abbott September 12. Helping celebrate her eleventh birthday were Mary Van Wazer, Judy Galyon, Trudy Brex, Pat Wert, Cindy Kolk, Guy Karm, Danny Dieter, Bob Alm, Ed Quigley, Jeff Galyon and Ray Lohr. An evening of dancing was enjoyed and cake and ice cream were served as refreshments. Sherry is the daughter of Kitty and Dick Abbott, 1410 W. Sigwalt. (A

Downtown Corner Property for Sale

A choice corner property in downtown Arlington Heights was put up for sale this week, with a possibility it might be replaced by the village's first major department store.

The property is at the southeast corner of Davis and Evergreen sts. and contains buildings occupied by the Gieseke department store, a sheet metal shop and a delicatessen. It has 107 feet of frontage on Davis st. and an irregular back lot line, extending 241 feet south at the deepest point.

The owners are the heirs of the late Fred W. Gieseke, who founded the department store in 1905. The spokesman for the family, attorney Fred W. Gieseke, Jr., said a large department store chain with headquarters in New York has expressed an interest in acquiring the land as a site for a store. He will fly to New York in a few days to talk with the firm. He said there is also a chance the family may redevelop the property itself.

GIESEKE SAID an adjoining parcel of property, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Elroy J. Winkelman, might also be sold if a prospective buyer is interested in developing both parcels. Together the two lots comprise more than one-half acre, he noted. Mrs. Winkelman, a daughter of the late Fred W. Gieseke, has an interest in both properties. Winkelman operates a tire and battery shop and leases a portion of his building to a water softener firm. His land has a frontage of about 100 feet on Davis st.

The Davis st. tract is one of several sizeable pieces of downtown real estate currently on the market. St, Peter Lutheran church earlier this year placed its buildings and grounds up for sale. (AF

This Week with PTA

Junior Highs Meet

Miner Junior High and the new Windsor-Miner PTAS will combine Tuesday, September 23 at 8:15 p.m. in the Miner cafeteria. Dr. Harold Shane of Northwestern university is returning for this first gathering of the year.

He has recently returned from Europe with first hand information for his topic: "Should We Follow the European Pattern of Education?"

Dr. Shane is at present a professor of education at Northwestern, after elementary and junior high teaching experience. Before being selected as superintendent of the Winnetka public schools, he was supervisor of elementary education in Ohio.

Parents of South junior high students are promised a stimulating evening 8:15 p.m. Tuesday with the program "Meeting the Challenge at South Junior High."

A. Todd Fouty, principal, will emphasize what the challenge means to the individual child. He will explain changes in curriculum, particularly in science, and also in activities. Basic thinking regarding teacher-parent conferences, grades, homework, and other vital subjects will be discussed. As is customary, the teaching staff will be introduced.

Westgate Buzzes

Five parents will act as discussion leaders in a "buzz session" held at the September Westgate PTA meeting, Tuesday at 8:15.

Parents and teachers will separate into five groups to share ideas on such questions as "Where do the duties of the teacher start and the parent end?," and "How much responsibility should our children have?" The five groups will then join to give a brief report on their discussions.

School committees will serve at social hours at all schools after the programs.

Round-Robin Bridge

Again this year PTA will sponsor three round-robin bridge groups: women's afternoon, women's evening, and couple's evening. Play will begin in October and continue through April. Prizes in each group will be awarded at the general meeting in May.

Registration forms are to be found in this month's Foreword as well as at all September meetings. In order that schedules can be worked out and mailed before October 1, registrations must be closed September 24.

Mrs. Russell Colvin, general chairman, will be glad to answer any of your questions regarding registration or play. Her telephone is CL 3-5923.

Theatre Time

The Village Theatre production "Witness for the Prosecution," will be presented October 16, 17, and 18th at Prospect High School under an annual sponsorship of the ways and means committee. Room mothers will contact parents as to when and where tickets may be purchased. All tickets will be sold on a reserved seat basis. (A

Father and Son Banquet Sept. 26

The Men's club of Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will hold its annual father and son banquet, Friday, Sept. 26, at Dryden school. A ham dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. "Hi Lights of Pro Football" is a portion of the program to be viewed by the dads and sons. There will be a special showing of cartoons for the smaller children and each young child will also receive a gift.

Tickets are available from Walter Krueger, Carl Zehner, Swede Swenson, Burt Elvig, Joe Reinhardt, and Al Stedry. (A

Presbyterian Women to Hear Missionary Couple from India

The annual "Medical Missions Offering" will be received when the Women's association of the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church meets on Wednesday, Sept. 24. Luncheon will be served in Fellowship hall at 12:30 p.m., with members of circle one serving as hostesses. Mrs. Joseph Lohr is chairman of this group, and Mrs. W. E. Erwin is co-chairman. A nursery for small children will be provided.

Following the luncheon, a short business meeting will be conducted by the association president, Mrs. John McComb. The program will be opened with devotions, led by Mrs. Carl Bowen. Earl Auge, director of the adult choir, will sing a solo, with Mrs. Auge accompanying him.

First-hand information on the subject of medical missions will be given by Christina McTaggart Martin, MD, and her husband, the Rev. Robert Martin, both of whom are stationed at the Kasganj hospital in northern India. They will be introduced by Mrs. Herman Berthold, association secretary for foreign missions.

Both Christina McTaggart and Robert Martin were born in Scotland. She worked in an office before entering the medical college of Edinburgh University. He was trained as a mechanical engineer before entering the Bible college in Swansea, Wales. After Dr. McTaggart earned her medical degree and was elected to the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, her great interest in Christian work overseas resulted in an appointment to the staff of Ludhiana Hospital and Medical College in India. Here she became acquainted with the Rev. Robert Martin whom she later married.

The first 18 months of the Martins' married life was spent on one of the Shetland Islands north of Scotland, where Mr. Martin served as Baptist pastor. In 1945 they returned to Ludhiana, India, at which time Mr. Martin was appointed hospital administrator and also a teacher of religious subjects at the College. Dr. Martin resumed her duties as senior doctor in obstetrics and gynecology, besides teaching these subjects in the college.

In 1949, Dr. Paul Rhoades, a member of the medical committee of the Presbyterian Board, arranged for the Martins to come to the United States to do graduate work at Northwestern university and observation at Wesley Memorial hospital. They were then invited to join the Presbyterian Mission in Northern India and were assigned to the hospital at Kasganj. Visitors are welcome to attend the meeting but are urged to make a luncheon reservation by phoning the church office. (A

'Carnival of Fun' Is Sept. 27 and 28

St. James Catholic Women's guild, Arlington Heights, will sponsor a "Carnival of Fun" in the school hall, 841 N. State rd., Saturday, Sept. 27, from 7-11 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 28, from 3-11 p.m.

Attractions will include numerous game booths offering prizes to winners, clowns who will give free gifts to the youngsters, and refreshment stands. (A

MUDDY MARKS were left on the frames of lower floor windows at Miner junior high school in Arlington Heights last Wednesday night as burglars climbed the side of the building at the corner of the lower roof level and crossed to a skylight. Removing it, they dropped into a locker room, broke into the principal's office and stole about $600 in cash and checks.

Stonegate Association Hears Blue Ballot Talk

"There is an essential need for streamlining, simplifying and applying modern efficient business management techniques in the Illinois Court system to assure equal and speedy justice for every citizen in Illinois," said Edward R. Klamm, executive committee member of the Northwest Citizens for Modern Courts, at a Stonegate Improvement Association meeting in Arlington Heights.

"Imagine today's housewife preparing meals on great grandmother's wood burning stove. Imagine the lady of the house still using the old wash-board to do the family laundry. Imagine her using the rug beating method to clean the carpets. Many improvements have made these methods obsolete and the housewife has discarded them for modern conveniences.

"IMAGINE producing our automobiles by hand instead of utilizing mass production techniques. Imagine the professional football teams "pounding the line" instead of "throwing" the ball. No, we can't imagine continuing with those obsolete methods, nor would it be practicable or serviceable for us to do so," he said.

"We all readily agree that civilization must keep up with progress and that all of us, as individuals, must adapt ourselves to the ever increasing changes occurring in our society. Can you believe that Illinois, with approximately 9 million citizens, is still operating under the judicial article adopted in the year 1848 when there were only approximately 850,000 people in the entire state. It's true. Therefore, it is our duty as citizens to see that the people of Illinois are equipped with a modern and simplified court system.

"The Judicial Amendment will achieve a simplified court system, create a more businesslike court administration and establish definite improvements for all citizens. It will eliminate overlapping and conflicting functions and reduce unnecessary delay and expense. Consequently, everyone is urged to vote "yes" for the blue ballot judicial amendment," explained Klamm.

"It is agreed that the judicial amendment will not be a "cure all" for all of the ailments in our court program. Nevertheless, the blue ballot judicial amendment will achieve many improvements and enable the state to proceed with additional improvements in the future. This is a "Must" for our present day activities, and one that deserves the support of every citizen in Illinois. Many state and local organizations, both business and political, have granted their support, and consequently, it is strongly urged that you also support this very badly needed judicial amendment for the state of Illinois in the forthcoming November 4 general election," he concluded.

Animal Shelter Wins Battle To Stay Put

Kay's Animal Shelter has won its legal battle against Morton Grove to stay put at 9315 Shermer in the village.

Circuit Judge Daniel A. Roberts Tuesday ruled the village's ordinance banning dog kennels in residential zones unconstitutional and void as it applies to Kay's.

JUDGE ROBERTS granted a permanent injunction restraining the village from prosecuting the animal shelter in any court on charges based on the dog ordinance. He did not comment on the ruling.

Village attorney John B. Moser said he would meet with Morton Grove officials on whether to appeal the ruling.

MOSER CONTENDED that the anti-animal kennel ordinance was enacted last November 19 because operation of dog kennels in residential areas would deprive home owners of the quiet and comfortable enjoyment of their property.

The law phohibits persons or firms in a residential zone from keeping or boarding for any purpose more than four dogs over two months of age, thus outlawing dog kennels or animal shelters in residential districts.

THE ORDINANCE gives kennels and shelters in such areas five months to relocate.

Attorney Vincent D. McConnell, representing the plaintiff, maintained that a village can't make an established business illegal simply by changing the land's zoning.

AN ANIMAL shelter was an allowed use on the Shermer property when the plaintiff first contracted to purchase it is 1953, the lawsuit said, adding the land then was zoned farming by the county.

But Morton Grove rezoned it for residential purposes in June 1956, the suit reported. (B12

Antique Suburban Car Wins Honors

VERNON R. HAGENBRING of Arlington Heights receives a silver cup from Diane Gertz, right, of the awards committee, after his 1911 Knox Touring won the grand championship in the 1899-1916 division at the Old Car Festival in Greenfield Village.

Before a crowd of 14,611 persons, largest single day attendance in Greenfield Village's 29-year history at Dearborn, Mich., a 1911 Knox touring car owned by an Arlington Heights merchant won top honors at the eighth annual Old Car Festival September 7.

The Knox, owned by Vernon R. Hagenbring, 8 S. Vail st., took the grand championship in the 1899-1916 division.

HE WAS ELATED yet modest at his victory scored against a field of 136 cars in this division. He said when he saw some of the automobiles prior to registration the previous day he figured he was outclassed and considered going home.

Hagenbring and his wife, Trudy, drove the 40 horsepower Knox, a big, lumbering vehicle, the 331 miles to Dearborn and "didn't have a bit of trouble." They also drove it back.

He has restored the car over the last four years as relaxation from his duties as owner of variety store. Most of the work he did himself. Even so, he estimated his investment is well over the car's original $3,240 price. He found the car in "pretty bad shape" in a barn and paid $500 for it.

The Knox was made in Springfield, Mass., between 1900 and 1913.

THE FESTIVAL was sponsored jointly by the Flint chapter of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America and Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. Other participating groups were the Horseless Carriage club and the Antique Automobile Club of America.

In addition to the judging, contests and stunts were held simultaneously throughout the afternoon on the Village Green.

Confirmation Classes Begin This Week at Our Saviour's

Confirmation classes at Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, will begin this week. Catechetical instruction will be conducted by the Rev. John Petersen.

A junior class, for students in the seventh grade or above, will hold its first meeting Tuesday at 3:45 p. m. The second year class, including students who have already had a year of instruction, held its first meeting Monday, Sept. 15. Until completion of the new church building at N. State rd. and Olive st., all meetings will be held at the parsonage church office, 944 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Arrangements for enrollment of students who have not contacted Pastor Petersen should be made before Saturday, Sept. 20.

Fall meeting of the four circles of the Women's guild will resume September 23. Circles 1, 2 and 3 will meet Tuesday evening. Circle 4 will meet Wednesday, Sept. 24.

Miss Northwest Suburbs To Reign over Festival

A contest to pick "Miss Northwest Suburbs" will move to Arlington Heights this year to become a key part of the village's first annual Fall Festival.

Preliminary plans for the October 25 festival were announced this week by the Arlington Heights Lions club, which will sponsor the day-long celebration.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the event will be a parade in the morning to feature bands from area schools and floats to be entered by civic and service clubs, churches and business houses.

Purpose of the festival will be to stimulate civic pride in Arlington Heights as the bustling hub of the northwest suburban area, declared Joseph Schneller, Lions club member directing the activity.

Candidates for the title of "Miss Northwest Suburbs" may begin sending in applications now to "Queen Contest, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, Ill.," according to Schneller. Unmarried girls between the ages of 16 and 21, inclusive, are eligible for the competition if they live in the townships of Palatine, Wheeling, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Northfield, Barrington, Hanover and Maine.

The Deadline for entries, names of judges and prizes for the queen will be announced soon. Entrants are to send in a recent photograph with applications.

Plans are now being laid for other festival activities and will be made public shortly, added the chairman. (B8

Speedier Postal Service Is Boast of Great Britain

by BILL DILLINGHAM

England is quickly speeding ahead of the United States in its postal service.

For many years the nations of the world have been searching for ways to sort mail entirely by machinery. All countries still depend upon human labor for this tedious job. This is because the problems of automatic sorting are so complex.

ENGLAND, HOWEVER, is now introducing monster machines to take over. A "welcoming mouth" starts off by separating letters from small packages. Next comes the "facing" of the mail, meaning that all letters are set address-side up.

This is accomplished through the sale and use of stamps that have a graphite mark between the gum and the stamp back. The electrical properties of this graphite make the facing possible automatically through electronics.

Next comes the turning of each letter so that all stamps are found in the upper-right-hand corner.

A CANCELLING machine takes over at this point and gives the postmark. So far the mail has not been touched by human hands since its arrival.

A moving belt carries the letters along at a steady speed before the eyes of a comfortably-seated employee. At his fingertips are a series of buttons that, when pressed, drop the different letters into their proper slots, signifying their destinations.

Illegible addresses, are ejected by a special button. A foot control can speed up the belt as the operator developes an eye for his job. He hits buttons at about the speed of a slow typist.

Only at Southampton have the graphite stamps — indistinguishable visibly from the others — been sold. And only at Southampton have the experimental machines been in use. Postal authorities intend to place them in all main British post offices. This, they say, will give England the quickest and cheapest mail service in the world. (B8

New Coat Dress

Newest version of the coat dress has side-wide skirts, wide sleeves and, often, a bloused back.

DuPont Chief To Address Rotary Club

W. F. De LOACHE

Members of the Arlington Heights Rotary club will get a behind-the-scenes glance into the affairs of the mammoth DuPont company at their next meeting.

Wyatte F. DeLoache, midwest manager of the extension division of the firm, will discuss some of the lesser-known aspects of a big corporation in a talk to the club next Thursday.

He will disclose how Du Pont conducts its affairs in dealing with such groups as employees, customers, stockholders and suppliers. An experienced speaker on industrial and chemical developments, DeLoache maintains headquarters in Chicago. He is an ex-newsman and has been with the company since 1940 on a variety of public relations assignments. (A

Emil Holste

Emil Holste, 401 E. Golf rd., Mt. Prospect, died September 17 in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin. Funeral services will be held in St. John Evangelical Lutheran church in Elk Grove. Exact time of the services was not known at press time.

Mr. Holste leaves four daughters, Mrs. Gladys Busse, Mrs. Adelia Porep, Mrs. Bernice Vidrick and Mrs. Loraine Krueger.

Girl Scout Fund Drive Set Oct. 1

A campaign to raise $17,500 to cover the operating expenses of the Girl Scout movement in eight northwest suburban communities will be held from October 1 through 5.

A force of 1,800 volunteers, mostly fathers of scouts, will canvass door-to-door during the fund drive.

KENNETH B. MARBLE, chairman of the solicitation, said the funds will offset salaries of full-time leaders and other operating costs of the Northwest Cook county council. Some 4,500 girls from the ages of seven to 17 are in the movement in the eight towns.

Community quotas and chairmen are Arlington Heights, $6,600, Meredith Astley; Elk Grove, $550, chairman not named; Hoffman Estates, $550, Tom Kelly; Mt. Prospect, $3,200, Marble; Palatine, $2,900, Robert Johnson; Prospect Heights, $1,050, Ralph Van Petten; Wheeling, $1,050, William Duffy, and Rolling Meadows, $1,600, Leonard Harraman.

MARBLE, WHO resides at 604 Shabonee tr., Mt. Prospect, is sales promotion and advertising manager of the A. B. Dick co. and the father of two girls in a scout group.

"Scouting provides the best opportunity for girls in our area to acquire the fundamentals of American citizenship," he said. "It also offers them wholesome recreation, rewarding friendships and a chance to develop practical skills."

K. P. MARBLE

He explained that funds are needed because the annual cookie sale provides funds only for expansion of camping facilities and for local troop projects. (B8

Boy, 2, Injured At Legion Picnic

A 2-year-old Arlington Hgts. boy received a concussion Sunday afternoon while attending the Rolling Meadows Post American Legion picnic in Deer Grove forest preserve.

The injury, when Randall Geisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Geisleer, 816 N. Ridg, Arlington Heights, tumbled over backwards, was not immediately noticed.

ON THE WAY home, however, the boy became sick, and the family stopped at Rayles Texaco Seervice on Baldwin rd. at Brockway st. north of Palatine.

When breathing became difficult for Randall, a Palatine fire department inhalator squad was summoned. Meanwhile, a nurse who attended the picnic, Mrs. J. C. Lambert, 3809 Jay lane, administered first aid.

Palatine firemen arrived and administered oxygen. A local doctor was called and diagnosed that Randall hod suffered a concussion. The boy was then taken to Ravenswood hospital in Chicago.

Better Government Assn. Endorses Lohman, Kinser

Joseph D. Lohman, Democratic candidate for state treasurer in the November 4 election, has been recommended by the Better Government association in preference to Republican Warren E. Wright, it was announced this week by Gardner Brown, BGA president.

For state superintendent of public instruction, the BGA finds Republican candidate Gerald W. Smith and Democrat George T. Wilkins equally well qualified in character, ability, and background, has no preference between them.

FOR THE FIRST time in BGA history, Brown said, the group has not only made objective comparisons of candidates for Congress as to personal qualifications of character, ability, and experience, but also compared what the candidates stand for.

Marguerite Stitt Church, Republican incumbent in the 13th district, and Democratic candidate Laurence A. Kusek are considered well qualified in character and ability by the BGA. Mrs. Church has the advantage of Congressional experience, said the BGA, and Kusek "would be to the left of Mrs. Church in his voting."

In the sixth district, the BGA recommends for the state legislature Republicans Arthur E. Simmons and John W. Carroll, both candidates for re-election, and Democrat Harry L. Kinser. They do not recommend Bernard M. Peskin, other Democratic candidate for state representative. "Neither Peskin nor Kinser have legislative experience," said the BGA. "While both are believed qualified, Kinser is considered to have the edge in background and experience and is therefore preferred." (B8

Old Port Orange

Albany, New York received its name on September 24, 1664, when it was surrendered to the English by the Dutch. Its previous name was Port Orange.

Notice to Tree Service Firms

Arborists in good standing are invited to submit sealed bids to the Board of Trustees for the following contracts:

1. Applying a dormant spray to all Elm trees on private property in Arlington Heights.
2. Trimming and pruning Elm trees on private property in Arlington Heights.

This work will be performed during November and December, 1958 on orders placed with the Village by private property owners. All bidders must meet the following standards:

(1) Carry full workman's compensation insurance.

(2) Furnish a bond in the amount of $10,000 holding the Village harmless in case of accident.

(3) Furnish at least three municipal or corporate references for quality of work.

Calendar Dance to Launch YMCA Mr-Miss Club Year

The Mr-Miss club of Northwest Suburban YMCA is launching a fall program of varied activities for all young adults in this area.

Valerie Wilmotte of Arlington Heights, vic president in charge of the club's special events, will announce a calendar of activities in a unique way, at a Calendar dance to be held Friday, Sept. 19, at South Park field house in Des Plaines. Dancing will begin at 8:45 p.m. to the music of the Bluenotes combo band. Room and table decorations will consist of blown-up calendars, with mixers and games to fit the theme. Refreshments will be served.

LOCAL MEMBERS of the Mr-Miss club who are working on the Special Events committee include Miss Wilmotte, chairman; Audrey Fidler and Romayne Garafolo, both of Arlington Heights; LeRoy Mollenkemp of Mt. Prospect; Del Ronk of Prospect Heights.

The club is planning activities each month which will be limited to club members, but will also highlight special events to be open to all young adults in the northwest suburban area. Among those open to all will be a Halloween party and a Thanksgiving dance.

Young adults are invited to the Calendar dance and may call the 'Y' office, VA. 4-4156, for more information about membership, or coming events.

Court Is Asked To Void Zoning

A lawsuit filed against the county by an Arlington Heights man asks Circuit court to void the farm zoning in a one and one-quarter acre site at the southwest corner of Wilke and Central roads, Elk Grove township.

The plaintiff is John Meyn, 29 S. Mitchell, who last year asked the county zoning board of appeals for a change of classification from farming to B-1 business on the vacant property.

Then the board was told that a contract purchaser sought to purchase the property to operate a gasoline filling station.

ROLLING MEADOWS, which lies north of the property, objected. The city's property along Central road is zoned residential, and a developer told the board that he had an option to develop nearby property for single family residences, according to the lawsuit.

Following the public hearing on August 8, 1957, the zoning board recommended that the request be denied contending a reclassification would constitute spot zoning, the suit says.

On October 1, 1957, the county board concurred in the zoning board's recommendation.

THE SUIT NOTES that various uses are permitted in a farm district, yet the right to operate a gasoline service station is denied.

Drafted by Attorney Robert E. Haskins, the bill says the area is generally vacant, and there is a Nike base east of the property involved.

The parcel has a 250 foot frontage on Wilke road and 250 foot frontage on Central road. (AK

Buyers Are Sought for Post Office

Want to buy a "like-new" post office?

The Arlington Heights post office building is for sale and is a "gold-plated investment," according to a local realtor.

Built last year by the architectural firm of Greenberg and Finfer and leased to Uncle Sam for 20 years, the brick and glass building is priced at $137,500, said A. Gayle Whitney of the firm of Baird and Warner, 11 S. State rd.

"WE WILL LISTEN to other offers on price, however," added Whitney.

He termed the deal an "excellent long term investment" and noted that a mortgage for $106,000 can be assumed. The building contains 8,000 square feet, is completely air-conditioned and sits on a lot that is 132 feet square. Annual rental is $10,750 and the lease is non-cancellable.

Whitney expects no trouble finding a buyer. (AF

JP Stops Lombard From Enforcing Motor Scooter Law

Lombard has asked for a court ruling on the enforcability of its recently enacted ordinance which requires motor scooter operators to have a driver's license.

An appeal was filed by the village in DuPage Circuit court on three cases in which charges had been dismissed by Justice of the Peace George D. Enzenbacher, Villa Park, who said the Lombard ordinance was invalid because it was in opposition to the state statute.

A recent opinion by Illinois attorney general Latham Castle labeling the state law in this instance "unconstitutional" and "invalid," while not legally binding, does give Lombard's case impressive support in its appeal.

Castle opinioned that the purpose of any driver's license law was to safeguard the public and that consideration of this "requires that operators of motor scooters possess both a knowledge of traffic regulations and driving skills."

The controversial state law permitting persons 14-years-of age and older to drive vehicles of five-horsepower or less without a driver's license was passed during the last session of the Illinois General Assembly.

As public sentiment against the law mounted, the Lombard village board passed an ordinance of its own requiring anyone driving any motor vehicle, regardless of horsepower, on the streets of Lombard, to have "a valid license . . . or restricted driving permit issued by the Secretary of State . . ."

Conservation Named Nat'l. Project by Camp Fire Girls

About herself and others . . . about her country's resources . . . "She Cares—Do You?" This is the keynote of the coming Camp Fire Girls national project which starts this fall and will be a major part of their golden jubilee celebration in 1960. Between now and their 50th anniversary, members will be taking an active part in conserving the country's natural resources; plant and animal life and minerals.

Goals of the project are twofold: to provide an active service to this nation by having Camp Fire Girls take part in community activities which promote the wise use of natural resources, and to help Camp Fire Girls develop an awareness of what makes this country sound.

To commemorate the golden jubilee, gold charms with the Camp Fire emblem will be awarded to girls who participate in the conservation project for at least one year.

The charm will also be awarded to the girls and leaders in presently active groups who organize new Blue Bird, Camp Fire, or Horizon Club groups in their districts.

PIONEERS IN the field of organizing new groups in the Arlington Heights district this spring were the Okonta Camp Fire Girls. Under the guardianship of Mrs. Louis M. Schomburg and Mrs. William Beckman, the girls met with interested girls and parents of the Wilson school and completed all phases in the organization of one Camp Fire group and one Blue Bird group.

Recipients of the golden jubilee charm, to be awarded by the Chicago Area Council of Camp Fire Girls, are: Susan Bahr, Janet Beckman, Lynne Brodahl, Ellyn Dobbins, Linda Larson, Rhonda Roberts, Lynne Schonburg, Nancy Staadt, Mrs. Schonburg, Mrs. Beckman and the group's sponsor, Mrs. E. F. Bahr.

Winston Park Introduces New Low-Priced Model

THE GLENWOOD, a new tri-level model introduced by Winston Park in Palatine, will sell for $19,990. Features of the home include a sloped 13-ft. high cathedral ceiling, three bedrooms, a finished recreation room, paneled open balcony, enclosed garage, and landscaping and seeding on an average 80 by 105-ft. lot.

A preview of 1959 home design unveiled last weekend in Winston Park in Palatine introduces a roomy split level model for $19,990.

The latest model in the Winston Park development at Palatine is the tri-level Glenwood featuring a sloped, 13 foot high cathedral ceiling, three bedrooms, a paneled open balcony with a finished recreation room and utility space.

THE GLENWOOD is constructed of brick veneer and wood siding, contains 1½ baths, built-in oven and range, colored bath fixtures, ceramic tile, oak floors, birchwood kitchen cabinets and is fully insulated throughout its 1,610 square feet of living area.

Complete with enclosed garage, free landscaping, seeding and an average 80 x 105 foot lot, the Glenwood becomes the lowest priced home in Winston Park's line of six ranch and s,lit Park's line of six ranch and split and two ranch styles are priced to $27,290.

Introduction of the new model comes during the anniversary month of Winston Park Northwest's founding. In September, 1957, the development opened five models to the public on the newly annexed 755 acres just east of Palatine's downtown district.

ROBERT RICHARDS, vice president and general manager of the construction firm, explained that Winston Park Northwest was conceived with a definite community plan allotting various home designs in the overall structure of the area to lend individuality throughout each block.

"Our idea is to keep pace with the trends and strive for improvements in all phases of home design and construction. We feel that the Glenwood model is another step forward in maintaining the high standards of our community. In creating a split level for under $20,000 we have combined spaciousness, economy and the same quality workmanship that is among the highest standard in the construction field," he said.

The new model, like other Winston Park designs, was created after analyses of studies and research exploring needs of purchasers within this price range, reported David Muss, president of Winston Park Northwest. Muss pointed to the extra bedroom, recreation and closet areas as definite answers to homeowners' demands for more "liveable and storage space."

A new financing plan makes it possible to purchase the Glenwood for five per cent down with 4¾ per cent interest and 30 years to veterans. Conventional FHA and VA plans are available.

LAST WEEK, Muss reported, the 100th family moved into the development. A total of 288 homes have been sold in the first unit of 559 presently under construction.

Features of Winston Park's planned community carry out a theme of spaciousness evidenced by standard lot sizes of 80 x 105 feet, no overhead or exposed wiring because all electrical and public utility installations are underground, 62 acres devoted to schools, parks and playgrounds, with completely paved streets, curbs and gutters.

Northwest Suburb Scout Leaders to Get Training

The Northwest Suburban council, Boy Scouts of America, will conduct its first instructor training program September 17, 22, 26 and 27 at the Rand Park field house, 2025 Miner, Des Plaines, according to Walter T. Craigle, chairman of leadership training.

"Our scout council," states Craigle, "has grown to the proportion whereby we need to conduct our own instructor training program due to the increased number of volunteer adult leaders required to stage basic training experiences for the thousands of new adult leaders who will be participating in the various Cub Scout, Boy Scout and Explorer training experiences offered in our five district areas."

According to Craigle, about 75 experienced scout leaders will enroll in this "Train the Trainer" event.

"METHODS AND Techniques of Successful Instruction" will be one of the major presentations during this training session. Donald Bauman of Park Ridge, director of training program development for the All State Insurance company, will present the theme.

Arthur E. Fink of Park Ridge will serve as the Boy Scout training section course director, and Theodore Patlovich, 826 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, will serve as the Cub Scout training section course director.

"Due to the highly specialized type of Training technique instruction to be offered in the "Train the Trainer" program, we have had to be very selective in extending invitations to prospective trainees throughout our council area, and the persons completing the entire training program will, in turn, go back to their respective districts and serve as instructors for the pending fall basic training programs and the spring training programs of 1959," said Craigle.

Frank B. Newton, 105 W. Sunset road, Mt. Prospect, scout executive of the Northwest Suburban Council will serve as staff coordinator for this feature training experience.

The Northwest Suburban council is an active, participating member of the Des Plaines, Schiller Park and Suburban Community Chest; the Combined Chest and Council of Niles township, and the United Fund of Park Ridge, Inc. (B8

KNEELING ATOP A PORTABLE elevator with the steel skeleton of Northwest Community Hospital center rising behind him is Nicholas M. Lattof, president of the hospital board of trustees, accepting a check for $1,000 from Matt J. Sopchyk, agent for Allstate Insurance co., 11 S. State rd., Arlington Heights. The check was donated by Sopchyk and Donald Fetke, also an Allstate agent. "As construction goes upward," said Lattof, "so does the need for funds." The community non-sectarian hospital is being constructed on Central rd. south of Arlington Heights.

Owner Admits Sale to Teen

A Des Plaines area liquor store owner admitted Thursday of selling beer to a minor last May after the youth produced an identification card showing he was over 21 years old.

The liquor store owner is Virgil Self, 301 S. River road, who testified before the County Liquor Control Commission in Chicago.

The minor, Ronald Chickeles, 19, of 402 Meadow lane, Mt. Prospect, told Hearing Officer A. L. Hornick the identification card was "phony" and admitted purchasing the two six-packs of beer at the Mary Kay's Liquor Store near Des Plaines.

SHERIFF JOSEPH D. Lohman has recommended that the store's liquor license be revoked following the sale of beer to Chickeles.

Self was found guilty last May 21 of selling liquor to a minor and fined $25 by Judge William Neumann, Arlington Heights police magistrate. Self has appealed the fine in Criminal court, said his attorney, Samuel Papanek.

The liquor control commission will take under advisement the possible revocation of the liquor store's license. (B8

Rep. Church Slated For Wauconda Lions

Marguerite Stitt Church, 13th district Congresswoman, will address Wauconda Lions club Monday, Sept. 22 at 7 p.m. in Wauconda Federated Church hall.

The talk will be preceded by a dinner meeting to be attended by the mayors of Wauconda and Lake Zurich as well as members of the Wauconda Republican Woman's club and Lions.

A Bail Bondsman's Search Leads Him to Police Court

Bail bondsman Morris Brown, whose famous clients have included Benny Bedwell, visited Arlington Heights last Wednesday in search of one of his less trustworthy customers.

BROWN LEFT disappointed but hardly surprised. He has been waiting since 1954 for the customer to show up in Champaign for a trial on a grand larceny charge. The bondsman has $5,000 tied up in the whereabouts of the man and is anxious to have him appear before the bailiff so he can get his money back.

Brown sought out his client—where else—in the police court conducted by Justice of Peace Walter Dahl in the Arlington Heights village hall on Wednesday afternoon. The man, Thomas Potenzo, 40, was to stand trial on a charge of being the keeper of a disorderly house. He was one of three men and eight women arrested the previous Saturday in a vice raid on the Forest lounge, 6548 Milwaukee ave., Niles township. It is operated by Potenzo's brother.

Potenzo jumped bail from Champaign in 1954 rather than be tried on a charge of removing $700 from somebody else's safe.

Potenzo and the others picked up in the raid by county police didn't show up in court Wednesday because their attorney had already obtained a continuance of the case to September 24.

BROWN EXPLAINED that he had intended to take Potenzo into custody in the court room under a federal law giving bondsmen the power to apprehend bond-jumpers at any time or place.

Using this law, Brown travels across the nation, operating as an amateur one-man FBI. So successful has he been that "in the past eight years I've had to forfeit bond on only four men," he claims.

Diligence in pursuing his wandering customers is only part of the story of the genial Brown's success, however. The other ingredients are a slogan, a genius for attracting publicity and an uncommonly trusting nature.

The slogan, which probably has the status of a by-word among the sizeable group in constant contact with the law, is "You don't need the wings of an angel if you know Morris Brown."

THE PUBLICITY comes because of the type of clientele Brown serves. He often bails out persons involved in crimes which are in the public eye. Benny Bedwell, for several weeks a prime suspect in the murder of the two Grimes sisters last year, was befriended by Brown, who invited him into his home after having him released from jail.

Straightening a flamboyant silk tie loosely knotted at the collar of his yellow sport shirt, Brown reflected that it is not the people of Benny's type who give him trouble. He seldom has to chase after the persons charged with burglary or crimes of violence. The smooth types who wear $100 suits purchased with bad checks—the men who practice confidence games—are the ones most likely to disappear, according to Brown.

That's why he'd much rather put up the bond money for the man who looks like a thug than one who looks like he ought to be riding the 5:13 p. m. commuter train.

Girl, 7, Gyrates Hoop 5,000 Times

Unusual endurance together with natural rhythm and agility recently aided Maureen Homan, 7-year-old daughter of the Lawrence W. Homans, 422 Root st., Park Ridge, in breaking an unofficial "Hula hoop" record.

Not even owning a hoop, Maureen borrowed one and did 4971 gyrations, according to a group of witnesses, before her limbs tired and she gave up after fifty minutes of play. Life magazine covered a recent story about a boy who held the record at a count of 3000.

Children and adults living in the neighborhood watched this fascinating performance. Maureen weighs 70 pounds, and is 4½ feet tall.

Churchman Is Chairman For Social Problems Panel

REV. J. G. MEINERS

One of northwest suburbs' most prominent churchmen will serve as panel chairman for a discussion of social problems, one of three major topics to be covered Saturday, October 11, at the second Suburban Problems Clinic sponsored by Paddock Publications.

Rev. J. Gerhard Meiners, formerly pastor of St. John United Church of Christ of Arlington Heights, will serve as social problems chairman. He resigned his pastorate this summer to take up the post of executive director of the Milwaukee (Wis.) County Council of Churches.

THE CLINIC, starting at 9:15 a.m. in Arlington high school's Little Theatre, Arlington Heights, will also discuss redevelopment of downtown shopping areas and school problems.

An outstanding authority on metropolitan planning will address a noon luncheon for clinic participants. The luncheon will be held in the high school cafeteria.

Invitations will be mailed later this week to 300 village officials and civic leaders in the northwest suburbs. They will attend the day-long conference as guests of Paddock Publications, according to Charles Hayes and Tom Brennan, clinic co-chairmen.

The social problems panel will include, in addition to Rev. Meiners: John Strong, social counselor at Arlington high school; Mrs. Clifford B. McFeely, vice-president of the Opportunity Council, Inc. and director of its adult education program for Mexican-Americans; L. W. Calderwood, Arlington Heights chief of police; and Mrs. G. E. Nicklaus, executive director of Northwest Family Service association.

REV. MEINERS came to Arlington Heights as pastor at St. John's in January, 1954. Earlier this year, in January, he was awarded the annual Distinguished Service award of the Arlington Heights Junior chamber of commerce. At the age of 34, he was the youngest recipient of the award to date.

The civic-minded pastor was active in the organizational stages of the Northwest Family Service association and worked ardently for the Northwest Suburban YMCA. He was also among the chief organizers of the Northwest Suburban Ministerial association in 1957 and served as its first president.

A firm conviction that a pastor must actively join in the affairs of the community led him to serve on the executive committee of the Louisville (Ky.) community chest health and welfare council early in his career.

IN HIS NEW position, to which he was elected, Rev. Meiners directs the work of cooperating Protestant and Orthodox members of the Milwaukee County Council of Churches.

"We are privileged to have Rev. Meiners lead our discussion of complex social problems," said Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications. "His background and experience make him especially well qualified to help us better cope with, and understand, the social problems of our growing suburbs."

Family Service Director

MRS. NICKLAUS

Mrs. George E. Nicklaus, executive director of Northwest Family Service Association, has been employed in social work since 1943. Following an A.B. degree from Clark college, Dubuque, Iowa, she received her Masters degree in social work from Loyola university, Chicago.

Mrs. Nicklaus was associated with Madison (Wis.) Family Service; Illinois Children's Home and Aid, and Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago; and Family Service of Evanston.

In the last two positions, she was also supervisor of graduate students. Mr. Nicklaus is an economist with Universal Oil Products, Des Plaines. The Nicklaus home is in Arlington Heights.

Nine Persons Hurt In Auto Accidents

A PALATINE MOTORIST, Edward F. Huspen, 40, of 721 E. Baldwin rd., was slightly injured Tuesday, Sept. 10, when his auto plunged from a bridge on Milwaukee ave., just north of Glenview rd., onto the North Western railway tracks. A train was halted while wreckers removed the demolished auto from the tracks.

Nine persons were slightly injured in four auto accidents throughout the unincorporated areas of the six northwest Cook county townships during the past week.

MOST SERIOUS accident, which occurred at Illinois 83 and Landmeier rd. in Elk Grove township, injured five.

Darlene Stella, 3, of 2424 N. Sayre, Chicago, was the most seriously injured, receiving cuts and bruises. Slightly injured or shaken up were Emily Stella, 39, of the Sayre address, Anita Antognoli, 49, Rosmary Antognoli, 17, and Edward Antognoli, 8, all of 2546 N. Oak Park, Chicago.

State police reported that a car driven by Rosmary Antognoli was struck in the side by a car driven by Steve C. Sanderson, 19, of 107 E. Mumford, Urbana, as the Sanderson car attempted to pass the Antognoli auto which was turning left.

EDWARD F. HUSPEN, 40, of 721 Baldwin rd., Palatine, escaped serious injury Wednesday, Sept. 10, when his car left Milwaukee ave. on the bridge over the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks, just north of Glenbrook rd., and plunged to the tracks. Huspen, who was to have seen his own doctor, said he was blinded by oncoming headlights.

While wreckers took the auto off the tracks, a freight train was halted.

Donald Teidt, 33, Box 1305 Park Ridge, escaped with minor injuries when his semi-truck ran off the road and overturned on Dundee rd. east of Quentin rd. Tuesday, Sept. 9. The truck, which landed on its side, was a total loss.

Wilma Troka, 39, and Jere Troka, 14, both of 9525 Forest place, Des Plaines, were slightly injured Sept. 10 when she lost control of her auto on Central rd. at the Northern Illinois toll rd. The 1950 model auto was a total loss.

Blue Bird Training

Three sessions remain in the fall Blue Bird training course offered by the Chicago Area Council of Camp Fire Girls to all prospective Blue Bird leaders, sponsors and interested parents in the Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights districts. Classes scheduled for September 18, 23 and 25 will meet during the morning hours from 9 to 11 in South Church in Mt. Prospect.

Mount Prospect

Camp Fire Girls, working toward their torch bearer rank, and their mothers are invited to attend the annual Torch Bearer tea, to be held Sunday afternoon, Sept. 21, at Lions Park fieldhouse from 2 to 4. Opportunity will be given for these prospective rank bearers to view various detailed reports and booklets presented in previous years, as well as to interview the special guests at the event, the torch bearer sponsors, and former Camp Fire Girls already having attained this highest of Camp Fire honors. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Walter Schroeder, CL. 3-4697.

Arlington Heights

Seven new Blue Bird groups in various sections of Arlington Heights have recently organized, and are now making plans to attend the first of the Camp Fire activities, that of the father-daughter breakfast this Saturday. The groups comprise girls enrolled in the second grade. As yet no names for these groups have been chosen, with the exception of one group at Dryden school, but leaders representing schools have already been obtained.

Mrs. Robert B. Roberts and Mrs. E. W. Nielsen will direct the girls at Westgate school; Mrs. Frederick Lauterburg and Mrs. Claude Markstrom, Park school; Mrs. Carl W. Hilton and Mrs. R. Down, the Happy Blue Birds at Dryden while Mrs. James Brown and Mrs. Harold McCormick lead another group at Dryden school. Our Lady of the Wayside school will be represented by Mrs. Richard Graczyk and Mrs. Peter J. Galdoni; Windsor-Miner school, Mrs. Wayne Kendrick and Mrs. Donald W. Cook; and at Wilson school, Mrs. Robert A. Engelbretsen and Mrs. Howard Bork will lead a new group.

BLUE BIRDS and Camp Fire Girls will be hostesses to their fathers at the annual father-daughter cookout scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 20. This year's event has been planned as a breakfast, and entertainment and supervision will be directed by Myron Masny.

The groups will assemble at 8 a.m. at shelter 5 in Busse Woods to enjoy a few games and participate in the early morning cookout. Each girl is requested to provide food and drink for herself and her father. Space is available for open fires; however, if hobo, paraffin or charcoal grills and stoves are needed, such equipment must be supplied by the girls and dads.

A father will be selected from each group to act as host for the group and to help carry out the program planned by Mr. Masny and his committee.

WAYAKITA CAMP Fire Girls, meeting Tuesday, Sept. 9, for the first time this season, elected officers for a 3-month term. Serving as the group's new officers are Gerry DeZonna, president; Judith Eriksen, vice president; Nancy Staadt, secretary; Barbara Rothers, treasurer and Lynne Schomburg, scribe. Big event of the fall season is the overnight planned for October 4 and 5 at Lake Geneva. Fulfillment of this anxiously-awaited camping trip is one of a series of requirements for the completion of the girls' fire maker rank. Mrs. Peter Eriksen and Mrs. Owen Oliveson are co-guardians of the 6th grade Camp Fire group.

Registration Days Set For Arlington Night School

The library at Arlington high school will be open for registrations for adult education classes from 7 to 9 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 22, and Tuesday, Sept. 23. Members of the high school staff will be on hand to answer questions and to assist with the registration procedure.

A few of the classes have already reached the limits of their enrollments by mail registrations, among them the class in cooking for special occasions, floral arrangements, and one section of the tailoring class. A number of other classes show substantial increases in enrollment from former seasons, but still have openings for additional members.

BUSINESS COURSES listed in the schedule have instructors who possess both academic qualifications and actual business experience. Hazel Faulkner, chairman of the business education department of the high school, teaches both beginning and refresher typing. The beginning shorthand course is taught by Donald Phares, business instructor at the high school, while William Mitchell of the high school faculty will teach the course in refresher shorthand. The shorthand classes employ the Gregg Simplified Manual as textbook.

Frank Zupan, lcal C.P.A. will teach the bookkeeping class, which covers the fundamentals and offers some individual instruction on the students' problems. Effective English, a review of grammar and rhetoric to aid in more effective letters and speeches, is taught by Joan Peterson of the staff of the Arlington Junior high school.

Newcomers to this country may register for the course in beginning English which is held on Wednesday evenings at the Arlington high school. Mrs. Florence Sorokin, who has taught the course for a number of years, will be the instructor. (ACM

Eastwood Events

Happy birthday wishes are extended to Mrs. Laura Brinke, 307 N. Lincoln lane, who celebrated with a family dinner Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, 501 N. Lincoln lane, and their daughters, Diane, Nancy, Jo, Susie and Mary Frances, vacationed this year at Gram's Lake lodge in Colorado. While there they enjoyed active outdoor life, including boating, fishing, swimming, horseback riding, hiking and many cook-outs.

With the start of school, many Eastwood young men and women are leaving for college. Among them are Donnie Carstens, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lenheim, 318 N. Beverley, who left recently for the University of Chicago. Another is Judy Fitz-Patrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Fitz-Patrick, 319 N. Beverley, who is attending nursing college. Dennis Moore has left for Peoria, where he will enter his sophomore year in engineering at Bradley university.

MRS. MAY PETERSON drove her nephew, Corky Audette, and his mother, Mrs. James Audette, to Griswold lake, McHenry, where he will attend school.

Denny Fitz-Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Fitz-Patrick is home from a camping trip at Lake Geneva. Denny went with a group from the Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

September 6 Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mutti, 314 N. Beverley, enjoyed the performance of "Auntie Mame." After the theatre they had dinner at the Town and Country, and later stopped in at the Chez Paree. Last Sunday the Mutti family attended the opening of Meadowdale Raceway, Carpentersville.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Ann Oas, who died last week. Mrs. Oas, who lived at 415 N. Lincoln lane, was buried Saturday.

Eastwooders did it again! The men's baseball team walked away with top honors against Windsor Heights Saturday at Miner school. The score was a close one — 12 to 11. A special thanks goes to the men who won for Eastwood: Bill Richter, Bill Edgerton, Wally Ellertson, Bob Lane, Homer Nielson, Jack Mutti, Bob Brinkman, Emil Hanner, George Moore and Mr. Schultz. Norm Hoym umpired and the team was coached by Herman Raasch, 203 N. Dryden.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

The Arthur P. Fellinghams, 1145 N. Patton, took Carol to Olivet, Mich. Sunday, where she entered Olivet college as a freshman.

Bob Fernstrom, son of the Robert Fernstroms, 1219 Watling, has pledged Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity at Bradley university, Peoria. He is a freshman.

The Thursday Bridge club of Sherwood is meeting for luncheon and bridge at the home of Mrs. George Thieman, 1122 N. Patton, this week. The group meets twice monthly.

Northern Illinois university, De Kalb, is where Bonnie Poole entered her freshman year. Her parents, the James Pooles, 1106 N. Princeton, took her there Tuesday and it proved to be an eventful day for all of them.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Susan Spiel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Spiel, 730 N. Harvard, 2 last Friday, celebrated at a buffet supper Sunday. Twenty-five of the family and friends were present. With all the babies there, it almost turned into a diaper party. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Michalski were among the guests.

Newcomers to Arlington Heights are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ketza, who are moving to 735 N. Princeton from Chicago. Mrs. Ketza and Mrs. Spiel are sisters and both are happy that their backyards meet.

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Anna Richter, 1224 W. Northwest hwy., who is ill at home.

The welcome mat is also out to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Munsen, 736 N. Harvard, who formerly lived in Chicago. They have a girl, Karen, 5. Mrs. Munsen's mother, Mrs. H. W. Gerth, has come up from San Antonio, Texas to be with them for two weeks.

MR. AND MRS. T. Merle Paul, 815 W. Oakton, and son, Richard, entertained two teenagers from Harvard, Ill., over the weekend. Mary Alice Carlson and Sandra Bohler, Richard's former schoolmates, had a full weekend. Friday night the threesome joined Steve Massey of Arlington High for the football game and a pizza party at Steve's home afterward. Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Paul took the two couples into Chicago. They took a boat ride on the lake before going to see "Windjammer" at the Opera house.

Mr. and Mrs. William Angus, 915 N. Yale, are looking forward to the end of this month, when his mother, Mrs. May Angus, of Perth Amboy, N. J., will make her permanent home with them.

When the IBM employees had their family dinner at the Georgian room of the Drake last Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bulinski, 725 N. Kaspar, were there enjoying the fun. There was music and IBM movies afterwards.

THE ADOLPH Danes, 725 N. Harvard, enjoyed having her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Callahan, and her brother, Elmer Martin, spend Saturday with them. Mr. Martin, just released from the hospital, had not seen the Dane home. He was also interested in seeing the sights around town—the race track and the 4—H fair.

Last weekend the Robert Haddens had a surprise visit from Bob Piatt and several friends from Clinton. After watching the Cubs play in Chicago, they all came out here for the rest of the afternoon. Mr. Hadden then took them back to see Chicago at night.

Mrs. Kent Robinson, 1004 N. Kaspar, Jeffry and Dan are back from a 9-week vacation to Massachusetts. Most of their time was spent in Nantucket, where they had a cottage next to her mother, Mrs. Winfield Perdun. Being right on the water, the boys soaked up a good sun tan that shouldn't fade in a hurry. While there, she enjoyed seeing her sister again. From Nantucket, she took the children to Andover, where they spent two weeks with her mother-in-law, Mrs. Sumner Robinson, before returning to Arlington Heights.

THE WEATHER MAN was good to Norma and Al Snap last Saturday, when they took their new boat on Fox river. Al's brother, Don and his family went with them, and from all reports the boat is going to be the source of much enjoyment to them.

American Legion activities are keeping Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Geisler busy these days. Wednesday night, while he was attending a meeting of the Cook County Color Guard and the 40 & 8 color guard practice, Mrs. Geisler attended a meeting of the Rolling Meadows auxiliary. Friday night Mr. Geisler attended a meeting of the Rolling Meadows Legion post. Saturday evening they went to the George W. Benjamin post 769 in Northbrook for the installation of officers. Sunday, while attending a picnic in Deer Grove given by the Rolling Meadows Legion post, their youngest son, Randy, fell, receiving a serious head injury. He was taken to Ravenswood hospital, where it is hoped his stay will be short and that he will be back home soon. Randy celebrated his second birthday last Thursday.

DR. AND MRS. R. H. Balfour, 1208 Northwest hwy. were among the many who enjoyed Monte Carlo night given by the American Legion at the Legion hall Saturday. Those who worked on the carnival last July were invited.

Tommy Stevens probably won't forget his seventh birthday for a long time. The big day was a Thursday, but the celebration was held off until Saturday, when five neighborhood children went with Tommy and his dad to Kiddyland. Michael Topp, Johnny Koriath, Dick Wiegel, Gary Braunsreuter, Karen Platt and Tommy rode their favorite rides and then came back to the Stevens' home for ice cream and cake. Tommy is the son of the Richard Stevens, 736 N. Kennicott.

Mrs. William Wiegel Jr., 932 N. Kaspar, is expected to return from Resurrection hospital Wednesday, after undergoing surgery. Her father, Jacob Schneider had an operation in the same hospital the day after hers.

HOLLY MOSS, whose parents are the E. O. Mosses, 806 N. Harvard, celebrated her fourth birthday twice this year. Several neighborhood children were invited to a party in her honor August 29. On the heels of that party came a family celebration in the way of an outdoor barbecue for 35 people.

It was an eventful day in the life of Joan Anderson, when her parents took her to Champaign last week to enter the University of Illinois as a freshman. She was pledged to a sorority last spring and for the last few weeks both mother and daughter have been kept busy getting clothes ready. Joan's parents are the junior William T. Anderson s, 1001 N. Yale.

When the E. G. Dunns joined friends to see "Around the World in 80 Days" last Friday night they took Janice with them.

Noreen Ronayne, 4-month-old daughter of the Jim Ronaynes, was quite a hit when her parents took her to Van Orin, Ill., to see her great aunt, Hattie. It was a double celebration Saturday: Charlotte's mother's birthday and Aunt Hattie's 75th birthday.

Barber Shop Singers Set For Contest

Four singers who have been harmonizing for only a year will represent Arlington Heights at a barbershop quartet contest next week.

Named the "Tune Hunters," the quartet will participate in its first singing competition under the banner of the local chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. Members are Dan Krebsback, lead; George Dye, tenor; John Allen, baritone, and Roy Pemberton, bass.

THE CONTEST will be held at Senn high school in Chicago from September 26 through 28 and the winners of the chorus contest will represent the state in the 1959 international contest.

Persons wishing to join the Arlington Chorus may attend meetings Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the Legion hall, 121 N. Douglas. The group will soon begin rehearsals for its annual "Night of Harmony," to be held November 1 this year.

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, 910 Douglas. They are former residents of Chicago and have a married daughter who lives in Mt. Prospect. Mr. Miller works for the Post Office in Chicago. Mrs. Miller's name is Gertrude.

Of interest to friends and neighbors of Wayne and Angie Kessinger, formerly of 841 Hickory, is the news of the birth of a daughter September 10 in Resurrection hospital. The baby, Mary Catherine, weighed 7 pounds 4½ ounces. The Kessingers have three other children, all boys, and are now residing in their new home at 816 N. Belmont.

Kathy Mogytych celebrated her fifth birthday Monday. Attending her party were Janet Lee Broderick, Steve and Patty Eiserman, Glenn and Gary Paluch, Peggy Norum, Joanne Lalish and Karen and Claudia Drake. Refreshments and games were enjoyed by the guests. Kathy's parents are Kit and Tony Mogytych, 818 Dryden.

WHILE GEORGE Lalish, 830 Dryden, with a group of village employees traveled by bus Friday evening to Milwaukee to enjoy the night baseball game, Ruth Lalish entertained her neighbors with an evening of cards. Afterwards refreshments were served.

Donna Crane, daughter of Jack and Millie Crane, 859 Beverly, celebrated her 14th birthday last Friday evening with Christine Bylski and Jeanine Sims of Arlington Greens. Besides enjoying the refreshments, the girls also danced.

Denise Loriss, daughter of Matt and Madge Loriss, 1018 Douglas, celebrated her sixth birthday with a party September 8.

Another birthday celebrant was Mathew Turner, son of Elmer amd Rita Turner, 901 Frederick. Last Friday, his fifth birthday, Mathew entertained fellow kindergarten chums with a luncheon following their return from school. Enjoying lunch and games were Jamie Davis, Jimmie Fillebrown, Kathy Mogytych, Claudia Drake, Pamela Franks and Janet Lee Broderick. Saturday Mathew's grandparents and relatives gathered to extend their best wishes. (A

Commonwealth Edison AND Public Service Company

Water, Sewerage Firm Asks For Permission to Operate

Authority to construct and operate a water supply and sewerage disposal system in an unincorporated section of Wheeling township was sought Wednesday by the Manor Service Company at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce Commission in Chicago.

The area to be served — known as Brickman Manor — is bounded by Euclid ave., Highland st. (if extended), School ave. (if extended), and a point several hundred feet east of Wheeling road (if extended).

THE SITE, east of Mt. Prospect, is bisected by Foundry road.

The company proposes to start construction of the water and sewerage disposal system in the area south of Foundry road in about two months. This 35-acre tract contains 114 65 by 135-foot lots. Home building on the lots is expected to begin this fall. The utility estimates about 450 residents in this section.

The area north of Foundry road contains 361 65 by 135-foot lots. The utility proposes to start construction of its water and sewerage disposal systems here in the Fall of 1959. The company estimates about 1,450 residents in this 115-acre tract.

Charles W. Greengard, an engineer for Manor Service, said that the total cost of the utility's proposed facilities is estimated at $431,000. Facilities include two underground wells and six-inch water mains. The system is to connect with that of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, Greengard told ICC Examiner Helen Munsert.

St. Simon's to Install First Full Time Vicar

Another milestone in the history of St. Simon Episcopal church will be reached Sunday, Sept. 21, when the Rev. Samuel N. Keyes will be installed as the first full time vicar of the mission in Arlington Heights.

The installation service will be held at 4 p. m. in the gymnasium of the Junior High school with the Very Rev. Frederick W. Putnam, dean of the Northwest Deanery and rector of St. Matthew Episcopal church, Evanston, conducting the services. It was just a year ago that Dean Putnam and Cannon Deppen came to Arlington Heights and held the organizational meeting for St. Simon's.

Following the installation services, a reception will be held in the cafeteria of the school. Clergy, other friends and members of St. Simon's are invited to attend the services and reception. The offering at this special service will be used to defray costs of carpentry and painting of the newly purchased rectory.

Father and Mrs. Keyes moved from Wayneville, Ohio into the rectory at 526 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, this week. Members of the mission have been busy preparing the rectory for them.

Father Keyes will conduct both the 8:30 and 10 a. m. services at St. Simon's Sunday and will be assisted by Rev. E. Dargan Butt, who has been serving as temporary vicar this past year. Of special significance is the use of the new communion vessels which will be used at these services. The vessels were purchased with monies from a special Christmas offering at St. Simon's.

Wedgewood Terrace

Wedgewood Terrace Improvement association held its monthly meeting at the home of Louis Sylvester. It was reported that the property owned by the association was cleared. Twenty-five bushes are to be purchased for the park. A committee is to make a survey of the trees and report on replacing damaged and dead ones. It was asked if the speed limit on route 83 from Mt. Prospect to Prospect Heights could be reduced, and the matter is to be looked into. The fall dance will be held September 27, at the VFW hall, Skokie.

The Triangle club meeting was held at Mrs. George Krizeks with Mrs. Gene Melvin as co-hostess. Attendance was good. It was voted that the election of officers will be held at the last meeting of the year. Members are asked to save nylon stockings and odds and ends of material for the November meeting which will be devoted to making stuffed toys to be given to an orphanage or childrens home. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ken Reed with Mrs. Tom Merritt as cohostess.

Mrs. William Taft was hostess for a clothing demonstration. Attending were Mrs. Ken Reed, Mrs. Harold Burton, Mrs. Frank Bedo, Mrs. James Salisbury and relatives from Chicago.

Mrs. Harold Burton also had a clothing demonstration. Present were friends and relatives from Chicago, Mrs. Ken Reed, and Mrs. William Taft.

A CAKE DECORATING demonstration was given at the home of Mrs. Clyde House. Among those present were 13 women from Wedgewood; Mrs. Agatha Merritt, Arlington; Mrs. James Klinkhammer, Meadowdale; and Mrs. Theresa House, Mrs. Freda Whetstone, Mrs. Anna McConnell and Mrs. Ervin Pose, Chicago.

The Louis Sylvesters entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marchetti, Mr. and Mrs. Les Schnieder and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde House for cards Saturday evening.

A birthday party was given by the Robert Marchettis Sunday for Mrs. Marchetti's father, Willis Evans, and her brother, Dick Evans. Helping with the celebration were 25 relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Becker attended a high school reunion Saturday at St. Joseph, Mich. They won a prize for having the youngest baby in the group. (AM

Second Summons Is Issued for Heinz

The State's Attorney's office will issue a second summons for Roland Heinz, charged with maintaining a house trailer on the south side of Dundee road, west of State road, Wheeling township, without a permit.

Sheriff's deputies failed to locate Heinz to serve a summons calling for his County court appearance Wednesday, according to Assistant State's Attorney Richard Houpt.

The complaint, filed by State's Attorney Adamowski, also accuses Heinz of erecting two sheds and a garage addition without county permits, and depositing litter and trash on the property. (AC

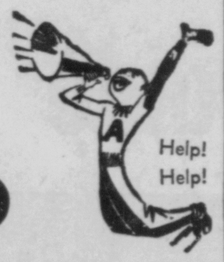
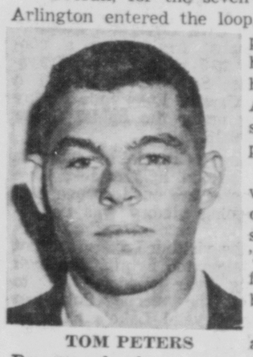
KICKIN' IT AROUND



by BOB FRISK

FROM GLENBARD'S convincing 22-0 victory on Nov. 9, 1951, played on a Friday afternoon under adverse weather conditions, to Arlington's smashing 32-6 conquest last fall, the annual series between these two West Suburban clubs has been marked by outstanding individual efforts and dramatic grid action.

Overall, for the seven games between the two schools since Arlington entered the loop, Glenbard has won four, piling up 97 points to the Cards' 92. But the locals have won three of the last four in what has developed into a high-scoring series. And last year's 32-6 pasting probably still rings a bitter note in the Hilltoppers' grid camp.



TOM PETERS

Because of the way the schedule reversed itself from 1957, Glenbard is opening Arlington's conference slate this season instead of terminating it as in '57. Consequently, that game is still fresh in the minds of the Bards who will be out for revenge Friday night.

The series got underway in '51 among rather strange circumstances. Because of a heavy snow and the forecast for more bad weather ahead, the contest was moved to the afternoon despite a heavy loss at the gate. And although the field had been shoveled clear of snow, it was still in poor shape due to the mud.

But the conditions didn't seem to bother visiting Glenbard as it rolled up 13 first downs, held Arlington to only one and just 60 total yards, and piled up a lop-sided 22-0 victory.

Ronnie Walker and Dick Weichenhein starred for the winners with Walker gaining five completions in eight aerial attempts, two going for TDs, and Weichenhein gaining 83 yards in 18 carries.

Two sophs came to the front in this contest, and both were destined to play key roles in the following two games. Glenbard's Tom Peters, probably the best end to ever play in the WSC, and Dick Winterbauer, Arlington's All-WSC quarterback for two years who later went on to stardom at Yale, both saw a lot of action in this series lidlifter in '51 though only in their second year of school. Peters grabbed one scoring pass for 35 yards, and Winterbauer quarterbacked a Card backfield most of the afternoon which included Rog Ragland and Mike Theis, and fullback Tommy Theis.

DICK WINTERBAUER

Rallying for two second half counters, Glenbard took the '52 tilt, 13-7, with Peters again standing out for the victors. The junior end tallied the first six points on a pass from Dean Refram and also caught another 46 yarder. And Winterbauer, now a "mature junior" at the signal-calling slot, scored Arlington's only touchdown on a two yard sneak and then kicked the extra point.

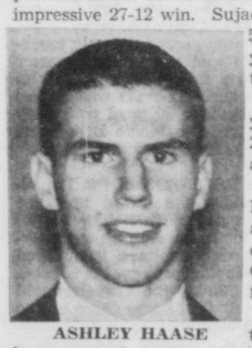
Although in a losing cause, the Cards' Bob Krause, Dave Brant, and Charley Verret stood out on defense in this battle.

Peters and Winterbauer were very much in evidence again in '53, their final season as preps, as Glenbard rolled over Arlington, 18-6, for its third straight series win.

Peters pulled in a 30 yard pass from Refram for one score and his all-around play throughout the contest was a constant thorn in the Cards' attack. Winterbauer tallied Arlington's single six points on a three yard sneak and completed four of 11 aerials.

Arlington finally broke its victory famine in 1954 when Wayne Malzahn bulled over from the one for the only score in a 7-0 victory. The drive started on the eight after Arlington had picked up a fumble. Malzahn hit center for five, quarterback Denny Maher sneaked to the one, then Malzahn plunged over, Lew Green converted.

All-State halfback Johnny Sujack placed his name in a high position in the series annals in '55 when he paced the Cards to an impressive 27-12 win. Sujack scored three touchdowns, twice going 54 yards and adding another from 21 yards out, and Denny Thill, only a soph then, got one on a seven yard plunge.



ASHLEY HAASE

Sujack also had runs of 27 and 18 yards as Arlington out-rushed Glenbard 261-189. Green converted three times to add insult to injury.

But Glenbard bounced back in 1956. Dave Obrecht was the chief engineer of a 26-13 victory as he scored three touchdowns and also kicked one extra point. Glenbard scored two touchdowns in the first four minutes of the final period.

Ashley Haase, an All-WSC halfback that fall, was the work-horse in the Arlington attack in '56 as the locals outgained the Hilltoppers, 139-138. Haase did most of the work in the 57 yard drive, capped by Thill's sneak. Ashley turned in a neat 37 yard sprint for the final Arlington score.

Last year's game is one Glenbard fans are ready to dismiss and Arlington followers are quick to discuss. Paced by halfbacks Bob Mors and Howie Berg, one of the most dangerous halfback combinations Arlington has ever had, the Cards ground out 263 yards rushing and added 77 via the air lanes in a smashing 32-6 victory.

Mors, the state's 440 yard champ in track, returned a punt 72 yards for a score in the first quarter, then added a six yarder for six points in the concluding segment. Berg had scores from 58 and 15 yards, and Thill, tallying in this third straight game of the series, went over on a drive from the one.

There you have it: The seven games in a hotly-contested grid series between two West Suburban clubs. It has been a series marked by outstanding individual and team efforts and Friday night should be no exception.

And Arlington's standouts in these past contests are invited to be the guests of the school at the annual "A" Men's night. It's a time for the stars of the past to pass judgment on the stars of the present and potential stars of the future!

Arlington Opens Conference Slate Friday

Cards' Sophs Battle Glenbard In Home Contest

Two sophomore outfits intent on getting off to a good start in the West Suburban title chase will square off at Arlington field Friday night at 6 p.m.

Arlington and Glenbard, who both pushed over two touchdowns in their openers last weekend, are ready to send out their best in an effort to chalk up that first league win.

The young Cards, coached by Bill Beckman and Bob Hoese, got off to an impressive start by blanking Leyden, 12-0, while Glenbard, though putting on a good display, dropped a 14-13 decision to Wheaton.

"IT WAS A TEAM effort," Beckman said of the Arlington win, "but there is still work to be done. We had fair blocking against Leyden, and the defensive unit looked good. In addition, I was pleased with the angle of pursuit which showed up in the game movies."

Beckman went on to say that Fred Lussow, the sophs' quarterback, called all but three or four plays and did a good job mixing up his backs. "All our backs ran well," Beckman added.

Halfbacks Keith Voight and Keith Grams and fullback Tom Petrosino join Lussow in what will be the starting backfield Friday night against Glenbard. Voight and Petrosino scored the touchdowns in the opener.

HALFBACK BILL McMILLEN, junior, who turned in an outstanding second half last Friday, picks up a sizeable gain around end in the 16-0 win over Leyden. Closing in for the tackle is linebacker Erik Pedersen.

Grace Announces Changes in AH Athletic Slate

Several schedule changes were announced this week for Arlington sports by Wally Grace, athletic director.

The changes were necessitated because final decisions had not been made when the schedule cards were printed.

A cross country meet originally scheduled for Friday, Sept. 26, at Riverside-Brookfield, will be held Saturday, Sept. 27, between football games between the two schools. The frosh-soph meet will be run that Saturday between halves of the frosh-soph football contest.

FRESHMAN "A" game slated for Downers Grove, Oct. 27, will be played at Arlington, and the JV contest that same afternoon has been switched from Arlington to Downers.

In addition, there have been some drops in the schedules. The R-B freshmen "B" game with Arlington set for Sept. 30 has been dropped because Riverside wants to play only a limited schedule. And because of the double-shift, Maine has been forced to cancel the Oct. 21 contest with Arlington's freshmen "B" team. This cuts the "B" schedule to only five contests. (Sp

Boosters Triumph, 11-6, Over Stateville Prison

by RANDY THOMAS

Little 5-8 Bob Miller evened his season's record at 7-7 and pushed Arlington over the .500 mark for the year last Saturday as he hurled Black's Boosters to an 11-6 win over the Stateville Trojans at Joliet.

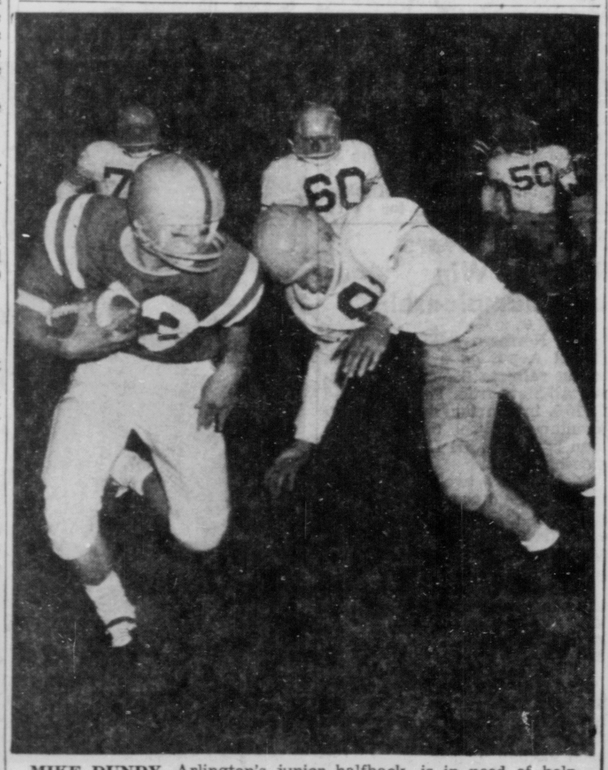
Some 2500 inmates of the Joliet Stateville prison watched and cheered as Blacks hopped off to an early 4-0 lead in the first inning, then booed as their inmate pals came back with three in the fourth and one in the sixth to tie.

The Boosters iced their final win of the year, much to the delight of the spectators, with a 7 run eighth with the help of two timely hits. The first was by first baseman Dick Bokelmann with catcher Ed Meinken and Bill Sprincz aboard. Then rightfielder Lou Schairer banked a two-out single to left scoring Bokelmann and shortstop Larry Moore, who had walked.

MOORE, A JUNE graduate of Culver-Stockton college, sparked the first inning rally with a lead-off triple to right center. Two errors, a fielder's choice and Meinken's hit to right sent Bill Sutherland and Bob Getts across. While rightfielder Matt Moore argued over whether he caught or trapped a ball hit by Sprincz Meinken came around for the fourth run of the frame.

The Trojans displayed some fancy base running in the fourth to score three times and get back in the game. Shortstop Moore's wild heave and Sutherland's two errors on one man plus two stolen bases by Matt Moore and center fielder Jim Purdy got the Joliet squad back into the act in the fourth.

Miller pitched perfect ball for 3 1/3 innings before Moore threw wildly in the fourth to ignite their three run frame. Up to that time Miller was the master, striking out five and walking none.



MIKE DUNDY, Arlington's junior halfback, is in need of help as three Leyden Eagles surround him during action in Friday's lidlifter. Putting on the clinching tackle was Bill Borglund (81).

Cardinals to Face Glenbard On Night Honoring 'A' Men

by BOB FRISK

Arlington's junior-studded Cardinals, hoping to pick up right where they left off against Leyden, will host an unpredictable Glenbard eleven Friday on "A" Men's Night, kicking off the 1958 West Suburban schedule.

All other conference schools are slated to open Saturday afternoon with Maine's defending champs at York, Riverside at La Grange, and Downers at Hinsdale.

Only Arlington, Glenbard, and Hinsdale came out of the opening weekend against non-league foes with victories. Downers and LaGrange managed ties, but York, Riverside, and Maine all tasted that first defeat.

In Arlington's case it was simply a matter of the team finding itself after a slow first half, the result of first game tenseness especially on the part of the juniors in the lineup.

BUT WHEN the unit jelled, there was no stopping it as Leyden found out. Arlington had the ball for all but ten plays in the second half and held the visiting Eagles to a minus 20 yards rushing and passing. The Cards rolled for 12 first downs in the final two segments.

Head coach "Bus" Ormsbee doesn't plan any wholesale revamping of the lineup which opened against Leyden although junior Rick Johnston, a lanky 165-pounder, will be at left end in place of the injured Rich Bader. Bader has a slight crack in the ankle bone and will probably be out for four weeks.

It's ironical that Bader, generally expected to be one of the top pass receivers in the conference if not in the state this fall, should suffer the injury the first time he caught a pass in '58, a three-yarder from Gene Dahlquist.

IN ADDITION to Johnston, junior halfback Bill McMillan, the spark behind the Cards' second half revival against Leyden, will probably get the call at right half in place of senior Jeff Heintz. McMillan paced the Cards in rushing despite getting into action for the first time in the third period.

With both McMillan annd Johnston in the opening offensive alignment, Ormsbee would have six juniors on the field. Both starting guards, Carl Graf and Roy Klehm, are third year men as are halfback Mike Dundy, and both quarterbacks, George Bork and Dahlquist.

ORMSBEE WAS pleased with the performances of his two junior quarterbacks who alternated at the signal-calling slot. Both boys' passing was sharp and the combined 8-for-18 mark would have been better except for some dropped aerials in the first half.

The quarterback situation appears in such capable hands now that the coaching staff is planning on switching Bob Barbour, who lettered at quarter in '57 and who has been out with an injury, to a line position when he returns to action. Barbour is expected to have the cast off his leg by Friday.

The defensive setup also drew special praise from Ormsbee for its work against Leyden with such names as Don Gerken, Dan Striegel, "Buz" Owen, Leigh Moore, Jesse Nehf, Al Sander, and Klehm standing out.

GLENBARD IS expected to field a more formidable lineup Friday night than the one which succumbed, 32-6, to the Cards last fall.

The Hilltoppers line averages 181 with the backs going at about 168. Coach Liz Astroth has ten lettermen on the '58 edition which opened its campaign last weekend with a 14-13 win over Wheaton's Tigers.

Rob Roy and Terry Thomas are two good halfbacks for the Bards with Hank Vanderleest ready for those short-gainers from fullback. Roy, a 160-pound junior, drew special praise from the scouts who watched the Hilltoppers' opener.

Heaviest men in the visitors' lineup Friday night will be tackles Joe Kelly and Bruce Spencer, both 205-pounders. Kelly is going for his third varsity football letter.

All past letter winners at Arlington high may get into Friday's game free if they pick up their guest tickets by mail or directly from Wally Grace, athetic director. (Sp

Frosh Squads Win Openers

Bob Laughlin scored three touchdowns, one in the last 15 seconds of play, as Arlington's freshman 'A" team won its opener Monday afternoon, 19-13, over Notre Dame of Niles.

Coached by Charles Aldrich, Hal Henson, and Rusty Dowell, the frosh jumped off to a 13-0 lead at intermission only to see Notre Dame knot the count with three minutes to play.

Then Arlington initiated a 60 yard payoff drive with Ross Retterer at the helm. Laughlin did the clinching honors from the 1 yard line.

A 25 YARD PASS from Retterer to Laughlin accounted for another touchdown, and Laughlin plunged over from the one again for the third.

In the frosh "B" encounter Arlington piled up a 34-0 lead after two periods when the game was halted. However, the locals will get credit for the victory.

Touchdowns for the "Bs" were scored by Bryon Duff, Steve Fossler, Robert Freise, and Dick Tokoph, with a fifth coming on a short plunge.

The next game for the "A" squad will be Monday, Sept. 22, against Glenbard there while the "B" team will face Glenbard on Tuesday at home. (Sp

Harriers Open WSC Schedules With Glenbard

Arlington's varsity and frosh-soph cross country teams will open their West Suburban schedules Friday afternoon with home affairs against Glenbard at 4 p.m.

The varsity meet will be run at Arlington high school with the frosh-sophs at Prospect.

Coach Russ Attis' varsity already has one victory on the record, a 15-50 win over Glenbrook, while Bob Meissner's frosh-sophs dropped their initial meet, 17-38, to a tough West Proviso team.

LETTERMAN Bob Taggart toured the Glenbrook course last Friday in 9:32, finishing three seconds in front of teammate Kenny Courter as Arlington walked away with the varsity encounter.

The locals captured the first nine places with the following boys finishing behind Taggart and Courter: Bill Dodge, Jim Erickson, Chuck Phelan, Don Knoepfle, Bill Terbell, Mickey Johnson, and Ron Marks.

DICK WALDEN, who was leading the race until he hit his head on the backstop along the course, finished fourth as the sophs top individual in the West Proviso meet.

Other boys who ranked in the top twenty were Doug Vaughn (7), John Newhard (8), Rog Luedke (9), Don Hendricks (10), Don Coey (11), Jerry Hawkins (12), Jim Glidden (13), Ken Anderson (15), Jim Robertson (17), and Jeff Louthain (20).

At a meeting of the frosh-soph squad members recently, Jerry Hawkins was elected captain.

Following Friday's Glenbard meet the two Arlington high squads will travel to Palatine for a Monday afternoon affair at 3:30.

Palatine Opens Home Schedule Friday

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL got underway last weekend with beautiful weather. The hot weather Saturday afternoon was a real test of early season conditioning. As one Palatine gridder put it after Saturday's game at Grayslake: "You never really know what condition you are in until after that first game. Then you know that you have to work harder to be ready for each succeeding game."

Palatine showed more defensive strength than expected and less offensive polish in their opener. On the whole our observation is that the Pirates showed good possibilities and will give a good account of themselves once the handicap of inexperience is gone and the only way to remedy this fault is playing football games. With Crystal Lake Friday at home followed by a trip to Barrington on September 27, the Pirate coaches should have their team pretty well jelled for the opener of the Tri-County league October 4. Palatine's ball handling was uncertain and playing the T formation handling the ball is the key to success. Palatine outplayed the Rams but fumbles cost them the game.

Results last Saturday indicate that North Chicago and Glenbrook will be the teams to beat again this year in the Tri-County. Glenbrook edged Highland Park of the big Suburban League 6-4 while North Chicago romped over a good Notre Dame team 34-13. Notre Dame has 250 boys out for football and were rated strong enough to push the Warhawks who went into the game without their star quarterback, Riedel. Elmwood Park with a big fast junior team rolled over Wheaton Academy 33-7 but the caliber of the opposition was weak and no real test for the Tri-County team.

THE NORTH SUBURBAN athletic directors were scheduled to meet for an 8:00 a. m. breakfast at Woodstock Wednesday of this week to make the 1959 football schedule. Palatine athletic director, J. E. Stutzman, was slated to be present as the Pirates are to be North Suburban League members starting next year, September. The league has been operating with 7 members since Lake Forest and Warren shifted to the Northwest and only Dundee was added in their place. Other members are Crystal Lake, Barrington, McHenry, Libertyville, Zion-Benton and Woodstock. Of these schools Zion, Crystal Lake, and Libertyville, have larger enrollments than Palatine in spite of the increase to 1,175 this year.

Up at Libertyville there has been a controversy and divided board of education opinion in the case where Andy Hook, varsity basketball coach, was given a teaching assignment this year which did not include basketball.

It seems that some persons are not clear in their thinking and information about teaching duties. The superintendent and board hire teachers to teach school and not to teach certain classes or coach certain sports. The assignment of classes and activities to sponsor is the perogative of the board and may be changed as the need arises as long as the teacher is handling classes for which he is qualified by state regulations. There is no state regulation as to qualifications for coaching. The tenure law protects the teacher in the job and salary after 2 years in a position but does not protect him from the standpoint of his teaching or activity assignments. The salary of a teacher on tenure may not be reduced unless all faculty members experience the same per cent of cut in pay. Someone at Libertyville contacted the Illinois High School Association hoping for defense for Hook but found that they have no jurisdiction over coaching assignments of member schools. Hook resigned at Libertyville following his assignment change and has a position at Eastern Illinois University managing the Student Union.

Paul Lewis who has been football coach at Grant High of Fox Lake the past 15 years is reported to have announced this as his last. He will concentrate on baseball after this season at Grant. Lewis is a Grant alumnus as are both his assistants in football. Jim Lumber was fullback in 1952 and Bill Richardson a halfback in 1948.

Up in the Northwest Conference, which is now strictly a Lake County circuit, we pick the first division teams to be Lake Forest, Grayslake, Ela-Vernon, and Antioch to finish in that order. Check November 1 and see how far off we are on this pre-season forecast.

NORTH CHICAGO lost 9 regulars by graduation from their champ grid team and 8 of the 9 are now enrolled in college and out for football. Adam State in Colorado has all-conference guard, Harold Marsh, and Rudy Basovsky an end and Ed Hodnak, a fine fullback. Brian Moore, 215 pound all league tackle and an "A" student, is at the University of Wisconsin. Ron Stanczak, quarterback 3 years, and Lee Fry, tackle, are at Lora College in Dubuque, Iowa. Carl Lepke, center, is at the University of Dubuque, and Bill Owen, guard, is at Bradley. Fred Scott, halfback, is in the air force.

In the big leagues of the Chicago Suburbs New Trier is rated a slight edge in the Suburban and LaGrange in the West Suburban. Las year Evanston, New Trier, and Waukegan tied for the Suburban crown and New Trier has the most left. Saturday they walloped Harrison of Chicago 33-7. LaGrange opened with a 7-7 tie with Oak Park. The way Elgin trounced York 43-13 may mean that the Maroons are going to be a top challenger again in the Big Eight.

Pirates to Battle Another Strong Non-League Opponent

by BOB FRISK

After an uneventful experience with the Northwest Conference Palatine's Pirates will try their hand with the North Suburban Friday night.

Grayslake's highly-touted Rams, regarded as a strong title threat in the Northwest Conference, had all they could do to edge a graduation-riddled Palatine eleven last Saturday, 6-0.

Now Crystal Lake comes to town Friday night for an 8 p.m. tilt and the Tigers, under Coach Roy Nystrom, are also well-rated in their league, this time the North Suburban loop.

No matter how the Pirates fare Friday, one thing is certain about this club — it's learning every game and by the time the Tri-County slate rolls around, it should be ready!

COACH CHARLEY Feutz is the first to admit that Palatine's inexperience will be a big obstacle to overcome in the opening contests, but he feels the squad will gradually develop against such tough non-conference foes as Grayslake, Crystal Lake, and Barrington.

The Pirates came out of the Grayslake contest without any injuries so unless something unforeseen comes up in practice, the squad will be in top shape for the Lakers.

In discussing the Grayslake encounter Feutz asserted that the Rams were not as good as last year and that two key penalties hurt Palatine at key moments in the contest. However, there were some bright spots.

"THE QUARTERBACKING of Bill Coates was commendable," Feutz added, "and he should come along as the season progresses. In addition, the defensive work of Dick Welty, Bernie Seitz, Mike Fremon, and Coates among others was also impressive."

Two positions are in doubt following the Grayslake encounter with either John Oltyan or Bob Schneble starting at left end, and Tony Mastroianni or Bill Sweet at left guard.

Fremon was the big ground-gainer for Palatine against Grayslake with 109 yards in 16 carries for a 6.8 average.

CRYSTAL LAKE is a big club and will probably rate the nod over Palatine — at least on paper.

Coach Nystrom has three lettermen back from the unit that finished 6-2 last year, second in the strong North Suburban loop.

"Although our material is not as strong overall," Nystrom says, "we have good backs and an excellent quarterback-end combination. One of our weak points is inexperience in the line."

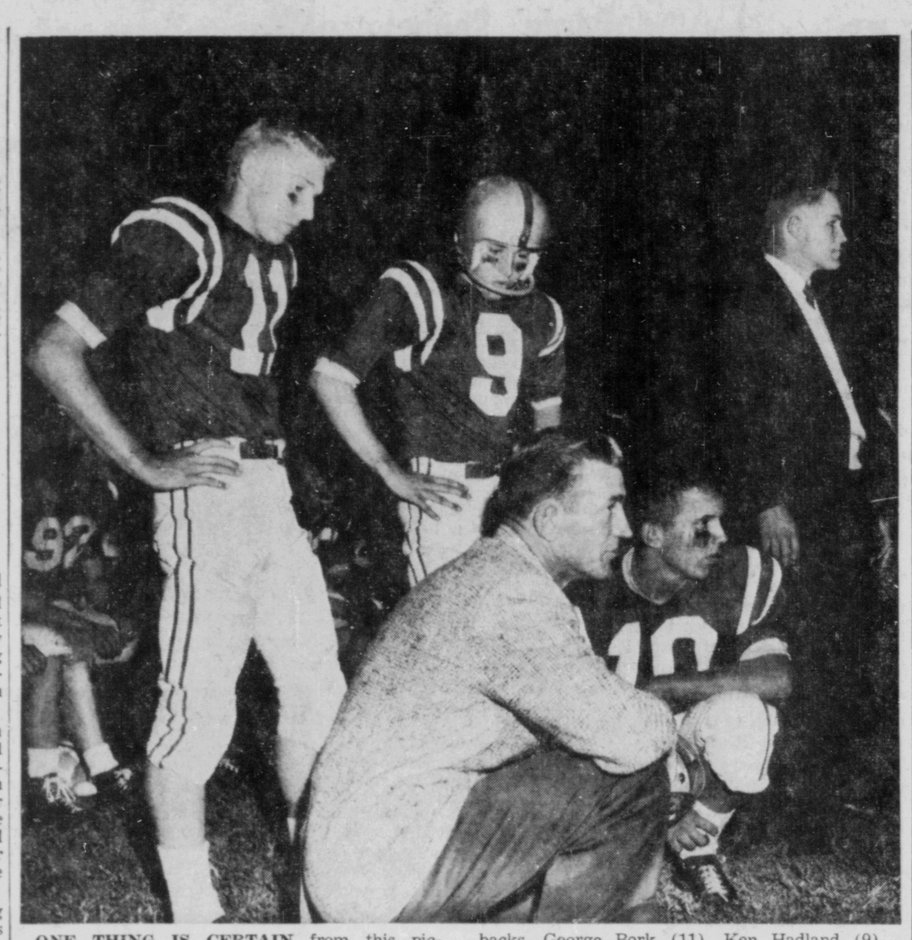
Former Western Star Newest Fenton Coach

When assistant coach Howard Scott left the Fenton high school football scene last spring it left a vacancy which has been very adequately filled with the hiring of Don Johnson, a former Western Illinois University pigskin star, to replace him.

Johnson comes to Fenton with a masters degree in guidance and a years experience as one of Western's assistant coaches. Johnson matriculated at Western after leading Austin high school to the Chicago Public League football crown in 1949. He played under such renowned coaches as Vince DiFrancesca and Lou Saban.

Don, a center in his playing days, is working with the Bisons frosh-soph line as well as handling the frosh squad. Married and father of a little girl, the navy veteran is now living in Cihcago.

BILL BROWN is currently running No. 2 in the fullback battle at the University of Illinois. Brown, husky Mendota, Ill. sophomore, was an all-stater in football and won the state shot put championship in 1956.



ONE THING IS CERTAIN from this picture—Arlington is not on offense in its opening 16-0 win over Leyden. Grouped around head coach "Bus" Ormsbee are the three quarterbacks, George Bork (11), Ken Hadland (9), and Gene Dahlquist (10). Also watching the action is end coach, Maurice Ross.

Cards Dominate 2nd Half, Top Leyden Eagles, 16-0

The names were the same but that was about all in the second half of Arlington's opener with Leyden Friday night.

Deadlocked 0-0 at intermission, "Bus" Ormsbee's Cardinals erupted for a quick touchdown in the third segment, then proceeded to completely dominate the remainder of the contest and pull out a 16-0 victory.

In fact the Cards exhibited such overwhelming dominance that Leyden was able to originate only ten plays in the final two periods. And the amazing thing about this is that the ten plays combined to lose 20 yards, not taking into consideration two intercepted passes by Dick Stansbury.

THE VISITING Eagles' longest gain in the second half was a four yard "burst" in the fourth period. And that was quickly taken care of when the same back was caught for a nine yard loss at the one, setting up a safety.

While George Bujan's Leyden eleven was desperately trying to get something started in the final half, the Cards just rolled along, capitalizing on breaks and demonstrating an effective offense, sparked by the running of junior Bill McMillan.

McMillan, who had to sit out one season because he was a transfer from Notre Dame, carried the ball for the first time on the eighth play of the third quarter but by the time he was through, he had picked up 63 yards for a 7.0 per try average.

JUNIOR quarterback George Bork was the chief engineer of the initial scoring drive although another junior, Gene Dahlquist, also had a hand in it. Ormsbee continually alternated the two boys.

Al Sander, powerful fullback who carried 11 times in the contest, for 49 yards, got the drive rolling with an eight yard burst through the middle after Arlington had recovered a fumble on its own 42 yard line.

Then Bork tossed an incomplete pass but Sander got two for the first down. Jeff Heintz picked up four yards and Sander got another first down with a seven yard scamper. That's when McMillan went into action.

BILL LEAPED over one tackler and skirted 10 yards to the Leyden 27, then followed with a nine yard dash to the 18. A fumble fallen on by Sander cost the Cards 11 yards and the quarterback some rushing yardage, but a Bork to McMillan aerial put the ball on the 18 where it became fourth and one.

Sander ripped through for three yards and the third first down he had been responsible for in this period. Then Bork pitched out to Mike Dundy, the only regular back not used previously in the drive, and Dundy, a fleet 160 pounder, turned the end and went in from 15 yards for the first touchdown.

Dan Stiegel kicked the first of his two successful extra points.

ARLINGTON DIDN'T wait long to counter again. On a first and fifteen situation on his own 21 Leyden quarterback Don Jacobsen had an attempted pass blocked by Don Gerken right into the arms of Stansbury who went the remaining distance for the score. Striegel again split the uprights.

Although the Cards dominated the ball for the rest of the third period and in the early stages of the fourth, they couldn't score again. Starting on their own 29, they drove 70 yards in 15 plays before Dahlquist fumbled on the one yard line, Leyden recovering.

The Eagles pushed out to the 10 but were forced back to the one from where "Buz" Owen caught Dick Albrecht in the end zone for two points.

Arlington controlled the ball for the remaining minutes and ended on the two yard line when Dahlquist flipped an 11 yard pass to Ed Whitelaw who was stopped just short of the goal.

The closest either team got to scoring territory in the first half was when Leyden penetrated to the Arlington 14, using a 43 yard pass play to get there, before Strigel recovered a fumble by Ed Cupp.

L-Nor Cleaners Cops Scratch Golf Crown

L-Nor Cleaners easily won the scratch league title as they romped over second place Lohr's Pharmacy, 5-2. Again, the 1-2-3 punch of Len Arnold, 33, Don Hager, 36, and Dick Burkett, 39, was too much as the loser's could manage only one sub-40-round-Dan Musser at 38.

Par	443	455	443—36
Arnold	442	444	434—33

Moving up to tie for second place was Sterling Oil which ousted Peterson Floor from the runner-up spot by beating them 4½-2½. Bill Schwerin's 37 and Dick Ackerman's 39 won the big matches for the victors, while Frank Matyas' 39 gave the losers their only consolation.

IN SUNDAY'S eighteen hole play day event, Gene Doyle and Len Arnold were low gross winners at 73. Bob Blessing was close behind at 74. In the driving contest, best ball out of three, Bill Schwerin was the winner at 355 yards. Second was Cully Berlin at 340 yards. Best average for three was Al Griffith at 330 yards.

After the final night of play, officers were elected for the coming year. They are: Cully Berlin — President; Jim Keane vice president; Shelby Stewart, treasurer; and Ralph Neubauer, secretary.

The banquet has been slated for Saturday night, October 4, at 7 p.m. All league members are urged to attend as this will be the last event of this year.

Arlington Sophs Blank Leyden In Opener, 12-0

After exploding for three first downs, 61 yards, and six points the first time they had the ball this season, Arlington's Frosh-Soph football team was able to record a 12-0 win over Leyden Friday night in the 1958 opener.

Although the rest of the evening didn't go along as smoothly as that initial sustained drive, the sophs, under the direction of Bill Beckman and Bob Hoese still put on a good performance for local fans.

Three backs did most of the ball carrying with halfback Keith Voight, a 145-pound speedster, topping the trio with 55 yards and one touchdown in only six carries. Fullback Tom Petrosino ground out 53 yards, most of it coming on a 29 yard scoring scamper in the third period, and halfback Keith Grams added 45 yards.

QUARTERBACK Fred Lussow expertly mixed up his backs in the opening drive with Petrosino carrying three times, Voight three times, and Grams twice.

Grams skirted 19 yards on the first play from scrimmage, and Voight followed with a 13 yarder to the Leyden 22. An illegal motion penalty set the ball back to the 27 where Petrosino hit center for three. Grams got three more, then the husky fullback added another first down with a 13 yard burst. Voight got to the four, Petrosino to the one, and Keith carried over.

A running attempt for the extra point was no good.

Neither team moved closer than the opponent's 33 yard line for the remainder of the first half, but following an exchange of punts after the intermission, Arlington struck again.

VOIGHT RETURNED a punt to the Leyden 46 to set off the drive. Petrosino got seven to the 39 and Grams picked up the first down with an 11 yard effort to the 28. Then Petrosino burst through the middle, cut left and dove in for the touchdown, a 29 yard dash. Again a run for the extra point failed.

That was the ballgame although Leyden put on a drive of its own in the final segment, handling the ball for 11 consecutive plays at the outset of the period only to lose it on a fumble.

Center Bill Zadel recovered Rogers' fumble on the Arlington 39 to kill off the threat.

Lussow was the quarterback for most of the game although Frank Hermes did see some action. Fred completed one pass for 19 yards early in the third period.

Northern Stars Rally to Win LL Championship

The Northern All-Stars from Parcel A put on a 7-run eighth inning rally to defeat the Southern All-Stars from Parcels B and C, 15-9, in a virtual duststorm at Twinbrook school for the Hoffman Estates Little League championship.

Dick Olson's two-out home run to center field was the life-saving blow for the Northerners. His blast tied the game at 8-all and sent the contest into extra innings.

Then the Northern Stars broke loose to give Parmenter the win.

Palatine Sophs Seek 2nd Victory Against Lakers

Coach Dick Gavigan's Palatine frosh-sophs, fresh from a convincing 26-0 victory over Grayslake last Saturday, will host a strong Crystal Lake unit Friday evening under the lights. Game time is 6:15.

Rocking Grayslake with a strong second half attack, the sophomores are out to prove that the opening victory was no accident.

But the visiting Lakers are not to be taken too lightly. Although dropping their opener, 9-0, to Niles of the strong Suburban League, Crystal Lake's sophs are a formidable club. They battled Niles on even terms until the fourth period.

COACH GAVIGAN indicated earlier this week that he planned no marked lineup changes although tackle Don O'Neil would be used along with Kelly Goodwille at the left tackle slot. O'Neil has recovered from an injury and is ready for full-time duty.

One pleasing item in the opening 26-0 victory was the way Lenny Rose took to the No. one quarterback slot in the absence of Jon Fabri who broke his wrist in last week's practice. Rose was the manager of the freshman team, and his performance, with so little practice, was encouraging.

The two Smiths, Gil and Bill (no relation), combined for 144 yards rushing Saturday and will again be relied upon to carry a brunt of the attack Friday evening. It was Bill's opening 71 yard scamper with a kickoff that provided the impetus for the victory.

Probable Lineup

LE — Wayland Campbell.
LT — Goodwille or O'Neil
LG — Jim Mellin.
C — Dennis Christensen.
RG — Martin Bodelson.
RT — Allen Helms.
RE — Bradley McCreerey.
QB — Lenny Rose.
LHB — Gil Smith.
RHB — John Elms.
FB — Bill Smith.

Elmhurst Club Tops Hornets For 2nd Victory

The Elmhurst Travelers, Bi-State league defending champs, won their second league victory in as many starts on Sunday, Sept. 14, 7-0, over the Chicago Hornets football club.

Elmhurst scored the only touchdown late in the second quarter on a pass from "Buzz" Grady to Don Busch. The TD was set up on a previous 30 yard pass play from Grady to Monte Brethauer. Grady kicked the extra point.

BOB ROBINSON of the Travelers thrilled the crowd in the fourth quarter when he went 80 yards for a score on a pass interception only to have it nullified by a clipping penalty.

Next Sunday the Travelers will play their first home game on the Fenton high field against Sheboygan, Wis. Kickoff will be at 2 p.m.

Featured in the Traveler lineup are Monte Brethauer, a new end who played with the Baltimore Colts for two seasons; and Frank Morris, flashy halfback who broke the league scoring record last year.

Owens, Lincoln, Lions Capture Opening Wins

The Mt. Prospect Midget football association opened its season last Sunday at Lions Park.

In the first game Owens defeated Fairview, 18-6. Late in the first quarter Dave White picked up 14 yards to the Owens 34, then Ricky Lyttle went off tackle to the Fairview 44.

On the first play of the second quarter Lyttle took a pitchout from White and raced 34 yards for the touchdown.

EARLY IN THE third quarter Fairview quarterback Mike Phillips climaxed a 33 yard drive with a one yard plunge to tie the score, 6-6.

Owens scored seconds later when Lyttle took the Fairview kickoff and raced 65 yards for a score. Owens scored again in the fourth period when Dave White went over on a 10 yard sweep.

Kent Taylor, Al Stoike, and Tom Neukranz played good ball for Owens as did Al Koehler, Tom Snyder, and Jay Cowan for the Fairview squad.

IN THE SECOND game Lincoln scored 23 points in the first half, then coasted to a 43-18 victory over Central.

"Jug" Gerrard scored twice in the first quarter on runs of 15 and 4 yards and tackled Central halfback Wayne Christenson behind his own goal line as the Lincoln team took an early 16-0 lead.

Gerrard scored the only touchdown in the second period on a run that carried 14 yards.

IN THE THIRD quarter Gerrard once again opened the scoring with a 35 yard sweep. Central then started a march of its own, but Lincoln's Johnny Orr intercepted a Central pass and romped 65 yards unmolested for a touchdown.

Central scored late in the third quarter when quarterback John Bley passed 25 yards to end Tom Haenisch. Central scored twice in the fourth period on a 20 yard pass play, Bley to Jack Gehl, and on a one yard sneak by Bley.

Gary Thomas scored the last Lincoln touchdown on a 25 yard sweep. Russ Barger, Frank Wilkinson, and Ron Wesley played an outstanding game for Lincoln as did Steve Mueller and John Christiano for Central.

The last game of the afternoon was won by Lions over Sunset, 20-0.

LIONS SCORED in the first quarter on an eight yard plunge by fullback Phil Collins and both teams played on equal terms for the remainder of the first half.

Lions' fullback Collins received the second half opening kickoff on his 20 yard line, cut to his right, and raced for a touchdown. Collins scored again in the fourth period on a five yard sweep.

Sunset quarterback Dick Westergaard called a smart game, mixing his running and passing plays well.

Southern Awaits Opener Saturday with Evansville

(This is the fourth in a series of articles discussing the 1958 football prospects for colleges and universities in the state of Illinois.)

The Salukis are tough.

With only two days before the 1958 opener with Evansville College Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is brushing up under the direction of Coach Al Kawal. And a flat statement is the best way to describe this Southern Illinois eleven.

The Salukis are tough.

WITH 19 lettermen the grid prospects are brighter than anytime since 1947 — the year SIU won its last conference title. Every position has at least one returning letterman with guards, tackles, centers, quarterbacks, and fullbacks being two and three deep in experienced men.

Heading the list of prospects is Carver Shannon, fleet senior halfback from Corinth, Miss. who has established new SIU scoring and rushing records. Shannon has been clocked in :09.8 in the 100.

Other veterans returning in the backfield are halfback Ranette Lewis, East St. Louis; halfback Don Miller, Cairo; fullback and 1958 captain Cecil Hart, Hillsboro; fullback Tom Bruna, Thayer; quarterback Bill Norwood, Centralia; and quarterback Dave Wheeler, Chicago.

ONLY WEAK position in the line appears to be at end, where only two lettermen, Dick Dawson of West Frankfort, and Dick Nelson of Wheaton are available for duty. At tackles will be lettermen Houston Antwine, Memphis, Tenn.; Robert Bourgue, Lynn, Mass.; and Dick Carpenter, Centralia.

Veterans Willie Brown, Memphis, Tenn.; Jim Lynch, Benton; Nicholas Re, Dowell; and Chuck Steptoe, Centralia, head the guard corps while lettermen back at center are Shaun Hawthorne, North Adams, Mass.; Bob Laffoon, Eldorado; and Jim Maranok, Saugus, Mass.

The 1958 Interstate Conference race is expected to be one of the toughest in years, with only Eastern Illinois and Northern Illinois picked to finish in second division.

Last year Southern's Salukis were fourth in the loop at 3-3 and were 5-4 overall. (Sp

Another Big Show Saturday At O'Hare Oval

Acting in response to the cheering crowd at the same sort of show last weekend, O'Hare Stadium Saturday night will again present a big tripleheader auto race spectacular with mighty midgets, new-late model stock cars and the daredevil Cadet stocks.

The mighty midgets, returning after a year's absence, put on a terrific show last Saturday and the new-late models with such stars as Fred Lorenzen and Bill Lutz were joined by the Cadets in also extending themselves in high speed excitement.

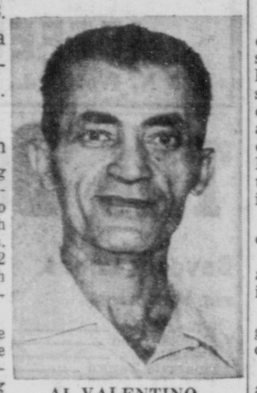
ANOTHER LATE modeler, Stone Parks Kenny Paulsen, hopes to have his 1958 Ford cooled off . . . it caught fire twice last Saturday, but he escaped injury. Gates at the speedway on Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park, open at 6 p.m.

The first race on the card that will include three big main events will start at 8:30. Among the midget stars to appear are Chicagoan Johnny Slowiak and little Eddie McVay of Kansas City, Mo.

Victor Electric Records 3130 Series in Classic

Victor Electric short circuited the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday night by rolling games of 1126, 973 and 1031 for a 3130 series. Low man for the team was Ernie Koch with 598. Al Valentino hit 684, including a 257 tilt, Edward Duff 631, Al Walter 616 and Robert Howley 601. Team series was 3130.



AL VALENTINO

The victim of this onslaught on Gunnell's alleys was Johnson's Sporting Goods, which shot 924, 927 and 888. Victor boosted its league record to 8-1, two full games ahead of Beverly Lanes, which copped three games from James Stavros. Beverly shot 1002 and 1076 with a 2952 series over the Wheeling squad, with Tom Kouros shooting 641 and Ward Siewert 612.

Flood Engineering took all three games from NRG Construction on the latter's home alleys at Palatine, with LeRoy Papineau shooting 609. Winning games were 941, 924, 968 for a 2833 series.

Top averages for the first three weeks: Al Valentino 214; Al Walter 195; Edward Duff 195; Tom Kouros 195; Leroy Papineau 193; Hank Heintz 193; Frank Graff 192; Chuck Duwe 190.

This week Beverly will travel to Des Plaines to oppose Johnson's, Flood Engineering will meet James Stavros at Jeffery in Wheeling, and NRG Construction will test Victor Electric at Gunnell's.

Introduce New System to Pick LP Cheerleaders

After two weeks of cheering classes previous to the opening of school, girls P.E. instructor, Marilyn Thomas, introduced a new system of selecting Lake Park cheerleaders so that popularity alone would not dominate the cheering squads. The coaches and P.E. instructors rated the 22 girls that tried out for the two cheering squads.

The selections were made based on the following rating sheet:

Scholastic: 3 point average in all academic coures; B or above in Physical Education.

Character: Well mannered; good sportsmanship; leadership; co-operation.

Cheer ability: Pep; introducing cheer; body mechanics of cheer; ending of cheer.

THE GIRLS WITH the highest number of points were selected the 58-59 cheerleaders. The Lancer teams will have two squads of six girls. The varsity has three reserves and the frosh-soph two reserves.

The cheerleaders practice each week with the sponsor. Miss Thomas makes the final selection of the six girls that will cheer for the games that week.

Lake Park cheerleaders must fullfil the following weekly duties:

Organize student buses to games.

Help organize and participate in pep assemblies.

Must be at all games.

Must be at all cheerleader practices.

Help with the responsibility of student conduct at games.

Lake Park cheerleaders:

Varsity: Diane Warnock, Sandy Nottke, Lois Lake, Karen Skoglund, Sally Runge, Sharon Smith, Beverly Rau, Adore Biesterfield, Kay Frothingham.

Frosh-Soph: Ginger Bredehorn, Karen Hale, Karen Karkow, Vicki Larsen, Barbara La Vezzi, Joan Irons, Judy Treibull, Janet Lake. (Sp

Batavia Routs Fenton Sophs in Opener, 20-0

The Fenton frosh-soph football squad, top heavy with freshmen, made just about every mistake in the book as it came out on the short end of a 20-0 score in the opener with Batavia last Friday night.

Batavia scored on the third play from scrimmage on a 69 yard jaunt around the Bison right side by Chuck Brewer and threatened to score again many more times during the first half but didn't largely because pass receivers couldn't hold the ball.

THE THIRD quarter was played evenly with neither team able to make their offense go. Batavia got a gift score early in the fourth quarter when a bad center rolled into the Bison end zone and Phillibin had to kick on the run and could boot it only to the 15 yard line.

After a series of penalties against them, Batavia scored on a 20-yard pitch to Willie Fredericks. Their final tally came with a short time remaining in the game on a 16 yard pass to Roger Carlson.

The Fenton sophs almost scored when, with just seconds left, Don Adis took a Melonas toss and broke into the clear at the Batavia 40. As he turned to elude the final tackler, however, he slipped and fell, ending the Bison hopes for a score. (Sp

Organize New Bowling League

A new bowling league for housewives and mothers will be run by the Northwest Suburban YMCA this fall. The Sim's bowling alley in Des Plaines will be the spot where they will toss away their cares for at least 1½ hours a week (10-11:30) on Friday mornings starting October 17.

The League will play until April 14, 1959. The first three mornings will be devoted to instruction for the beginners and practice play for advanced players. A nursery in the bowling alley will make it possible for the women to bring their pre-school age children with them and yet forget about them while playing. There will be an entry fee for each individual and awards and recognition will consist of trophies and prizes as established by a committee of players.

Everybody's doing it, why not mothers of small children? Call VA 4-4156 for further information.

Black Hawks In Training

The Chicago Black Hawks, 46 strong, consisting of 14 holdovers, 6 experienced pro-players acquired in off-season deals and through the drafts, 9 minor leaguers and 17 amateur chattels, reported Monday to St. Catharines, Ont., for the start of the 1958-59 training under the direction of Rudy Pilous, who inaugurates his first full term as coach.

Pilous, who joined the Hawks mid-way through last season and steered them into a fifth place finish, the club's highest in five years, will put the players through a heavy diet of two 90-minute drills a day until the exhibition games get under way next Friday against the Toronto Maple Leafs at Peterborough, Ont.

The Hawks coach will devote special attention to his new crop of players. It is the opinion of Tommy Ivan, Hawks' general manager, that this is the finest freshmen talent to join the Chicago team in five years. (SP

Major Shopping Center Planned In Des Plaines

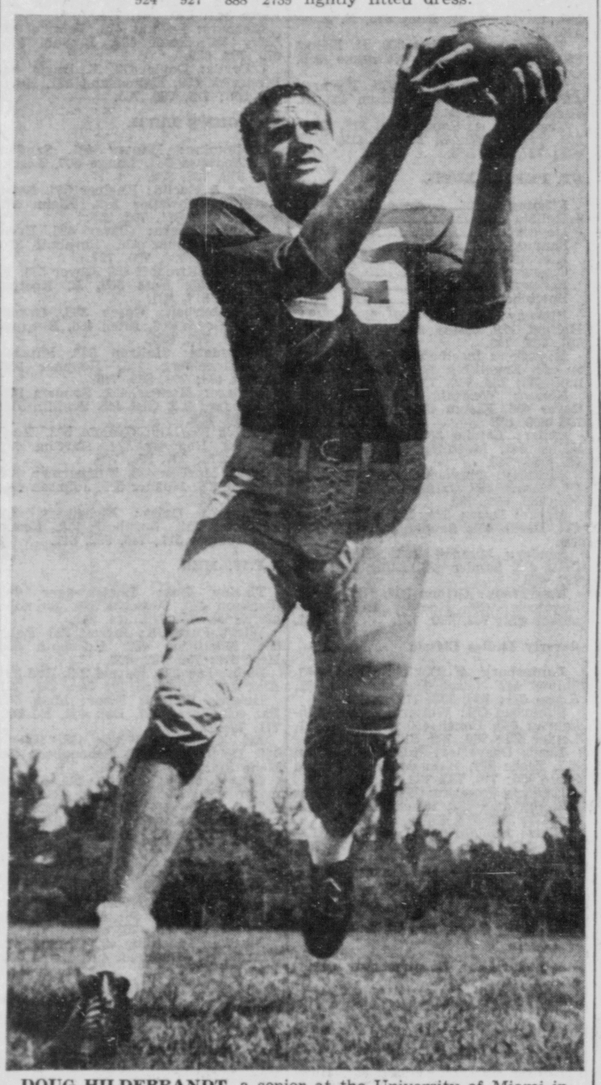
A 20.5 acre $8 million shopping center featuring a major department store, two major food stores, a drug store, a variety store, a shoe store and other businesses is scheduled to start construction by November 1 at the northeast corner of Oakton and Lee sts. in Des Plaines.

William DeRee, owner of the tract, the former site of several greenhouses owned at one time by Paul Amling, said the center will contain about 300,000 square feet of retail sales space housing 25 tenants.

Completion is expected by the Fall of 1959. (B12

The correct expression is "a half hour," not "half an hour."

Do not say, "I doubt but what she will go." Say, "I doubt that she will go."



DOUG HILDEBRANDT, a senior at the University of Miami in Florida, will be one of the starting ends this fall for the Hurricanes. Hildebrandt, a 6-2, 196 pounder, hails from Palatine where he played prep football.

PADDOCK EMPLOYEES helped Charles S. Paddock, publisher of Paddock Publications, celebrate his 75th birthday last week with a festive luncheon at Brandt's restaurant in Palatine. Charles and his brother, Stuart, have been operating the publishing business at Arlington Heights started by their father, H. C. Paddock, who moved to this area from Libertyville just before the turn of the century.

Classified Boo-Boos Give Readers 'Kicks'

It goes without saying that the newspaper is a serious contribution to the American way of life.

But, on the lighter side, it also provides many an inadvertent belly laugh, especially in the classified advertisements. As an example, look at these recent slips that passed in the type in various sections of the country.

NEW YORK — Man wanted to work in dynamite factory. Must be willing to travel.

ILLINOIS —Two funfurnished rooms. For adults only.

NEVADA — To buy: used privy (four seater) in good condition. Suitable for conversion into residence for bachelor.

MISSOURI — Housetrailer, 15 foot, sleeps two. Perfect for bachelor.

UTAH — For sale, hay, boiled, $1.30.

IDAHO — Lost, wardrobe suitcase containing urgently needed baby and ladies' clothing.

SOUTH CAROLINA — Wanted, woman to cook and do general horsework.

CALIFORNIA — 1950 Mercury, $2,195. Convertible Coupe. Radio, heater, overdrove.

VERMONT—All wool blankets, ideal for ski lodges and vamps.

NORTH CAROLINA — 1941 Dodge weapons carrier truck, with wench in extra nice condition.

GEORGIA — One crypt, sell cheap, leaving town.

WASHINGTON — Two young working ladies desire apartment on bus.

NEW YORK — Waitresses for extra work, good pay, bust be neat and clean.

UTAH — Wanted, furnished apartment for veteran attending college and wife.

PENNSYLVANIA — Brassiere operators wanted due to expansion.

NEW HAMPSHIRE — Mother-in-law due next week, need second hand studio couch (not necessarily comfortable).

CONNECTICUT — Men's socks, double and single-breasted. Values up to $24.95.

NEW YORK — Secretary with intelligence, personality, and at least three years legal experience for interesting post close to a boss full of ideas. (BB

Palatine Man Named To Committee

H. W. Kutzner, 502 S. Quentin rd., Palatine, has been named to an important committee, preparing for the 33rd general assembly meeting of the Telephone Pioneers of America to be held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Governor Stratton has proclaimed that week "Telephone Pioneer" week in Illinois.

Kutzner is serving as a member of the publicity and printing committee.

This is the first time in the history of the 47-year-old international Pioneer organization that the Western Electric Company has been official host to the visiting delegates. An organization of telephone men and women with 21 years or more of service in the telephone industry in the United States and Canada, it has over 193,000 members.

Speakers at "Pioneerama" will include: Illinois Governor William G. Stratton, A.T. & T. Co. President Fred R. Kappel, Western Electric President Arthur B. Goetze, and Illinois Bell President William V. Kahler. Kahler is president of the Pioneers.

With Recession Era Over, Inflation Major Concern

With renewed confidence in prosperity spreading across the nation, businessmen and consumers are once again turning their attention to the threat of inflation, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reports. In fact, the bank says that perhaps never before has the inflation issue been raised so early in the recovery phase of a business adjustment.

Even with substantial unemployment in many areas of the country and sizable unused capacity in almost all lines of production, a number of commodity prices have shown strength and wage rates have continued to rise. Steel, aluminum, lumber, petroleum products, rubber and scrap metal have recorded price increases recently.

ACCORDING TO THE bank, the fact that the 1955-58 upsurge in consumer and wholesale prices took place without any outburst of armed conflict has helped to promote "inflationary psychology." There is one vital difference, however, between the current situation and the conditions four years ago: No one expects a vast expansion in capital spending— a principal cause of the earlier surge—to occur in the next year or so.

Inflationary fears, the bank says, arise partly from the mildness of the postwar recessions and the knowledge that a business recovery is in progress. Important also are the recent disturbances in the Middle East which have reminded Americans that the cold war is still being waged and that flare-ups anywhere on the globe pose a threat to our domestic tranquility.

IN A GENERAL roundup of business developments, the Reserve bank observes that construction activity is picking up sharply and employment is showing signs of improvement. For the U.S. as a whole, June saw contract awards increase 18 per cent to a record level. Public works, public utilities and residential building were the strongest sectors. All told, the May and June construction experience pushed the U.S. six-month total to just even with a year ago.

Midwest construction awards in June only equaled those of the same 1957 month. But this was a marked improvement over the earlier 1958 showing. The six-month Midwest total was off 12 per cent.

NONFARM employment for the nation rose moderately on a seasonally adjusted basis in May, June and July. Here again the Midwest performed less well. As of June, total nonagricultural employment was 4.1 per cent below last year in the U.S. and 6.8 per cent below for the five Seventh District states.

In Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, the declines were 10.9, 7.0 and 6.2 per cent, respectively. The Iowa employment decline was relatively minor. Although the Wisconsin picture compared favorably with the U.S., that state is still being affected by cutbacks in the capital goods industries which are particularly important in the Milwaukee-Waukesha area.

Accepts Equitable Position

MICHAEL THEIS

Michael J. Theis, 307 Wing st., Arlington Heights, June graduate of Illinois Wesleyan university, has accepted the position of representative with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States in the Arlington Heights area.

Theis was a 1952 graduate of Arlington Heights High School and spent two years in Germany with the Army. In his new position, Theis will receive training in the life insurance industry under the Equitable's executive sales training program. (BB

Fly Flags To Honor Constitution

Flags will be flown in Arlington Heights and other communities in the northwest area during the coming week in honor of the observance of Constitution week.

Members of the local Eli Skinner chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution urged residents to display the flag from their front porches to visibly demonstrate their firm allegiance to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, foundation stones of the American tradition.

THE DAR noted the appropriateness of public display of the flag this week. Sunday was the 144th anniversary of the composition of the national anthem, "The Star-Spangled Banner," written by Francis Scott Key on September 14, 1814.

Constitution week began Wednesday and continues through next Tuesday. (B8

PLENTY OF OVERHEAD was at the head table when Charles S. Paddock, publisher of Paddock Publications, celebrated his 75th birthday with a surprise luncheon given by the employees Thursday of last week at Brandt's restaurant, Palatine. Seated at the head table with Charlie were son-in-law Frank Stites, daughter Gloria, wife Geneva, brother Stuart, sister-in-law Mabel, sister Lucile and sister Daisy Daniels.

Population Boom in Store For U. S. During 1960's

Despite the recent decline in births and marriages, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago states, a sharp population upsurge is in store for the U.S. during the 1960's.

The bank says that in each of the first five months of 1958, the number of births fell short of the same month a year earlier.

Moreover, a scant half-million marriages were recorded in this period—the smallest number registered in any five-month period during the postwar years.

NEVERTHELESS, the bank points out, the population spurt just a few years ahead is all but a foregone conclusion. Before today's, the enormous crop of today's teenagers, dominated by the numerous young people born in 1942 and 1943, will be old enough to marry and have families of their own. And after a brief respite, the postwar crop of babies will enter their twenties.

According to the bank, scarcely anything short of a strong reversal in the economic trend or a drastic change in the marriage-birth pattern could forestall the coming populations spurt.

THE 1955 slide-off in marriages and births probably came in part from the decline in business activity. Marriages were also limited by the number of people reaching marriageable age. By today's standards there were few babies born in the depression times 20 to 25 years ago.

Although there is strong evidence that population growth will be substantial in the years ahead, the bank emphasizes that this will not automatically spell prosperity and expansion. Countries such as India and China, with a remarkably high growth in sheer numbers, have not been able to increase their capital equipment and output fast enough to reap the benefits of such gains.

IF THE U.S. per capita standard of living is to advance, production must grow more rapidly than population. Even more crucial, is the enlargement of the country's stock of productive equipment and the improvement of scientific and management skills if the population increase is to prove a boon.

In recent decades, U.S. population growth has been concentrated at the extremes of the age distribution. The young and aged alike have increased far more rapidly than the people in the working age range. This is slated to change when the huge outpouring of high school and college graduates begins, the bank says. Employment opportunities for these young people may require—and provide—a rate of economic growth considerably beyond anything seen up until now.

Travelers Need Volunteer Aid

September has been designated by the Welfare Council's volunteer Bureau as recruitment month for volunteer travel aides. Each new recruit will be given an opportunity in September for a three-hour observation period at one of the railroad stations, preliminary to the October Training Course for Travel Aides arranged by Travelers Aid Society. Interested persons are asked to call the Volunteer Bureau at ANdover 3-0640.

"There is no better way to find out if you will like volunteer service than to sample the job," said Ralph W. Collins, executive secretary of the Travelers Aid society, in announcing plans for recruitment and training. "A morning, afternoon, or evening, spent at our desk in one of the terminals gives the observer a a very good idea of what volunteers and staff workers do and how they help people in emergencies. Our volunteer travel aides always enjoy seeing people, meeting people and helping people. One hundred more volunteers, both men and women, are needed."

Four training sessions in two sections will be held for new volunteers on October 21, 23, 27 and 29. Daytime volunteers will meet from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. and weekend and evening volunteers from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Subjects covered will include: the program of Travelers Aid Society, the role of volunteer and staff; and how to give information and directions.

All volunteers serve one-half day a week or one evening a week from 6 to 9 p.m. Weekend volunteers serve every other week. They are needed at Midway airport, The Greyhound Bus station and at Northwestern, LaSalle, Grand Central, Union, Dearborn and Illinois Central Stations.

VICTOR BITTNER

Marking his 35th anniversary recently with The Peoples Gas Light and Coke co. was Victor F. Bittner, assistant chief technical engineer, of 300 W. Milburn ave., Mt. Prospect.

Bittner, a native of Mayville, Wis., became associated with Peoples Gas as a student engineer shortly after receiving a degree in chemical engineering from the University of Wisconsin. Active in the American Gas Association for 30 years, Bittner presently is chairman of its operating section.

An accomplished artist, Bittner paints in oils and water colors as a hobby. In the last 15 years he has painted some 70 pictures. His present hobby developed from an earlier leisure pursuit of photography. He has exhibited his photographic works at national salons.

Extensively traveled, Bittner and his wife, Meta, have toured the United States and have made two trips to Europe and are planning another for 1959. He does some of his painting on his vacations. The couple has one son and one grandchild. A veteran of World War I Bittner is a member of the Peoples Gas American Legion post. (BB

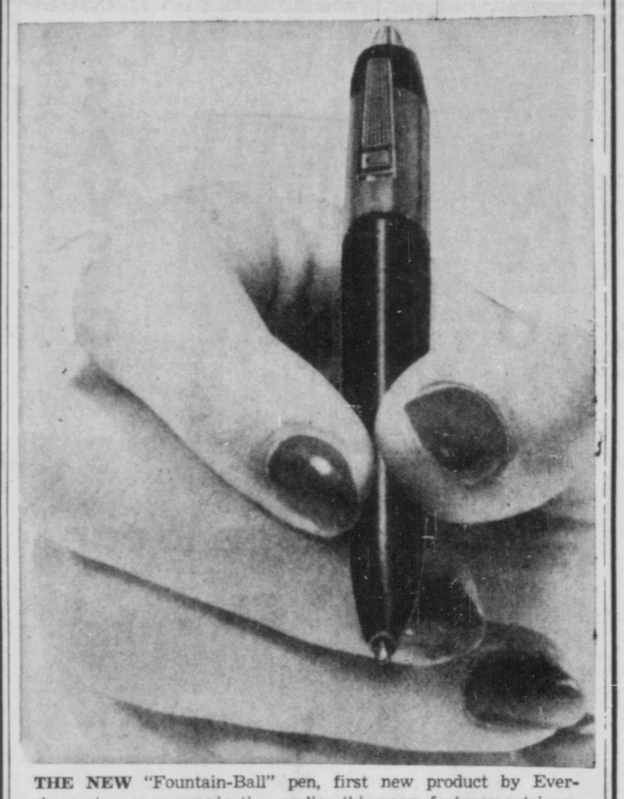
Eversharp Reveals New Ballpoint Pen



THE NEW "Fountain-Ball" pen, first new product by Eversharp since a reorganization earlier this year, features a triangular shaped barrel, designed "to fit the natural writing grip of the human hand." The pen is also produced in the traditional round barrel in green, blue, red, black and white.

Eversharp Pen company, with headquarters in Arlington Heights, this week took the wraps off the first of the products designed to win back for the firm a top spot in the highly-competitive writing instrument industry.

A startling new triangular-shaped writing tool, a ball pen said to write like a fountain pen, was announced Tuesday. Officials said that research and development on the revolutionary product had been completed and distribution to retail outlets was "well under way."

ACCORDING TO spokesmen, the new pen combines a secret high-density ink with a "honeycomb metal" ball-point. Darker, more legible handwriting with "character" on the order of fountain pen writing results.

The new-type pen, to be called the "Fountain-Ball" pen because of its ambivalent nature, has the additional features of a new triangular-shaped barrel, and a new adaptable, transparent ink cartridge. The "see-through" cartridge permits visual check of ink supply and can be adapted in size to fit almost every make of ball pen.

Elaborating, a spokesman said: "Functionally, we wanted the pens shape to conform realistically to the make-up of the human hand. The design over-all is continental, giving the pen a pleasant look like the European sports car achieved. We're hedging for the traditionals by making a round barrel, too."

EVERSHARP announced that production has reached 25,000 units daily. The pen's promotion will be aimed at the "mass writer market consisting of the literate half of the world's population."

Eversharp was acquired by the Parker Pen company in December, 1957, after several years of Eversharp sales decline. The parent firm moved the headquarters of its subsidiary to 1440 E. Davis st. shortly after. (BB

Man Earns Scientific Mention

Anton E. Christensen of 1832 W. Baldwin rd., Palatine, has earned honorable mention in the first nation wide contest ever held solely for industrial scientists.

Charles E. Searight, vice president of Microbeads, Inc., Toledo, Ohio, sponsor of the "Jobs for Tomorrow" contest, said that Christensen's entry was among 130 to win honorable mention out of 1,436 submitted from 39 states.

Christensen is associated with Magnaflux Corporation, Chicago.

Used principally for reflectorizing traffic signs, pavement markings, and outdoor advertising displays, microbeads have countless other applications. Entrants were asked to suggest new job-creating uses for the minute glass spheres which come in 25 sizes ranging upward from 39/1,000,000 inch in diameter.

Shanahan Joint Appeal Speaker

EDMOND SHANAHAN

Edmond M. (Ned) Shanahan, 815 N. Dunton st., Arlington Heights, has one of the most important assignments in the Chicago Community Fund. He is chairman of the volunteer speakers bureau.

Shanahan's duties in this capacity are to recruit and train volunteer speakers, and to assign these persons to tell the Community Fund-Red Cross story at various company rallies, clubs, and luncheons throughout the city of Chicago.

UNDER HIS GUIDANCE, employe-group tours are arranged to red feather agencies, and the Chicago Red Cross chapter, so that men and women who are working on in-plant campaigns may better understand why they are asking for contributions.

His volunteer committee also books the Joint Appeal film, "The Miracle of a Signature," and the in-plant solicitor training film: "How to Be a Hero."

The Chicago Community Fund-Red Cross Joint Appeal's needs this year are set at more than $14,300,000 to help support the activities of the 161 red feather agencies and the work of the Chicago Chapter of the Red Cross. However, since the Joint Appeal operates only in the city of Chicago, the Chicago Red Cross chapter conducts a fund raising campaign in the suburban communities of Cook and DuPage counties where there are no combined appeals of any sort.

SHANAHAN WAS BORN in Omaha, Neb., and finished his high school work at Fenwick high school, Oak Park. He attended St. Mary's College, Winona, Minn., where he was awarded a bachelor of social science degree. While in college, he was co-captain of the football team.

A member of the American Gas Association for six years, Shanahan is also active in the Chicago Junior Chamber of Commerce and Industry, of which he was president in 1955-56, the Citizens of Greater Chicago, and the National Conference of Christians and Jews, of which he is a Junior Board member. Shanahan has been a member of the Community Fund speakers bureau since 1953. He is chairman of the financial advisory committee of the Chicago USO.

Shanahan, and his wife, Elizabeth, who are the parents of Michael, 5, Maribeth, 4, and Thomas, one year old, is senior personnel assistant for Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, 122 S. Michigan ave., Chicago.

Making Your Own Wine? Register!

The grape harvest season is at hand, and William N. Woodruff, assistant regional commissioner for alcohol and tobacco tax for the Chicago Region, informs prospective wine makers that although the head of a family may produce 200 gallons of wine per year taxfree for the use of his immediate family, he must first register his intention to produce such wine with the alcohol and tobacco tax division of the internal revenue service.

Prospective wine makers in the State of Illinois must secure forms for this purpose from the Office of the Supervisor in Charge, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax, Post Office Box 1144, Chicago 90, Ill.

Applicants wishing to obtain forms from the office in person may call at the 17th Floor, 17 N. Dearborn st. These forms must be submitted to the above office, in duplicate, at least five days before the production of wine is started.

If the applicant is qualified one copy of the form will be returned as authorization to produce not more than 200 gallons of wine during the 12 month period from July 1 through June 30. A new form must be filed for each year in which it is desired to produce such wine.

Woodruff warns that the exemption given under Federal Law for the production of tax-free wine is solely for family use and does not apply to an unmarried person, unless he qualified as head of a family, or a married man living apart from his family or to the production of wine by corporations or partnerships for commercial purposes.

Each year a number of persons who have made wine for family use are taxed at the regular rate, according to the alcoholic content, and may face criminal prosecution for the reason that they fail to register their intention to produce wine.

30 Million People Seen For Illinois

"Within the next 20 years, the State of Illinois will become the most important state in the Union. Its population will be 30,000,000 nearly tripling its 1956 population of 9,440,000."

This optimistic and startling statement was made in an address before 1,000 executives of Illinois Savings and Loan league attending their 79th 4-day annual convention at the Drake hotel by John P. Domeier, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Oak Park Federal Savings and Loan association, and retiring president of the league.

HIS PROGNOSTICATION is based on intense study of current transitions in the economic phases now undergoing an upward trend in the commercial and industrial world. Domeier also is president of the Oak Park Chamber of Commerce.

Further indications and causes of the increase in population will be the completion of its gigantic maze of traffic system and the greatest highways and freeways and toll lines, most extensive and greatest in all the world.

MOST ASSURING is the fact that in the early years of the forthcoming two decades, Illinois will be the corner cross roads of the world, with its port of entry along Chicago's shores of Lake Michigan with the water traffic lanes through the St. Lawrence Seaway, depositing cargoes of materials from other countries needed here, at our doors, and the reloading of the emptied ships with cargoes of materials needed in other countries.

All this means tremendous gains in population so that the 30,000,000 figure is assured. (BB

Local Store To Feature 'Fabrique'

Leth's Paint Store, 209 S. State, Arlington Heights, has been appointed by The Birge Co., Buffalo, N.Y., to sell the company's dramatic new vinyl wall cloth, "Fabrique." The store will make the complete line of styles and patterns available on Friday, according to owner Frank Leth.

"Fabrique" is a vinyl impregnated, non-woven fabric which combines the style and color of fine wallpaper with the durability and "Wipe-clean" features of paint and vinyl wall coverings. It is "practically stain proof," according to Birge technicians. Tests in the Birge laboratories show that almost all household stains come out easily and completely. Lipstick smears, crayon marks, pencil marks, coffee, ink, mustard, ketchup, jelly, hot kitchen greases—all wipe off without leaving a stain.

Because of the wide range of styles, patterns and colors—there are 131 combinations of 37 different designs plus 10 solid tints—"Fabrique' can be used anywhere in the home where style and durability are desired.

New Ace Hardware Has Gala Opening

ACE HARDWARE of Barrington held its ribbon cutting grand opening ceremony Thursday, with plenty of officialdom on hand. Wearing smiles galore are Art E. Grindle, owner; R. Heese, president of Ace Hardware corp.; Mrs. A. L. Grindle, owner's mother; Charles Lane, store manager; Martin Schreiber, Barrington village president; John Lloyd, district supervisor of Bell Telephone; Mrs. A. E. Grindle; Barrington chief-of-police Smith; Arthur Conrad, owner of Barrington Variety store; Jack Graham, senatorial candidate; Ted Small, Paddock Publications; William Dodd, finance corporation executive.

Ace Hardware, in opening its new Barrington store, reported the greatest number of shoppers in the company's history over the past weekend.

"Over 5,400 folks registered for door prizes," said Chuck Lane, store manager Monday, "and there were a lot more who didn't register."

THE HARDWARE firm gave away 52 gifts, one each hour, over the Thursday-through-Saturday period, the store manager said. The winners ranged from Skokie to Woodstock, and took in Villa Park, Wheeling and the Elgin-St. Charles area, as well as nearby communities, he said.

"It was just fabulous. We gave away over 2,000 hot dogs made on a new RCA electronic range, 50 cases of 'coke,' and untold gallons of coffee. The free prizes included a complete modern water softening salt had been sold by 1 p.m. Saturday, and ter softener, a drill kit, automatic fry pans, and many others," weekend sales of television sets reached 36 by Sunday night. The total supply of hula hoops, one gross, was exhausted the first day.

Lane said that because of the "tremendous success" of the three-day sale, a special surprise sale is scheduled for the weekend of September 27.

BUT IT WAS NOT all giveaway. The firm, in moving from its old address in downtown Barrington at 107 Station st., to the new site at 142 S. Northwest hwy., reported that all previous sale records had been "smashed." A ton and a half of

North Western Railway Adds New Ties, Equipment

As a result of greater productivity brought about by increased efficiency, the Chicago and North Western Railway is accelerating its maintenance of way program for 1958 by boosting its tie renewals 28 per cent over what was originally scheduled for this year, C. J. Fitzpatrick, president of the railroad, disclosed today.

Fitzpatrick said the railroad's 1958 maintenance of way program, which called for the installation of a half-million new ties, has been expanded to permit the installation of an additional 140,000 new ties before the end of the year.

"This expanded tie renewal program is one of several positive steps resulting from management policies placed into effect during the past two and one-half years," said Fitzpatrick. "These policies call for a number of programs on modernization of practices and procedures, improvements in supervision, greater use of mechanization and the elimination of those services and operations which are obsolete and for which there was no longer a public need."

Fitzpatrick said savings derived through greater efficiency and modernization justified the placement of an order last week for 1,000 new box cars, the largest freight car order by the railroad since 1956. Next month, he pointed out, the railroad will receive delivery of new bi-level passenger equipment for two new trains to operate between Chicago, Green Bay and Upper Michigan.

"The investment of approximately $2,500,000 in this new passenger equipment was made possible by the elimination of a number of unprofitable and unnecessary passenger trains which had constituted a heavy drain on the railroad's financial resources."

Fitzpatrick said the application of more efficient practices with a consequent improvement in the railroad's services to the public has taken place in all departments. More than $1,000,000 has been spent during each of the past two years in mechanization of the North Western's maintenance of way and approximately the same amount is budgeted for additional modern roadway machines in 1959, he said.

A $3,525,000 crossing protection program calling for installation of automatic mechanical protection devices at more than 125 locations is now about 75 per cent completed, Fitzpatrick said.

He explained that upon completion, the crossing program would provide a greater degree of public safety.

2 License Plates or Face Arrest

Automobile investigators and state troopers will shortly begin making arrests for failure to display two license plates on passenger cars, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced today.

In recent weeks, the two groups have been issuing warnings to motorists carrying only one plate on their cars. The warnings will be discontinued and arrest tickets will be given, Mr. Carpentier said.

The Illinois Motor Vehicle Law specifically provides that one plate shall be displayed on the front and one on the rear of passenger cars, Secretary Carpentier said.

At Northern Illinois

Carol Cook, 405 N. Wille st., Mt. Prospect, is spending the week at Northern Illinois university's Marching Band Camp near Oregon, Ill. She is part of the 32-membered group receiving special training in preparation for appearance during the school year.

This is the first year the band camp has been held. However, Dr. Merton Utgaard, director of NIU bands, plans to make the camp an annual event. "Through this special week of concentrated effort, we will develop group spirit, style, showmanship and leadership of the Marching Huskies," he said.

At Ripon

Beatrice K. de Gomar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James de Gomar, 227 S. Greenwood, Palatine, has entered her freshman year at Ripon college, Ripon, Wis.

Beatrice graduated from Elmwood Vernon high school, Lake Zurich, which she attended for the second semester of the 1957-58 school year. Previous to that, she attended St. Mary of the Angels academy, Haddonfield, N. J. The de Gomar family moved to this area from New Jersey last February.

At Kalamazoo

Robert K. Miles, son of Mr. Herbert E. Miles, 102 S. Brighton pl., Arlington Heights will enter Kalamazoo college, Kalamazoo, Mich., this fall. He arrived on the Kalamazoo campus on September 14 for the orientation program for new students and will begin classes on September 19.

Miles is a graduate of North Shore Country Day high school. Kalamazoo college, through a recent national survey, was rated as one of the top ten coeducational colleges in the country. It has an enrollment of 650 carefully selected students.

Announce Date Of NROTC Exam

Vice Adm. H. P. Smith, chief of Naval personnel, announced today that the 13th annual national competitive examinations for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training corps will be given to interested high school seniors and graduates December 13. Application forms are now available and must be received before November 15, he added.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice which has an NROTC unit.

All tuition, fees, books are furnished by the navy and the student receives an annual retainer of $600 for four years. During the summers the student goes on fascinating training cruises as a midshipman. After completing the usual four year college course he is commissioned in the regular navy or marine corps and goes on active duty as a prospective career officer with the navy's far-flung fleets. For those who apply and qualify, immediate assignment to flight training will open new careers in naval aviation.

High school seniors and graduates between the ages of 17 and 21 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be given a rigid physical exam early in 1959. From the pool of qualified young men remaining in competition, approximately 1800 will be selected to begin their naval careers next September.

The NROTC college training program is also open to enlisted men on active duty with the navy and marines. Separate quotas are established for applicants from within these services.

Application forms are available at all high schools, colleges, navy recruiting stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington 25, D.C.

8 Area Residents Teach At Maine Adult Classes

Eight northwest suburban residents have been appointed as instructors at the Maine Adult evening school in Des Plaines.

Three are Arlington Heights residents. Two each are from Mt. Prospect and Wheeling and one from Rolling Meadows.

The three from Arlington are Linda Shirley, 18 E. Northwest hwy., Robert Schildgen, 3 S. Reuter drive, and Leo B. Kneer, 1645 N. Evergreen.

The two Wheeling residents are David Henry, 189 W. Jeffrey and Elwood Hughes, 203 W. Wayne place; and the Mt. Prospect residents are Charles Pederson, 304 Wa Pella, and Verne W. Brownell, 121 N. Eastwood. Dale Marshall, 3805 Jay Lane south, is the lone Rolling Meadows resident.

Mrs. Shirley will conduct a specially designed course in "Psychology in Everyday Living" with discussions on family life, husband-wife and child-parent relations, and mental health.

Bob Schildgen will be in charge of the "Men's Physical Fitness" class designed to keep men in shape the year round. Leo Kneer will help adults improve their oral and vritten expression by building their vocabulary.

Private golf lessons will be given by Pederson on Wednesday evenings while Verne Brownell will give private lessons in the Link Trainers on blind flying and use of radio aids. Aircraft instrument training classes will be held on both Monday and Thursday evenings.

David Henry will conduct a "plane geometry refresher" course and Elwood Hughes will instruct adults in an advanced typing class.

Dale Marshall will conduct an "algebra refresher" class for adults Monday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Maine Adult Evening school of Des Plaines will begin its 21st year with evening registration from 7 to 9 p.m. in the high school cafeteria during the week of Sept. 22-26.

More than 100 courses are being offered on either Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. An attractive brochure describing the courses can be obtained by calling the school at TA 5-3435 between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. any day. (CC

Scholar at Foundation Luncheon

Michael J. Cummings son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cummings of 821 N. Mitchell ave., Arlington Heights, was a guest at a luncheon held by trustees of Chicago Title and Trust Company's offices September 4.

Cummings is one of three Chicago area high school seniors selected to receive a National Merit Scholarship made available by the Chicago Title and Trust Co. foundation. Three scholarships are provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corp. to match three given by the foundation. The students are selected by competition conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

A graduate of Campion Jesuit High School in Praire du Chien, Wis., Cummings will enter the University of Notre Dame this fall.

While attending Campion Jesuit high school, Cummings won the highest honors in scholarship award, the first honors in scholarship award and maintained the highest average through two years (10th and 11th grade). He was a member of the National Forensics league, president of the Campion Astronomical society, vice president of the Campion Music Appreciation society and was a member of the Science club.

At Lawrence

Susan Smith, 854 Braeburn rd., Inverness Countryside, Palatine, Scott Adam, 411 N. Maple st., Prospect Heights, Martin Green, 221 S. George st., and Miss Erika Streuer, 412 S. Wille, Mt. Prospect, are among a class of 330 new students to arrive on the Lawrence college campus, Appleton, Wis., September 10 for orientation before the start of the college's 111th school year. Classes officially began Tuesday when President Douglas M. Knight delivered a matriculation address to the student body.

Lawrence's over-all enrollment is up 10 per cent this year, but the freshman class has swelled by 15 per cent. The year brings two major additions to the physical plant: for occupancy in September will be a $200,000 fraternity house built by the college for Phi Gamma Delta, the sixth such unit at Lawrence; while spring completion is expected for a $1½ million music-drama center.

Set Air, Naval Academy Examination Date, Place

Representative Marguerite Stitt Church (R), 13th District, Illinois, announces that competitive examination for all candidates for nomination to the United States Naval academy, the United States Air Force academy, and the United States Merchant Marine academy in 1959 will be held under the auspices of the United States Civil Service Commission Monday, Nov. 17.

The examination will be held at Chicago, Des Plaines, Evanston and Waukegan.

Representative Church will have one vacancy at the United States Naval Academy and one vacancy at the United States Air Force Academy in 1959. Representative Church will also have the privilege of nominating ten candidates for possible admission to the Merchant Marine Academy in 1959 — with the final selection of Midshipmen-cadets being made by the Maritime Administration on a nation-wide basis.

All candidates must be actual residents of the 13th District, of sound physical health and good moral character, and must be not less than 17 nor more than 22 years of age on July 1, 1959. The 13th Congressional District is composed of the townships of Barrington, Elk Grove, Evanston, Hanover, Leyden, Maine, New Trier, Niles, Northfield, Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling, and that part of Norwood Park Township west of the center line of Canfield rd. in Cook county, and all of Lake County.

The applicant should designate the order of preference of Academies and where it would be most convenient for him to take the examination. If temporarily absent from the 13th District, he may be examined elsewhere, at points where the Civil Service Commission maintains an officer or examiner.

Letters of application must be postmarked before midnight, October 10, 1958, addressed to Representative Marguerite Stitt Church, House of Representatives, Washington 25, D.C.

The Way We See It

Community Has Big Stake in LWV

Northwest suburbs were reminded this week of the immeasurable community services performed by the League of Women Voters.

The Arlington Heights league, with more than 70 members, released a "progress report" which recounted its considerable local activities during the past year.

And a group of women from Palatine and Hoffman Estates met Wednesday night to complete plans for the organization of a new League to serve those growing suburbs. As a preface to that meeting, the group staged a lively parade in Palatine Saturday morning urging voter registration and explaining the function of a League of Women Voters.

The League is strictly non-partisan. It supports civic issues, not political parties. It prefers to educate a voter on an issue rather than tell him how to vote. "Each citizen," the League constantly reminds voters, "must share responsibility for the actions of government."

The League is an outgrowth of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. It was founded in 1920, upon ratification of the 19th amendment giving women the vote. The NAWSA was a non-partisan organization which worked to inform the electorate and to increase citizen participation in government so that one law—suffrage for women—would be enacted. The League, however, is a non-partisan organization which works to inform the electorate, to increase citizen participation in government so that many laws—in the public interest—will be enacted.

What sort of work does the League perform in a community? In addition to its continuing studies of such topics as United Nations, foreign policy, civil rights, and water resources, the Arlington Heights League accomplished these things during the past year:

—Assisted in the formation of a northwest suburban Committee for Modern Courts and is cooperating with this committee in presenting factual information relating to the proposed judicial amendment prior to the November election;

—Was instrumental in promoting village manager government for Arlington Heights and has continued to back it;

—Sent observers to village board meetings;

—Provided speakers to 19 history classes at Arlington high school to acquaint students with the functions of village government;

—At the request of Arlington Heights plan commission, the League conducted a door-to-door survey of land use in the south central section of the village;

—Currently is making a study of delinquency treatment in Wheeling township, interviewing school officials, judicial personnel, welfare agencies, and police;

—Made a study of the caucus method for selection of candidates for school, park, library, and village boards;

—Sponsored a successful training program for election judges to be repeated this fall as part of a continuing effort to improve election laws and procedures;

—Provided candidate information and voter registration data for the April primaries;

—Participated in the Fourth of July parade to emphasize the theme, "Remember to Register;"

—Assisted The Opportunity Council, Inc. in providing voting and registration information for the Mexican-American citizens of this area as well as providing transportation to registration centers for these citizens;

—Sponsored an information booth at the 4-H Fair urging registration and a "Yes" vote for the judicial Blue Ballot this fall; and —With the support of the chamber of commerce, the League is preparing a complete revision of their Know Your Town booklet, "Presenting Arlington Heights."

Judging from their initial enthusiasm, the organizing members of the Palatine League will be equally ambitious in tackling local projects for that community.

The success of a democracy depends upon people caring for, and taking part, in their government.

With this goal in mind, the League seeks to promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

Because the League of Women Voters works for the good of the community and not just for its own members or any one group of people, it deserves the support of the entire community.

Award Honors Founder Of Paddock Publications

Stuart R. Paddock, president of Paddock Publications, this week announced the establishment of an annual award for "distinguished community service."

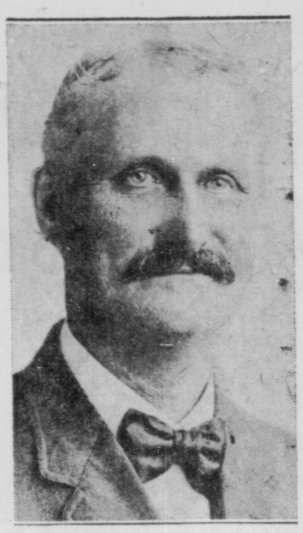
THE AWARD, to be called the H. C. Paddock Award in honor of the newspaper's founder, Hosea C. Paddock, will be presented each year to that individual, who, by virtue of his selfless efforts, contributes most to solving community problems.

The first presentation of the award, a gold plaque given on a permanent individual basis, will be on October 11 at the Suburban Problems Clinic at Arlington high school. The award will be made by Dr. Curtis D. MacDougall, professor of journalism, Northwestern university.

H. C. Paddock, a firm believer in the newspaper's role of community public service, was born in Oneida county, New York, Aug. 5, 1852. He was raised on an Illinois farm and graduated from Lyndon (Ill.) high school in 1870. After a career of 52 years as a publisher of hard-hitting, social-minded suburban papers, Paddock died in 1935.



HOSEA C. PADDOCK

IN 1883, PADDOCK bought the Wheaton Illinoisan, his first of a series of newspapers. His independence, reflected in his editorial policy, frequently put him on the "outs" with local politicians, and this attitude of public service was eventually his undoing. Cut off from official publications and denied the advertising revenue of "ball-playing" businessmen, Editor Paddock was forced to sell after five years.

In 1888, Paddock acquired the Rochelle Register, where once more his independence asserted itself. This time he was in conflict with the editor of a rival newspaper, a rivalry not confined to editorial tirades. Once, when the two newspapermen chanced to meet on the street, their views of each other were delivered not in words but in blows.

During his eight-year tenure with the two papers, Paddock evolved the idea that today is the basis of Paddock Publications, the idea of publishing editions for neighboring communities too small to support a full-sized paper of their own.

TODAY, THE FIRM publishes 13 community papers, each individual in its treatment of local news and each distinctive to the area it serves

The H. C. Paddock Award will be presented annually to that person whose independence, courage, and initiative, in the field of public service, makes his or her community a better place in which to live.

Thanks for the Boost

Thank you for the publicity given us in your article on "Sleek new shopping centers . . . challenge aging downtown business districts."

People from far and near have been curious to see the aging business district of Palatine, of which we are a part of, and consequently our business has taken an upward trend.

Tolls Are Too High

As editor of a local newspaper I know your interests of the community are at heart.

I feel you could do much in regard to the 30 cent toll on our long awaited north-west highway. I feel it is unfair to have to pay 30 cents from the interchange of rte. 53 to Devon ave., as do all the people in this locality. In fact, we will not use it.

The roads are built to serve the people, not rob them. If the toll were reduced to say 10 or 15 cents it would take a lot of traffic off our secondary roads, which certainly are becoming a problem.

Please use your influence with the proper people to bring this about.

Reorganization of County

Your analysis and treatment of my proposal for overhauling County Government has created quite a bit of comment—and so far as I can gather—all favorable.

It is not a simple matter to generate sound and objective thinking on local government, particularly on the county level. The interest of your newspaper is a major contribution.

Win or lose, I hope to be able to arouse the taxpayers to some extent in the area of county government improvement.

Thank you for this consideration.

For Modern Courts

I don't know a person in the state who has made as fine and as consistent contribution to the campaign for the Blue Ballot Judicial Amendment as you have through your excellent newspapers.

We are grateful to you and feel that your papers are doing a real public service in explaining this vital admendment.

Work for Community

A few words of sincere appreciation are in order to the people of our Itasca Ranchettes who work so diligently and give so generously of their time and energies to keep our community such a good place in which to live.

The cement plant issue is another example of how anxious everyone here is to protect our really lovely residential area from the invasion of an industry that would surely devaluate our properties and without a doubt, lower the water level in each of our private wells.

Remember . . .
Real towns are not made by men afraid
Lest someone else gets ahead;
But when everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
So if while you make your personal stake
Your neighbor makes one too,
You'll have the town you like to see,
For it isn't the town—it's you!

Interest in Cash?

I see an interesting article in your Herald for September 4. New radar timer pays for itself.

I wonder if our police departments throughout our country aren't more interested in how much cash comes into their coffers because of fines imposed upon the average citizen who may go 5 to 10 miles over the limit.

If our law makers would make the laws reasonable and proper we would have more law abiding citizens. They usually make them so slow that I wonder if they abide by them themselves.

These days we hear so much about speed, speed, speed. Why don't they put the blame where it belongs. We never hear the police departments and state officials say anything about alcohol. They talk about the drunk but they never say a thing about the one who has had one or two or three beers and yet they are considered the most dangerous of them all. Forty per cent of all highway fatalities are caused because of this type, but we hear nothing about them. It has been rightly said the one who has had one, two or three drinks doesn't stagger when he walks but kills when he drives.

How about closing up some of our roadside taverns and save the expense of purchasing radar. And I am sure we would have a safer highway on which to travel.

Dissappointed Commuter

The new Northwest toll road is compleeted and it's a "Beauty," but—how many car-commuters between Elgin and Chicago from cities and towns along its route can afford to make use of it?

Hundreds of these commuters, who had to put up with detours, dust and inconvenience, during the months that the road was under construction, find the cost of 30 cents per trip or 60 cents daily, way out of line and beyond their means. Especially when this fare is compared to the toll of only 10 cents between the ramp plaza of 53 and Elgin, for example.

Would it not be beneficial to both the Toll-road Commission and the many daily commuters, if a monthly ticket could be issued, for let's say $5.00, to be good between Route 25 and the Higgins Road Outlet, and to be effective only during the hours of 6:00 a. m. to 9:00 a. m. and 4:00 p. m. to 7:00 p. m., Mondays through Fridays.

It surely would take a lot of traffic from the overcrowded northwest roads, especially Algonquin and Higgins.

Thanks from Players

Now that the summer is over and with it the attempts of Summer Stage to entertain you this year in the form of the play "Outward Bound," we, the members of that group wish to extend our appreciation to the following people, without whom our production could not have been possible: A. Wilcox, D. Baylor, Paddock Publications, Arlington Furniture Mart, Lisa's Drapery shop, William Electric Supply, Charles Baker, G. L. Liebenow, T. J. McCarron, Village Theatre and a special thanks to Miss K. Gibson, whose donation to the group was greatly appreciated.

We hope that next year's production will be as successful as "Outward Bound." And we also hope to see many familiar faces and double that amount in new friends.

See you next year.

Double Standard Toward Gambling Only Confusing

Have you been out to Arlington Park this summer? Perhaps dreaming as you went of making a little extra money? It may have been a pleasant day in the open air with a spirit of comradeship as you waited in line at the window. Maybe you wondered what the difference is between making a small wager at the window and calling a bookie from the office to make a similar wager over the telephone.

The state of Illinois, like almost every other state in the union, says that there is a difference. It is legal to make a bet at the track, where the state gets a percentage, and it is illegal to make a bet over the telephone with a man who runs a book.

HAVE you had some friends in lately for a sociable card game? Did you set some friendly stakes "just to make it interesting?" Maybe you wondered what the difference is between a friendly card game with stakes and going to a place where a game is played against a "house man."

In effect, the state says there is a difference between a card game at home and a card game with a professional dealer. The police are likely to raid a professional game but unlikely to raid a private house game.

These are illustrations which underlie the dual attitudes we all have toward gambling and its treatment under the laws. Why is it that some forms of gambling are tolerated and other forms are not?

THE AMERICAN economy is rather sturdily rooted in the Puritan tradition: that the way to reasonable moral living is based on industry and thrift. It is expected that men and women work, that they accomplish certain set goals of productiveness, and that they are paid in terms of the meaning and worth of these goals. It is then assumed that people spend or save the earnings they receive for work done.

The credit aspects of our contemporary economy are adapted to this resume of our economic thinking. Credit is a method of spending the money we save before we save it. That is, somebody else saves the money, lends it to us, and we save to repay it as we earn in the future.

To win at gambling essentially is to make money without working for it. It is to make money for which work has not been done and will not be done. To seek to win at gambling is to seek to shortcut the process by which everyone else acquires his food, clothing and shelter. Furthermore, to seek to win at gambling necessarily implies the feeling that someone else shall risk his earning for food, clothing and shelter in order that we shall gain something without working for it.

IN PART, the state takes a tolerant attitude toward conspicuous consumption at the track on the principle that people who go to the track can afford it. The state levies what amounts to an entertainment tax on persons who can take the afternoon off, pay the price of admission, and bet out of surplus. The state could maintain that this is an adaptation of the principle of graduated income tax or excise tax on luxury items. Therefore, the state may feel that it is right to prohibit betting over the phone by a man who has to work, on the grounds that his conspicuous consumption amounts to no more than a dime.

Morality is usually a judgment between relative values; this is an unnecessary further clouding of issues which are already ambiguous.

Mystery Surrounds Origin Of Newsmen's -30- Symbol

In the patois of the press, -30- is the end.

But where the tight little symbol came from it not only clouded in mystery; its origin is downright controversial.

Half the newsmen in America tag their stories with -30-. But you could put the names of those who know its origin in a hat.

And from each there'd be a different explanation — and an argument to back it.

No newspaper term is perhaps as well known to the public as -30-.

ALONG PRESS ROW, some of the more popular versions of the birth of -30- go like this:

In a wire service office in Los Angeles a Western Union telegrapher recalls hearing that the 30- symbol started with a WU operator, back in the bicycle days of Morse code.

The old WU operator's name was "T-H-U-R-T-Y" (cq). As he clicked off his daily file of stories, Thurty would sign each one: THURTY. The sign-off became a byword along the Morse line. Other telegraphers picked it up and made it "Thirty." Then, at last, -30-.

Then there's the yarn told in the composing room of a Chicago daily by a grizzled printer with hands like mercury.

He remembers hearing that -30- originated during the pretypewriter era of journalism. In those days, all news copy was written in longhand by reporters. To indicate clearly the end of their stories, they adapted a numerical symbol. Which, as legend has it, was -30-.

BUT WHY WAS the symbol -30-, and not -40- or -50-? A headline writer on the rim of a Philadelphia paper has one answer.

He claims that -30- stemmed from the fact that 30 words was just the right fit in a stick of type — in the days when newspaper body type was also set by hand.

The editor of a Midwestern weekly disputes all of these stories. His claim is that -30- began with a columnist, who saw to it that each of his columns contained thirty items. And when this was done, he simply ended it with -30-, which gave notice to the composing room that that was the end of the piece.

FINALLY, in upstate New York, a cub reporter has this contribution. He maintains that the end mark in the early days of newspapering was "." The mark is still used widely.

However, when typewriters came along, reporters found that it was quicker to hit the "#" key without going to upper case. What came out was "3." To tie it up more neatly, they just added a "O." And -30- was born.

In all the -30- marks used by the nation's newsmen were laid end to end they'd probably circle the earth. But where did the thing really begin?

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

Victor has a stack of particularly enjoyable discs this week, and a notable feature of the release is that all the lps are available in stereo form as well as standard 33 1/3. Stereo has captured the music lover's fancy throughout the nation. The stereo cartridge has just one needle, like its standard prototype, but is divided into two elements which, when hooked up to the phonograph inputs of a stereo amplifier (or two separate amps with controls), separates the sounds captured in the specially cut grooves of the disc. Thus you hear strings from your left-hand speaker, brass from the right-hand unit, to produce a thrilling three-dimensional effect. Be sure your cartridge tracks correctly at the proper weight, or you'll wear down the grooves, which are cut at 45x45 degree angles and exceptionally delicate. It's for this reason your critic personally prefers stereo tape, as it can be played thousands of times without loss of wide-range sound, to a disc's 50 or 60 plays.

A great Victor 12-incher is the new Belafonte platter, "Belafonte Sings the Blues." In our opinion, this gifted folk singer has never been so readily identified with his material, so creatively and non-commercially honest and appealing. The result is one of the most spellbinding vocal programs you can find on all lp; listen especially to his richly effective way with Ray Charles' virile "A Fool for You" and "Hallelujah I Love Her So," Billie Holiday's poignant "God Bless' The Child," Johnny Mercer's admirably direct "One for My Baby" and Fred Brooks' "The Way That I Feel" and "Fare Thee Well." Don't miss this one!

WE RECOMMEND you get also "Presenting the Belafonte Singers" (Victor LPM-1760) the first waxing by a very gifted young group organized by Belafonte in the spring of last year. Twelve men directed by the fine young composer-conductor Robert Corman offer intensely vivid and beautifully balanced versions of "The Ox Drivers," "Mule on the Mount," the whimsical "The Rooster and the Chickens," the hauntingly sardonic "The Sergeant and Mrs. McGrath," the tender folk love song "Who's Gonna Be Your Man," the dramatic "Swing Dat Hammer" and the beautiful spiritual "Balm in Gilead." Indeed, these two Victor discs rate among the year's very finest, and you'll be playing them time and again.

In its stereo release, Victor headlines a fine 12-inch pairing of Mendelssohn's "Italian" and "Reformation" Symphonies by the Boston Symphony under Charles Munch, two extremely melodious scores flawlessly performed. There is also a delightful stereo 12-incher of "Batons and Bows" by Morton Gould and his orchestra, programming the best-known tunes of Fritz Kreisler and Jerome Kern with emphasis on richly lush string sections; and for those who enjoy martial music, we cite "Pop Goes the Swingin' Marchin' Band" conducted by Ray Martin, and featuring such irresistibly peppy and rhythmic numbers as "Witch Doctor," "Mexican Hat Dance March," the driving "Rock Around the Clock" and a medley of college marches like "Big Red Team." Blazingly life-like sonics!

In the same vein is another fine 12-incher by the British Coldstream Guards Band under Major Pope, with Gilbert and Sullivan numbers vying with "On the Thames" and "Changing of the Guard" to tingle your pulses. Then, in swift transition to the "pops" field, we recommend a dandy new "Three Suns" 12-inch platter, this time on Victor's $1.98 Camden label (which offers quite as good hi-fi sound as on the Red Seal and has a catalog of both classical and popular that every record buyer ought to investigate at his favorite community platter shop); it's "Happy-Go-Lucky Sound" (CAL-45), and it has their inimitable sonic versatility at its best in tunes like "Allah's Holiday," "Perdido," "Coppelia's Waltz," "Donkey Serenade." In "Perdido," you'll hear six guitars, two organs, accordion, castanets and two drummers really sounding off to test your hi-fi system. (B8

Des Plaines Theatre Group Hopes To Build Own Theatre

Detailed plans for a "Theatre on The Lake" in Des Plaines have been announced by Des Plaines Theatre guild, the 12-year old dramatic organization that has brought an important measure of culture to Des Plaines.

After months of plans, sketches, conferences with Des Plaines Park board members and among their own members, Guild officials this week came up with details of their $75,000 one-story 100 ft. x 75 ft. theatre structure employing laminated wood beams, insulated panels on the outside, a 30 ft. x 60 ft. stage and seating for 320.

Mistakes, after all, do serve a purpose. If some people weren't kept busy trying to correct them, just think of all the trouble they would get into!

Warmhearted Play Offers A 'Second Chance' in Life

Most people dream of having a "second chance" in life. "Things would be different if only we could do it all over again . . ."

Would they really?

What if YOU had a second chance . . . would you live your life any differently?

THIS IS THE amusing — and thoughtful — theme of a famous "fairy tale for grownups" to be produced next month by the Palatine Players.

In a departure from their usual theatre fare, the Players will present one of the great comedy classics of the century, James M. Barrie's warmhearted play, "Dear Brutus."

Produced throughout the world, it skyrocketed a youthful Helen Hayes to stardom in 1918 when she originated the role of an ingenue in the original Broadway production.

Since then, "Dear Brutus" has been widely popular, with audiences rediscovering its timeless message, quaint and delicate humor, tender sadness, and poetic fancy.

IN 1956 IT WAS used as a vehicle for another child discovery, Susan Strasberg, who played the role of Margaret on TV's Omnibus with a cast which included Helen Hayes and Franchot Tone. The play's cast is replete with delightful characters:

—Lob, an impish old man who acts very much like an aging Puck;

—Matey, a sly and dishonest butler;

—Mr. and Mrs. Dearth, artist and wife who are childless and unsuccessful;

—Mr. and Mrs. Coade, an elderly couple happily married for years and obviously in love;

—Mr. and Mrs. Purdy, whose marriage is torn by Mr. Purdy's habitual woman chasing and his wife's resultant unhappiness;

—Joanna, Mr. Purdy's paramour;

—Lady Caroline Laney, an overbearing snob; and —Margaret, a plaintive, illusory daughter for Mr. Dearth.

THE PLAY is based on an old English legend that on Midsummer Night's Eve, an enchanted forest appears and that whoever walks into it will have a chance to live his life again. In other words, a "second chance."

The imp Lob has invited these varying characters to his home for Midsummer Night in order to convince them they should enter the forest. They all agree, except for Mrs. Coade.

The play reveals what happens to each person when afforded the opportunity of a "second chance."

The results are often amusing, sometimes sad, but always recognizable to people we meet in everyday life . . . including ourselves.

A special highlight of the Palatine Players production of "Dear Brutus" will be unusual musical and lighting effects.

Northwest Family Service association is sponsoring the production October 17-19 at Cutting hall in Palatine high school.

Midtown Toastmistress Club Is Organizing

In these days of a widespread suburban exodus, when so many families are moving to new communities, a common problem is that of putting down roots. One of the solutions is the joining of the many volunteer organizations. It is the opportunity of meeting active and interesting people. The range of friends and the topics of discussion are so much broader, the aims so much more purposeful, then the social afternoon of bridge.

In general, most organizations are governed by parliamentary law. Robert's Rules of order protect the rights of all — the majority, minority, absentees or the individual. All have a chance to argue their opinions pro and con on any matter pertaining to the group. To be effective such speech should be articulate and authoritative. It is with just such a specific purpose that International Toastmistress clubs flourish throughout the world. Their objective is the teaching of basic parliamentary law, development of leadership qualities, and above all poised and gracious speech before an audience. This is important for women contemplating community work.

MIDTOWN Toastmistress club, serving the northwest suburban area, will present a sample program, Sept. 15, at the Arlington Heights School, room 106, 8 p.m. The general public are invited as prospective members. The program will include Mrs. Carl Petersen, toastmistress; Mrs. Manning Stires, invocater; Mrs. Albert Peters, table topics. Guest speakers will be Miss Marie Havlik, past chairman of Council 12, who will speak on the subject of The Shutter Bugs, Miss Betty Hauske, past ITC director, will relate some Ancedotes of Toastmistress travels and Mrs. Glen Wood, nurse, will tell us of The Teen-ager.

For particulars call the membership chairman Mrs. Leslie Floberg, FL 9-1194 or Mrs. Edward Raichert, CL 3-6559. (B8

Village Theatre Completes Casting

The complete casting for "Witness For The Prosecution" has been announced by Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, director. The leading supporting players are Bob Randolph as Mr. Mayhew; W. R. Pownall as Mr. Justice Wainwright; Mrs. Harriet Smith as Janet Mackenzie and Al Wilcox as Mr. Myers.

Both Mr. Randolph and Mr. Pownall have been members of Village Theatre, Inc. for about three years and came to the group with an impressive background in musical drama. Mr. Randolph has appeared in "Tender Trap," "Desk Set" and "Teahouse Of The August Moon" for Village Theatre. He started his directing career this summer in a Talent Bank production. Mr. Pownall was in "Tender Trap," "Jack And the Beanstalk" and "My Three Angels." He has done extensive backstage work for the group and also directed a Talent Bank production during the summer.

MRS. SMITH is well known in our area as a monologist and is one of Village Theatre's most outstanding character actresses. She has a Master's degree in Speech from Northwestern to her credit. She has appeared in "Ladies In Retirement," "The Silver Whistle," "Cinderella," "Harvey" and "My Three Angels" during her five-year membership with Village Theatre. She directed "Little Red Riding Hood" for the organization and will undertake the production of "Rumpelstiltskin" this fall.

A former president of Village Theatre, Mr. Wilcox appeared in the leading role in "Silver Whistle" and played important roles in "Angel Street" and "My Three Angels." More recently he was in "Teahouse Of The August Moon."

Other members of the cast are: Al Estrella as Carter; Randy Moses as Greta; Marshall Moses as Inspector Hearne; John Lobenhofer as Clerk of the Court; Tom Grisell as Dr. Wyatt; Jo Duro as the other woman; Pat O'Dea as Mr. Glegg and Bill Rix, Jim Smith, Gladys Pownall, Martha Byrne, Ray Hula and Dick Mooney.

New Corn, Soybean Crop Developments Are Shown

Newest developments in corn and soybeans and other crops were shown to more than 1 00 visitors at the University of Illinois Agronomy Research farm here today.

On this 200-acre farm divided into about 100 fields, crop and soil scientists are developing the types of corn, soybeans and growing methods farmers will be using in just a few years.

R. W. JUGENHEIMER, professor of plant breeding and genetics, displayed new high-yielding corn hybrids containing 25 per cent more oil and 10 per cent more protein than present commercial hybrids. Corn oil is a valuable by-product to the corn milling industry and makes a high-energy livestock feed ingredient.

Larger amounts of the high-quality protein in the new hybrids should mean less expensive protein supplement to balance future livestock rations. And, best of all, the Illinois agronomists have effectively combined the high oil and protein strains with standard high-yielding hybrids which stand and yield just as well as present hybrids.

CORN BREEDER Earl Leng showed visitors the new dwarf hybrids that stand about five feet tall with ears about 18 to 24 inches above the ground. The short, stiff stalk and low ear placement make dwarf hybrids very resistant to stalk breaking and root lodging.

Visitors saw Illidwarf 513, the dwarf version of the standard U.S. 13 hybrid that has consistently shown less than 10 per cent stalk breaking under conditions that have caused 50 to 60 per cent lodging in the normal hybrid. Although visitors were told that dwarf hybrids have yielded about 10 per cent below normal hybrids in hand-harvested tests, machine-harvesting tests suggest that harvesting losses may be less with dwarf hybrids.

D. E. ALEXANDER, associate professor of plant breeding and genetics, showed visitors the hybrids developed especially for high-population planting. These experimental high-rate hybrids perform as well as conventional hybrids at 16,000 plants an acre, but they do considerably better when planted at 24,000 plants an acre. Under good growing conditions, high yields are usually produced with high planting rates. But, if conditions are unfavorable, the new high-rate hybrids can be expected to yield as well as conventional hybrids planted at normal rates, Alexander explained.

Soybean growers had a chance to see the new, high-yielding Shelby soybean developed for Illinois conditions. This variety is similar to Clark but matures six days earlier. J. L. Cartter, director of the U.S. Regional Soybean laboratory at Urbana, pointed out that this new soybean outyields both Lincoln and Adams. It is adapted to central and south-central Illinois as a full-season variety. Seed from this new soybean will be distributed to registered seed growers in 1959.

PERHAPS ONE of the most practical ideas many farmers will take home with them is the research findings on minimum tillage. Although many Illinois farmers may go over their fields 10 to 12 times to prepare the soil, grow and harvest a crop, agronomists are finding that all these trips may not be necessary.

Visitors saw corn and soybeans planted and cultivated with the conventional methods, and some plots with fewer tillage treatments. So far the minimum-tillage crops appear as tall, vigorous and productive as those planted by the conventional methods for both corn and soybeans. Other tests around the state show similar trends, the agronomists reported.

AT OTHER tour stops, visiting farmers saw alfalfa variety tests, a seed corn collection used by crop scientists throughout the world, crop rotations tests, winter nitrogen application tests, soybean water use studies, soybean disease investigations, gibberellic acid tests on corn and soybeans and the Morrow Plots, the oldest soil experiment field in the country.

Dean Louis B. Howard of the college of agriculture and R. T. Odell, acting head of the Agronomy department, welcomed Agronomy Day visitors during the noon lunch hour.

Topping Corn Aids Drying

Research by University of Illinois agronomists shows that topping corn to speed up drying produces only small differences in moisture content by the time a safe storage level is reached.

If topping is done before the corn is mature, at around 30 to 35 per cent moisture, yields may be reduced, according to extension agronomist Ralph L. Gantz.

But even though topping may not improve drying to any extent, farmers may gain some harvesting advantages from it, Gantz reports. Although there is no research to back it up, there is some belief that topping will mean less lodging and easier picking, with less picker clogging. It also may mean cleaner picking, with less trash in the corn, and better shelling efficiency when a combine is used.

Gantz suggests that farmers who are interested in corn topping may wish to top two or four rows and compare the topped and untopped corn at harvest.

Good Repair Necessary For Ladders

If you fail to keep your ladders and other climbing equipment in good repair you are heading for a fall, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

Falls are the major cause of injury on the farm and in the home. Inspect ladders frequently for rusted or loose bolts or nails, cracks or rotten or loose rungs and supports. Repair immediately, or get a new ladder. That's cheaper than an accident.

Here are some precautions for safe use of a ladder:

1. Set the foot of the ladder firmly on the ground one-fourth of the ladder's height from the wall.
2. Always face the ladder going up or down, hold on with both hands and don't hurry.
3. Set the ladder where you can reach the object easily from center of ladder.
4. Clean mud or grease from your hands and shoes before you start to climb.
5. Hoist with a hand line any tools or materials that you can't carry safely in your pockets.
6. Don't climb or work on a ladder in a high wind.

'Blood' is Home Bureau Topic

Elk Grove unit of Cook County Home Bureau will hold a fall meeting at Mrs. August Deeke's home, Dempster and Linneman rds., September 24 at 1 p.m.

"Blood" will be the talk given by Mrs. Claradehl Upham, Cook county home advisor.

Mrs. H. Seitmann, Mrs. Thomas Sullivan and Mrs. William Sowinski will be hostesses for the meeting.

Anyone interested in joining is invited to attend. (F'm

Milk Production Down 3 Per Cent

In the first five months of 1958, milk production in Illinois and its neighboring states of Iowa, Missouri, Indiana, Nebraska, Kansas and Ohio was 3 to 7 per cent below production of a year earlier. However, the total for the entire nation showed a slight increase, says Leo Fryman, extension dairy specialist at the University of Illinois, college of agriculture. The reason for the total increase is that some of the more specialized dairy states, such as Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and California, had a 3 to 5 per cent increase.

One important reason for the drop in milk production in Illinois and neighboring states is the smaller number of farms keeping milk cows, says Fryman. Many farmers are adjusting to changing price relationships and have shifted out of dairying entirely. From 4 to 6 per cent fewer farms have kept milk cows in the midwest each year since 1949.

The sharp increase in meat animal prices compared with milk prices during the past 8 to 10 months is another reason for fewer dairy animals on Illinois farms. This situation has had a considerable effect even though milk-feed price relationships have been well above average during this period.

Total milk production hasn't decreased nearly so rapidly as total number of cows, because average production per cow has increased steadily. This increase in production is the result of better herd management practices, heavier feeding of concentrates and use of better quality roughages. In general, pastures have been unusually good this year.

To Give Lesson At Unit Session

The first meeting of the fall season of the Arlington Heights Home Bureau, Wheeling Township unit, will be held Thursday, Sept. 25, 201 N. Dunton, at 1 p. m. Hostesses will be Mrs. Fern Anderson, V. Ashcraft and Ruby Gans. The major lesson will be given by the home advisor, Mrs. C. Upham.

A fall tour is scheduled for October 1 and 2. Mrs. Gladys Henry, chairman, will announce the craft days for instruction on metal etching and tote bags.

4-H NEWS

Johnny Allan Is Fair Entertainer

Johnny Allan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Mullvain, 1523 N. Yale, Arlington Heights, sang at the recent 4-H fair here.

He sang "Oh Lonesome Me," "You Win Again," "I Love You Because," and "Ain't That A Shame," and afterwards, signed autographs.

He expects to appear at the Oak Lawn roundup this weekend.

Officers Elected By Hanover Hawks

The Hanover Hawks 4—H club held a meeting September 4 and the 1959 officers were appointed. The members discussed the 4—H picnic and plans for the recent 4—H Cook county fair. Talks and demonstrations were given and the club congratulated the leader, Mr. Klein, on his birthday.

Slaughter Market Is Clue To Cattle Price Puzzle

by L. H. SIMERL

Look to the market for slaughter cows for clues to the cattle price puzzle. At the beginning of this month, prices paid for commerical grade cows averaged around $19.50 a hundred pounds, or about 23 per cent higher than the year before. Prices of lower grades of cows were up even more — 26 per cent for utility cows and 33 per cent for cutters and canners.

PRICES OF COWS are high because the supply offered for sale for slaughter is low. Only 367,000 head of cows were slaughtered under federal inspection in July of this year. This number was 36 per cent less than one year before. During the first seven months of this year, only 2,692,000 head were slaughtered, or nearly 20 per cent less than last year. Biggest decreases in cow slaughter have occurred in the central and southern great plains and in the west.

Cow beef normally makes up one-fourth to one-third of all beef produced. In a fairly normal year like 1956, it made up 30 per cent of the total. It is used largely for hamburger, bologna and similar products. When the supply of cow beef is reduced, processors use more steer and heifer beef in these products. This use substantially increases the demand for steers and heifers. When the slaughter of cows increases to normal, it will remove some of the support for the steer and heifer markets.

THERE IS NOW no need for any great rebuilding of cow herds as there was 10 years ago, when beef cows numbered only 16 million head. At the beginning of this year, beef cow numbers were estimated at 24.4 million head. This number was 39 per cent higher than 10 years ago and only 5 per cent short of the all-time record of four years ago.

To be sure, our human population is larger than it was 10 years ago. But population is up only 18 per cent, while beef cow numbers are up 39 per cent. Thus we are not likely to have a shortage of beef in the next few years such as occurred in the early 1950's.

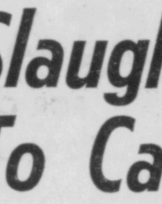
THE LAST PREVIOUS build-up of beef cow herds began in 1949 and reached top speed in 1951 and 1952. Farmers began to roll big numbers of cattle to market late in 1952, and beef production jumped nearly 30 per cent in one year. That was when cattle prices took their big drop. Prices of choice steers averaged about $10 lower in 1953 than in 1952.

The scarcity of cows also supports the market for feeder cattle. There are always a large number of cattle that are suitable either for further feeding or for slaughter. When cows are scarce, packers are forced to bid more strongly against farmers for these "two-way" cattle. When more cows are marketed, prices of feeder cattle tumble. Thus the feeder cattle dropped $20 a hundred pounds from April 1951 to September 1953.

IN SUMMARY, by holding back cows farmers and ranchers are providing strong support for their own cattle market. But the support will not be so strong nor last so long as did similar support at the beginning of this decade. Cow numbers now appear to be increasing substantially.

For a year or two, cattle prices will be held down by increasing supplies of competitive meats and then by larger marketings of cattle. In the meantime, it may be well to avoid spending profits from cattle feeding before they are made.

Down on the Farm



CARL F. MEES
with Your Farm Adviser

The North Cook 4-H Fair is history now. If you did not see the fine exhibits the 4-H members displayed you missed a lot. The livestock, crops and vegetable exhibits were the best ever.

These young people are to be complimented for their fine work. We appreciate the support the businessmen in North Cook County give our 4-H members.

I JUST RETURNED from a trip to the West Coast. I could almost write a book on the things I saw.

A few striking observations I made were:

1. Illinois is a great agricultural state. I doubt whether it has an equal.
2. Some areas in the West have had a shortage of rain-fall this past summer. The corn is fired to the tassel.
3. I now realize why we have a surplus of wheat. This is all many of the western states grow. I saw piles and piles of wheat laying outside.
4. Both Alberta and British Columbia have good farm land. I doubt if the fertility of their land is as high as ours. Growing crops did not indicate that it was.
5. Feeder cattle probably will remain high in price this fall. The pastures in the west are lush. The calves also are carrying good flesh. There seems to be plenty of roughage available for winter feed. Breeders are keeping many of their heifers to add to the herds, thus limiting the supply of feeder cattle.

OUR WHEAT growers in Cook County are sowing their wheat. The recommended date is around September 20. Wheat sown around that date usually gives the highest yield.

A phosphate fertilizer will pay dividends when applied with wheat. It will also maintain the fertility of your soil.

The recommended varieties of winter wheat for Cook County are Ponca, Pawnee and Westar.

THE ANNUAL livestock outlook news, released by the Agricultural Economics department, University of Illinois, is available at my office. If you desire a copy, notify me.

There are many good home grown vegetables available now. Pick up your supply at our roadside stands.

Tree Cabling Is Necessary

To keep tree stalwarts in tip-top shape over the winter, take a tip and cable the tops. Inconspicuous cables installed between branches high in the tops may save a woody pet from disaster in a sleet storm.

Martin L. Davey Jr., the tree expert, says no tree is really immune to winter storms, but cabled ones usually survive frigid blasts, ice and sleet with only minor damage. Fall is usually a good time to attend to the business of cabling and other tree care practices, such as damage-preventive pruning.

All trees should be scrutinized for structural defects, particularly the soft-wooded ones such as boxelder, silver maple, many poplars, quaking aspen, weeping willow, American linden, silver linden and American elm. All are extremely susceptible to winter's didoes.

Common pruning practices that minimize storm damage include removal of one or two branches that form weak V-shaped crotches and removal of heavy terminal-limbs that will not adversely affect the shape or character of the trees. The important thing is to preserve the larger branches and main structure.

Such trimming usually calls for more know-how and experience than most weekend gardeners can boast. For this critical activity, it is best to call in the professional tree man. He is qualified to determine and remove those branches that are of lesser importance to the ultimate shape of the tree. Certainly no amateur should try to clamber up a tall tree to install the cables, either.

If Your Taste Is Good & Your Pocketbook's Slim!

We've loved this home for 5 years because of its warmth, inviting Cape Cod front, its snug interior and pleasant back yard. If you like a home with a classical, colonial-clapboard appearance, with small-paned windows, shutters, set off by 6 evergreens, you may like this house as well as we do. On the practical side, our home is 1½ blocks from the NW station, 1 block from shopping, 6 blocks from school, costs only $100 to heat. Two bedrooms—expandable to four. Full basement.

We don't really want to sell—but our family is just about to outgrow it. So—if you want to see the house, dial

Shopping Prospect Heights

by CAROL BUNTING

If you just couldn't quite fit the painting and decorating of your house into your busy summer schedule this year, there is still time to get that last minute home clean-up in before old man winter makes us all pull our heads in until next spring.

The Austin Paint store, your headquarters for all of the equipment and supplies you need for both interior and exterior painting, is urging its customers to get their fall clean-up projects started before it is too late.

The Austin Paint store has the complete selection of paints, papers, and all decorating needs that you will need for your home. Not only is their selection outstanding, but it is hard to find any place else that carries the quality at such low prices. You will be surprised at how few dollars it can take to transform a dirty dingy room into an attractive cheerful room. At the Austin Paint store you will be able to match any color you have in mind. They have a complete line of colorizer paints that can be matched to any fabric. The store has recently added a new line of Dutch Boy paints for both interior and exterior use.

The amateur or the professional artist will find a complete art department located in the Austin Paint store. This department has all types of art supplies, oil paints, canvas boards, sketch pads, water colors, crayonex drawing crayons and art books.

YOU MAY NOT be an artist, but if you need frames for pictures you will find a complete selection of frames at the Austin Paint store right here in Prospect Heights. They have a large assortment of natural wood frames which you can finish or paint in any manner you choose. They also have a large selection of samples for all different types of frames. You may order frames custom made for any size picture in either gilt or wood finishes. Just glance at the samples and make your selection.

You don't have to have talent to have fun with art. Austin Paints are carrying a number of items for you to do that require no special training. They have textile paints, Tole craft in trays, magazine racks, tissue containers, and waste baskets, sets for decorating glassware as well as the popular paint by number sets.

For all of your paint needs, interior, exterior, and art supplies, the Austin Paint store is the place for you to go.

A T.V. TUBE TESTING machine has been added to the Heights Liquor store in your Prospect Heights shopping center. Since the store is open until 10 every evening except Sunday, it gives the late show watchers a chance to make quick repairs on their sets if the need arises.

In keeping with their policy of giving the customer what he wants at the best price, Heights Liquors is again featuring items from all of the different classes of liquors at special prices this weekend. Shoppers will find specials in beers, vodkas, gins, vermouth, bonded and blended whiskeys and scotches, just to name a few.

At Heights Liquors you may borrow free of charge all types of cocktail glasses and they will supply their customesr with free ice as long as it lasts. They also feature case merchandise at special prices so if you are going to be entertaining a great deal and need a large quantity, it is wise to make your purchase by the case at Heights Liquors in the Prospect Heights shopping center.

Scouts to Observe Day of Prayer

The Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, is urging its 13,000 members to observe October 1 as a day of prayer for the nation and for mankind, in accordance with President Eisenhower's proclamation.

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, in a message to Scout Executive Frank B. Newton of the Northwest Suburban Council, said, "Each of us, I know, covets every opportunity to make the twelfth point of the Scout Law effective. Also, each of us in Scouting recognizes the power and importance of prayer."

THE TWELFTH point of the Scout Law reads: "A Scout is reverent. He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

Dr. Schuck informed President Eisenhower that the organization has taken steps for the "fullest cooperation to this noble purpose" and that the members totaling 4,751,000 boys and men have been requested to "fully support the proclamation."

President Eisenhower, a member of the Boy Scouts' National Executive Board since 1948, wrote Dr. Schuck:

"I am heartened by your note telling me of the support to be given to the National Day of Prayer to be observed on October first. Not only am I delighted that the Boy Scouts themselves will participate, but I know that they will carry back to their homes an interest in this significant, and I hope from now on yearly, event."

Dr. Schuck wrote the local council that he "was very much moved by the thought of an entire nation on a given day, and in accordance with forms and tenets of our respective religions, praying to God for the moral and spiritual strengthening of our nation, for peace among all people, and for freedom for mankind."

HE URGED THAT, where possible, "leaders and Scouts join with others in any meeting or attend services that may be arranged of people of the same faith to participate with them in prayer, in accordance with the tenets of their religion and in cooperation with their respective religious leaders; or that at unit meetings held during the week in which October 1 occurs, where boys are of like faith, prayers be made, again in accordance with the faith of the members of the unit."

Dr. Schuck also suggested that during that week Scouts be encouraged to attend the church of their faith and engage in prayer.

De Molay To See Film 'Sea Wings'

On Tuesday, Sept. 23, at 8 p.m. Prospect chapter of the Order of DeMolay will open the fall season with a program to be held in South church, 501 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

Commander Walter E. Aymond of Glenview Naval Air Station will be present and show the U.S. Navy film "Sea Wings."

ALL MASONS in the area are cordially invited and members of the DeMolay are requested to be present with their fathers.

Inasmuch as any youth in the age 14 to 21 year bracket is also invited and can be assured an interesting evening and a warm welcome.

John Knox Jr., of Rolling Meadows is chapter advisor and Matthew Cation of Prospect Heights chairman of the advisory board. (B8

The Mailman's Corner

Think of World And Other People

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

God never intended that Man should live unto himself alone, and the happiest people in the world are those who are doing something for others. Conversely, the most miserable person is he who is a dot in the center of a circle. Like a man standing in the middle of a ring of mirrors, he sees only reflections of himself. And one can only stand to look at himself alone for a short period of time and stay happy.

This is not to say that no person enjoys solitude. Down through the ages there have been those who have worked, and lived, alone or almost alone; but one may be alone physically, and yet not alone at all. The writer who sits in his study sometimes for months at a time and seldom speaks to anyone is not alone, nor is he living unto himself alone. He is living with thoughts which may be great or trivial, but thoughts which concern people, and places, and living things. He is seeking to express to the world the thoughts that arise in him. He is conversing with all of mankind within the reach of his pen.

THE MUSICIAN who spends hours at practice daily, and is often secluded for months between performances, lives with his music, and the responsibility of perfecting it so that it will bring happiness to others.

You can live among crowds, and yet be pitifully alone; alone in selfishness, self pity, remorse, hatred. Or you may live in complete physical solitude, yet never be alone at all; you will be with the great thoughts you think, the great work you do, the hopes and dreams you may have which are not about, nor for, yourself.

We must all think of ourselves; there is the necessity for food, clothing, shelter and reasonable concern for our health. But beyond the immediate needs for our creature comforts and our character, personality, religion and other preparation for life, our thoughts should not go. Whenever and however we can, we should think about the world in which we live, the people in it, and how we can by our own efforts and example make it a better, happier, more wonderful place for ourselves and our fellow beings. Kiwanis Set For Peanut Day Sales

Kiwanis clubs in the northwest suburban area will push peanuts Friday, Sept. 26.

The "pushing" will be done with a smile rather than with the nose, however, for the Kiwanians have a serious purpose in mind — the welfare of 100,000 boys and girls in the greater Chicago area.

That's how many children benefited last year from the programs of the Kiwanis clubs. Some of the activities were: assisting a community in sending 100 children to a summer camp, sponsoring Christmas parties and a trip to the circus, financially aiding the YMCA, boys' and girls' clubs, playgrounds, church groups and children's clinics and providing medical and dental care for underprivileged and handicapped children.

The clubs hope to raise $175,000 by selling a million bags of peanuts in the eighth annual "Kid's Day." Sellers will be identified by their Kiwanis overseas caps. (B8

Three Shapes Take Lead, Are Slim, Trapeze, Oval With Fur Trims for All

The "Big Three" in coat silhouettes this fall are the trapeze, the slim coat with high Empire waist or low chemise flounce, and the oval coat, with gathers, drapes or folds in back, tapered to the hem.

Length wise, the almost-full length or shorter coat gains importance, as part of a "walking suit," or on its own.

While Empire waistlines look newest, in both the trapeze and slim line coats, there are also many low-belted effects. Double breasted closings are popular, sometimes continuing all the way down the coat.

Big, standaway collars and oversized buttons provide a fresh looking style influence.

Fur linings and trims are more highly favored than ever. They range from raccoon and muskrat to fox, beaver, leopard, mink and sable.

Representing the newest version of the full swinging coat, the trapeze line is narrow at the top, then flares out from under the arms to a spreading hemline.

Back interest develops in many ways. Among them are panels and panel effects, draped folds, shirring, ballooned contours, scythe rounding and pleats starting from the shoulder line or from a dropped yoke.

Empire effects include high-placed "baby bib" detailing, belts, seams, bands or bows just under the bustline, inverted side pleats that start high at the waist and vest pocket flaps or pockets placed high on an Empire waistline.

Colors are especially exciting. There are many shades of brown and vivid blues, greens, reds and oranges. Other favored hues include lilac and royal purple tones.

Most dramatic fabrics for coats are loopy, foamy mohairs in brilliant colors, in a variety of prints including paisleys and in plaid patterns.

LIKED for its lacy knit texture and long straight lines is cardigan of alpaca yarn, in many fashion colors. Sweater and shirt by Hadley.

Also favored are soft, fuzzy brushed surfaces, velours, cashmere, broadcloth, boucles and novelties with a knit look. Monotone and multicolor tweeds may be overlaid with curls or brushed hairs.

There are many more fur-look pile coats. They now simulate dyed seal, otter, raccoon, and chinchilla in addition to beaver and mink.

Warm Colors Take Chill from Winter

By the power of suggestion alone the warm colors, prints and plaids of new outdoor wear for the young folks will help to take the chill out of winter's air.

Warm fabrics—such as tweeds, meltons, camel blends and corduroys — and pile linings join in to assure cold weather coziness. Adding to the look of warmth are pile collars and bulky knit trimmings.

Topping slim pants are short bloused jackets and longer ones in every length from car jackets to fingertip stadium coats to full-length storm coats.

All eyes are on your toes — in these exciting new fashions by Kenard's

Choice of Silhouettes Is Great, from Empire Look To Chemise to Trapeze

When it comes to shape, the fall fashion story is short and simple. Hemlines are rising — to just below the knee, in most cases. Silhouettes — and there are many of them — rely on easy, simple lines to create effects that are fresh, feminine and, above all, youthful.

All along the easy line, the basic simplicity of silhouettes is dramatized by interesting colors and fabrics. Green, red, orange, gold, blue, ultra violet — just about every color is represented. "Fall foliage," "Indian summer" or "harvest" are descriptions given to some of the most important shades.

Fabrics revel in surface interest, from the loops and curls of mohair and mohair wools to the raised ribs of faille and the airy puffs of matelasse crepes. Smooth-surfaced fabrics are rich and lustrous, with a look of depth.

While there's a great choice of silhouettes — Empire, chemise, trapeze, cocoon, blouson, spoon, scythe, bubble, balloon, to mention some of the leaders—they find a common bond in the "free form" or "mobile" look. One of the freshest ways of applying ease to the fall silhouette is through the Empire look. The true Empire, with an under-bust waistline above a slim, graceful flow of fabric, is rising to fashion prominence, while high - waisted Empire effects are employed for both chemise and trapeze styles.

Chemise Changes

There's less talk about the chemise as such — and more acceptance of it as an easy and far from sack-like look that promises to be a long-continuing influence on fashion. Now, the chemise meets the sheath and becomes the "straight sheath," fitted at bust and hips, unfitted at the waist.

When the chemise takes a waistline, it may be high, in Empire fashion, or low — just below the hips or just above the knees. In the latter case, the chemise usually follows the figure, subtly and easily, down to the low - low waistline, and then bursts out in pleats, a trumpet flare or gathered flounce.

Interpretations of the chemise have led to such silhouettes as the scythe, the cocoon and the spoon, with fitted fronts and a bloused or rounded and tapered line in the back.

Easily Wearable

Important among the easily wearable silhouettes of the season are the trapeze and the blouson. Newest is the youthful-looking trapeze, fitted at the shoulders, then jutting out gently toward the hem. For the two-part double trapeze, the same line is repeated in top and skirt.

Introduced in recent seasons, the blouson continues into fall, with the hip-slenderizing effect of its bloused top above a slim skirt endearing it to many.

AS FASHION'S HEMLINE travels upward, the seven-eighths walking coat gains increasing importance. Here, it's casually elegant in mink-look synthetic, with wide collar, push-up sleeves. Of Wink synthetic.

SOFT, FLUID DRAPING, dramatized by an Empire bow, marks this crepe dress. In Avisco rayon.

Major contributions to the fashion news are the walking suit and the three-piece ensemble. Jackets for the walking suit may take any of fall's popular shapes, but all agree on longer length — thirty-five inches or thereabouts. Often, they're trimmed with fur, as are many of this season's coats and suits.

Parts Get Together

Possible components of the three-piece ensemble are varied. Skirt, overblouse and coat; skirt, overblouse and jacket: coat, jacket and skirt; coat, jacket and dress represent some of the best-liked combinations.

Reflecting the interest in the walking suits are not-quite-full-length "walking coats." Coats in general show a pleasant awareness of current fashion trends, so that it's easy to select a coat that will fit properly over the new-season suits, dresses and separates.

Shapes of Fall

Trapeze lines are favored in accessory jackets, while weskits like the chemise line.

Fur-print corduroys and mohair-type fabrics are popular for weskits, jackets and stoles.

Men's Fashions Show Trend to Greater Dressing Elegance

Fall Suits Have Great Eye-Appeal

Men's suits for fall are definitely dressier, according to the American Intitute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

The new styles reflect a complete departure from the mode of the post-war period when casualness and informality in suits were practically a rule. The "casual look" is now largely confined to leisure hours, while suits take on a more business-like appearance.

The new Fall suits display a great deal of eye-appeal in both fabrics and models.

Men who prefer the modern models combining the best of the English tradition with Continental detailing and American ease of fit, will find such suits tailored of fabrics embodying a new elegance.

Intricately subtle weaves of fine wool-worsteds, blends of silk and worsted, slightly iridescent effects of worsteds blended with mohair, and/or silk yarns, and jacquarded patterns all in medium to dark shades of grey, brown, or blue, point to a modern dressier look.

Fabrics Have Variety

Devotees of the natural shoulder or "Ivy" type of clothing will find a greater selection of fabrics in their favorite models, too. These include subtly colored mill-finished worsteds in neat traditional patterns; tough, long wearing sharkskins, new hopsacking fabrics and, of course, the perennial flannels in both plains and stripes.

Stripes, incidentally will be more popular than ever this year in all types of clothing. There will be pin stripes, pencil stripes, cluster stripes, ombre stripes and even some "wriggly" stripes in the jacquard-type cloths.

While "Ivy" models in suits show few changes, there is an increasing acceptance among the "non-Ivy" dressers for the "American Ambassador" model. This is a trim suit with flattering lines that will seemingly take inches off a man's waistline while adding inches to his height.

Among its distinguishing characteristics are a close fitting collar, slender lapels with only a tiny notch, and slightly tailored but not broad shoulders.

The "Ambassador's" three-buttons are set a bit lower and closer together than usual and its general effect is pleasing and new looking.

The newest fabric cateogry is winter-weight wash-and-wear, which has hit the peak of popularity for warm weather wear and is now being adapted for the cold months. These suits are of the "automatic wash-wear" type—put them through the entire wash cycle, then toss them into the dryer, and they come out pressed and ready to wear.

Fall Topcoats Are Shorter, Light in Weight, but Warm

Topcoats Are Shorter

Topcoats for this fall will be considerably shorter. New dressy models, in the manner of the "American Ambassador" suit will share favor with the new "split-raglan," the big shaped balmacaan, the semi-fitted chesterfield and the roomy box coat. Fabrics will be lighter in weight, but very warm.

Hats will be lightweight, smaller in overall size. The newest model the "Centredent," features a center creased shape and a front pinch.

In dress shirts, smaller-shaped, neater-appearing collar styles will coordinate with the slim, trim look of men's clothes. Bold prints and bulky-look sweater shirts will be prominent on the casual scene.

Neckwear will be livelier, with more colorful and bolder effects shown both in woven designs and in prints.

Men's topcoats and overcoats are definitely shorter in length this Fall, thus combining style and practicality for highly satisfying results.

The new coats lose none of their warmth because of their shorter length, and are more perfect garments for either walking or motoring.

Among the new models are those with the popular "split-raglan" construction. These appear to have set-in sleeves at the front but when viewed from the back, they have the easy fitting raglan shoulder.

Dressy models patterned after the "American Ambassador" suit style are available while the traditonal big shaped balmacaans, the semi-fitted chesterfields and the roomy box coats use lighter-weight but very warm fabrics in new colors and new weaves.

The double-breasted coat shows signs of returning in the form of a short length British Warm model. These coats are patterned after the officer's military model but come in many shades and cloths.

Fall topcoat tweeds show a flat surface — no longer rough or nobby. Lightweight wool hopsacking is favored for early autumn. The muted plaid Saxony covert topcoat, both single-breasted and raglan shouldered, will be chosen by many businessmen.

Fall Fashions are "Showcases" for

Trifari Jewelry

THE FASHION FOR FALL '58-'59 has evolved into completely unadorned clothes that are perfect "showcases" for jewelry. The new clothes are easy in fit and simple in line. Slim skirted, loosely fitted clothes are either carefully contoured over the diaphragm or have a high rising waistline directly under the bust, reminiscent of yet another fashion cycle, the Directoire or Empire. This free, mere "outline" of form silhouette, demands a lavish and imaginative use of jewelry. No timid accent will do. Masses of jewelry is the mode.

New stones, color drenched and improbably large, manage to look exquisitely precious yet frankly fake. Jewels in new shapes with new silhouettes, themselves "free form," are so well keyed to the complete change in the fashion picture that this fabulous collection will be recognized by discriminating women everywhere as "obviously by Trifari."

HAIR AND HEADBANDS

Hair will continue to be worn full and not too set looking. Headbands are greatly in fashion, and they demand the graceful accent of a Trifari pin to look their best. "Jewels of Tomorrow," color drenched stones which change tone in various lights so that, at first glance, they may appear to be blue and a second later seem to be red, are Trifari's newest excitement. They are used in stars, crescents, medallions and many other shapes of pins that are shown off to perfection on a headband. Small gold-tone pins set with black diamond glitter or pearls also go right to your head.

The shorter hair-do asks for a longer earring. Glittering, long Pear Drops in the wonderful stones for which Trifari is famous are sheer drama. Nearly shoulder length, slinky String Beans or extremely large button earrings are the mode.

NECKLINES AND NECKLACES

Even coats are bejeweled this year. The outsize collar looks wonderful with Trifari's huge golden leaf on it. The lucky lady who owns a theatre suit heightens the effect by pinning Trifari's enormous jeweled Dahlia close to the face.

Daytime and cocktail clothes have low, standaway or closely rounded necklines. This season the rope doesn't hang down loosely, it looks better wrapped around the neck as many times as it will go to fill-in the neckline. Bead bibs start high on the throat as a dog collar and descent in gradations to make a perfect fill-in.

THE EMPIRE LOOK

The high rising waist of the Empire style provides an enormously effective focal point for a large dramatic pin. Jeweled "Fleur de Lis," Maltese Crosses, curled leaves and an incredibly precious looking maple leaf sparked with individually set rhinestones are part of a collection designed with an eye to highlighting the Directoire waist.

BRACELETS ARE BEAUTIFUL

Wide and narrow cuffs of textured or engraved gold-tone, some star sprinkled with brilliants, share honors with flexibles and expansions, or bracelets with nugget-like gold charms, jewel set.

Head to toe, jewels make the costume and now, as in any season, you will be more confident of their rightness and pleased with their beauty if they are "Obviously by Trifari."

Fashion-Wise Youth Approve 'Free Form' Silhouettes

Shirt Styles Emphasize Smaller, Neater Collars

English-style tab collars, round pin collars and pointed pin collars join the popular button - down styles and medium point spread collars for Fall and Winter business wear.

The smaller shaped, neater-appearing collar styles are geared to the slim silhouette in men's clothing.

Top-rated white broadcloths and oxfords will be supplemented by solid shades of blue, gray, tan, putty and bamboo in those fabrics as well as in end-and-end madrases and chambrays. Neat stripes are due for renewed acceptance, too.

Tab collars appear for the first time in Ivy styles sport shirts, in an assortment of plaids, checks and neat foulard-type prints. Shirts for active sports include wash-wear knits, flannels of wool, wool-cotton and wool-synthetic blends. Bold prints, panel effect trims, sporting print motifs, and bulky-look sweater shirts are all among the cold weather favorites for casual and leisure wear.

PROMINENT on the casual scene this fall will be the wool blazer. This one is black, red, gray stripes is neat, conservative, handsome. Wood Bureau photo.

Neckwear Strikes A Livelier Note

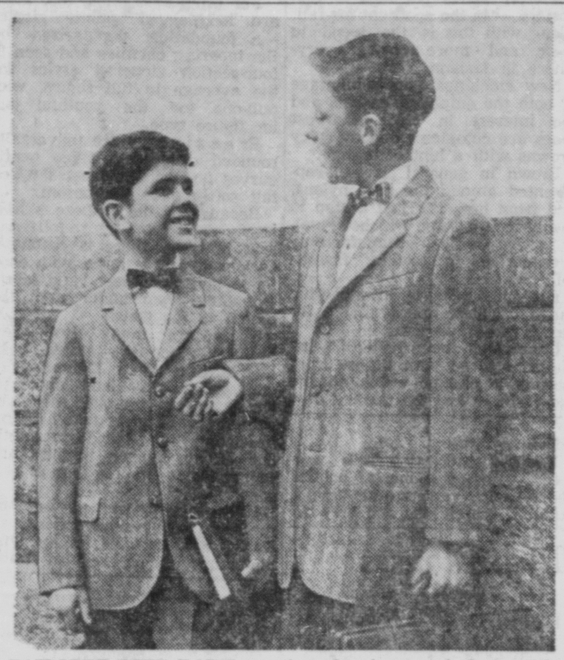
Ties for Fall 1958 will be a lot livelier than they have been for several years. There are signs of a sure shift from the toned-down muted effects that have set the style pace in neckwear during the past several seasons.

Both in woven designs and in prints there are more colorful and bolder designs to liven up the very popular medium to dark shades of clothing. Look for more silver grounds, brighter stripes, and an increase in the number of off-beat cotton prints.

They Favor Long-Jacket Walking Suit

Juniors and teens heartily endorse this fall's "free-form" fashions that have the combination of youthfulness and sophistication they like so well.

A favorite of both, and very new in teen circles, is the walking suit with three-quarter to seven-eighths length coat worn over a matching skirt.



TAILORED LIKE DAD'S are these boys' sports jackets, with Ivy-narrow lapels and natural shoulders. They're made of British woolen shetland-type tweeds, in shades of gray and brown to contrast with dark slacks.

The teen's choice is apt to be on the casual side, in such fabrics as herringbone tweed or bold blanket plaids. The coat-jackets are often belted below the waist, either in back or all around, Norfolk-style and may be pile-lined for warmth.

Have Dressy Look

Walking suits for juniors are more dressy. They prefer spongy-textured fabrics such as mohair-and-wool and bright broadcloths and black-and-white tweeds.

The chemise influence is often evident, usually combined with high or low-placed belts or seams. Back interest centers around convex lines and gathers topping bands set into the hip or hemline.

The trapeze is another popular silhouette for suits and coats. Its appeal is heightened by such vivid colors as candy pink, orange, cobalt blue and moss green, with wide Puritan or stand-away collars or, for a luxury touch, fur trim.

Fluffy opossum, fox and raccoon collars are favored, along with otter, white beaver, mink, seal and muskrat.

Eased by Pleats

In teen coats, the slim line may be eased by low pleats or panels, accented by bands and bows. Teens also like trapeze coats.

For daytime wear, the junior's choice is likely to be a tapered chemise in jersey or a wool or cotton knit. The newest knits have jacquard patterns or loopy mohair blend textures. Raised waistlines are marked by contour belts or self ties.

The blouson, the overblouse and the trapeze appear in many versions. A "little girl" look is achieved by fullness spreading from a high waistline. Other trapeze dresses have controlled fronts and full free-flowing backs.

Jumpers take on both chemise and trapeze looks, in such fabrics as ribbed cotton or tweedy wool. Bow neckline silk shirts and hooded jersey blouses are among the popular accompaniments.

Combine Three Parts

Well-liked by juniors and teens is the new-for-fall three-part outfit, consisting of a waist-skipping weskit, blouse and skirt.

Relaxed line separates of all sorts win young favor. Over-blouses and middies in boucle tweeds or jersey team up with slim or wide box-pleated trapeze skirts, especially new-looking in wool-blend iridescent suitings.

Blazers and skirts are often co-ordinated in an unusual plaid. Sweaters are long, sometimes reaching to the leg, although many can be gently bloused. Rough, hairy textures are liked, such as Shetlands and mohair blends.

SWEATER FAVORITES

Low-button cardigans with deep V openings vie with pullovers as popular sweater choices for young boys.

SOFT GRAINED leather highlights the square toe of this center-seam buckled oxford, ideal for business or dress wear this fall. By Thom McAn. Photo by Leather Industries.

Young Shoes Take Top Adult Trends

A wide range of shoe styles, patterned after the top trends in adult footwear, is ready to fit the needs of every boy or girl for school, dress or rough-and-tumble wear.

Shown in lightweight leathers that support growing feet without constriction, young shoes follow the trend toward a gently tapered toe and a general look of lightness.

For little girls, the flat-heeled, round-throated pump in colorful leathers is one of the most popular styles. It's varied to include bows at the vamp, swivel straps that can be worn several ways, low-set instep straps or T-straps. Slip-on styles feature peaked tongues or tab effects at vamp.

Shoes for young boys accent streamlined lightness, flexibility and sturdiness. Fashioned after shoes worn by Dad or big brother, the moccasin toe, three-eyelet tie in finely textured leather is a popular shoe for all-round wear, as is the traditional wing-tip shoe, slimmed down.

Dresses Offer Pretty Variety

Youthfulness, ease and color are the dominant characteristics of this fall's dresses and costumes, with luxury expressed in richly textured fabrics and fur trims.

Probably never before has there been a greater variety of silhouettes — among them the bubble, the chemise, the trapeze and the still-popular sheath and shirtwaist.

Newest looking are styles with high-waisted Empire lines and subtle shaping through the bustline. Very often, fitted fronts are combined with backs that flare, billow or curve in a rounded cocoon or sickle line with no waistline demarcation.

Both high and low waistlines are popular. When high, for the new Empire look, they are marked by drawstrings, belts, seams and trimmings, placed below the bustline.

Very young indeed is the "Flapper" look chemise with long, unfitted waist and brief pleated or flared skirt, the hipline usually marked by a closely fitted band.

Among other new variations of the chemise are the balloon, with fullness widening to the hem — often turned under—and the tunic chemise, which falls straight to the hemline, broken only by a flurry of pleats or flounce a little above the knees.

Favored fabrics include worsteds, brushed mohairs, printed sheer wools, velvets and jerseys, textured matelasses and crepes.

Foundation Garments Ready To Shape Every Silhouette

Chemise, trapeze, blouson, bubble, Empire line — for each silhouette there are new foundations to help in shaping an attractive figure.

The new foundations, generally, are long, light and firmly controlling. Girdles rise above the waistline, are eased through the midriff but with positive shaping for diaphragm and waist.

Some girdles, though of regular length in front and back for walking ease, are cut long on the sides to smooth hips and thighs.

For thigh smoothing, too, there are long-legged pantie girdles —a foundation popularized by the tapering chemise and seen in four-section zippered styles for the average to full figure, with pull-ons for the youthful junior figure type.

Brassieres are universally rounded of cup to shape gentle curves underneath dresses which fall softly over the bosom.

Because of the trapeze silhouette and its figure-following look in front, there is emphasis on long line brassieres, with elastic or lacy and sheer rigid fabric extending from under-neath the bosom to the waist.

There are many good new brassieres for the ample bustline, among them D-cup styles with both straps and undercup wiring for support. And there are contour bras for the small figure, observing the trend to subtle curves by having thinner and lighter inside shaping than in past seasons.

Fewer bra-lettes are among the new corsetry collections, although they do exist for the bubble skirts which require minimum hipline control.

More numerous are corselets, full-length foundations which include all-elastic styles for the slight figure and combine rigid with stretch panels for the more generously proportioned.

Tapering side panels of elastic, narrow at the curve of the hip and fanning out below, are often employed for slimming effect.

Color runs the gamut from pastels to rich jewel tones. Black looks newest with contrasting embroidery. There is much use of applique designs and lace.

Short Skirts Show Colorful Stockings

Shorter skirts put legs — and hosiery — in the spotlight for fall. Along with this is the trend to color and more color, everywhere in fashion.

New stockings take advantage of both the emphasis on legs and the interest in color. Harvest tones are complemented by spicy browns with a hint of orange.

Brown in general is well-represented among the new nylons, and from here it's just a step to the bronzy greens, which virtually every hosiery manufacturer presents as a leading fashion a-foot.

Blues and reds, in an attractive range of hues, are available for day to late day wear.

Chameleon colors appear in irihue and mood with the color of descent stockings which change the costume and the time of day.

Mother, Daughter Pick Blouses

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER favor fall's chemise lines, as exemplified by their Norfolk-type blouses, in broadcloth with tucked fronts and low-slung bow belts held in place by self-fabric button tabs. By MacShore.

LITTLE GIRLS like the chemise, too, as shown by this coat with pocket flaps over hip-length gored skirt, bow-tied velvet collar. By Banbury.

Leathers Interpret Chemise, Trapeze

The flowing trapeze and the slim chemise are beautifully interpreted in soft, supple fall leathers — in a wonderful range of high fashion colors.

Seen to best advantage in coats and jackets, the new silhouettes are featured in luxurious leathers in versions for sports, street or dress wear.

Much attention in the latest leather designs is devoted to custom-like detailing in seaming, stitching, banding, insets, belt and collar effects. Slim chemise styles feature soft pleating in the back yoke, giving a look of ease through the shoulder line and going into a sleek taper at the hemline.

Other chemise styles have low-riding half-belts in back, low inverted pleats or diagonally set-in yoke detailing at the lowered waistline.

In the flowing trapeze, smooth, soft leather is shown in coats that fit easily on the shoulder and sweep out into a graceful fullness at the hemline. This style is effective in both clutch or button-front designs.

Jackets, too, echo the chemise and trapeze lines, featuring similar detailing as in the full-length coats, and suited to many occasions 'round the clock.

WIDE WALE CORDUROY and alpaca make a reversible mobile coat that corodinates with slim corduroy skirt. By Vendome in Cone Corduroy.

Maternity Wear Is Taking Fashion-Wise View of Fall

Thanks to the free and easy lines of the chemise, trapeze and blouson silhouettes, the mother-to-be can have both fashion and comfort this fall.

One result of this is that the one-piece maternity dress has made a big comeback. The trapeze appears in many versions, among them the straight hanging dress with all-around narrow pleating falling from a high yoke. There are dresses with slim bodices, Empire waistlines and softly flared skirts.

The Empire look is also achieved through trapezes with inverted front pleats starting at the bustline. They may be prettily accented by bow or flower trims.

Chemise styles are often worn as jumpers, with softly tailored shirts. More dressy maternity chemises are draped and tapered into low front bows, with straight-hanging backs.

Blousing gives a new look to two-piece dresses. These include styles with harem jackets and tunic length blousons. There are also many two-piece trapezes and suits may have more loosely looped self belts under the bustline for the popular high-waisted look.

Bright colors, bold plaids and such fabrics as wool knits and tweeds add further to the high-fashion look.

For evening wear, the melon hemline is the maternity version of the bubble silhouette. It appears in jewel colors and such festive fabrics as poult de soie, silk faille, organdy and chiffon.

SECRET-KEEPING FIT, high-fashion news for mother-to-be are provided by styles such as this trapeze dress. Suggested for leg comfort, sheer nylon elastic Supp-hose.

Sleep in Luxury

Luxury silks and nylons in glowing tones are favored for sleepwear. Silk satin and nylon sheer georgette are liked for gown-and-peignoir ensembles. Low-cut bodices are etched with hand-cut Alencon lace.

FASHION MAY BE FICKLE, but when a really good thing comes along it quickly takes its rightful place in the fashion spotlight, and stays there. So it is with Ban-Lon sweaters, which have become amazingly popular because of their easy care without sacrificing any of the softness and luxury women have always associated with fine sweaters. Washing is easy, drying is fast and blocking completely unneeded. No more fuzzing, shrinking or stretching worries in Ban-Lon sweaters, and the price is one which anyone can easily afford.

Color Range For Fall Carpets, Rugs

Taking the floor for fall are colorful carpets and rugs. Especially timely is a color range which might be termed, "the strong neutral." Included are several off-beat shades of green, ranging from khaki to grayed green.

Carpets and rugs in these colors are chameleon-like in their use — subdued enough to use with strong accent colors yet not so somber that they can't serve with dark tones.

Also broadened is the carpet-color range in beige, which now goes from pale sand to rich nut browns, with a variety of rosy beiges in between. This will be appreciated by the homemaker who likes the beige family but may want medium shades for practicality.

A continuing trend is toward the liveliest carpet and rug colors — rich blues and oranges, golds and bright combinations.

Construction-wise, knitted carpets are news, with many being shown for the first time. They're expected to take their place alongside woven and tufted types, which now share equally in the honors of the American carpet industry.

Fall stylings are about evenly divided between "formal" and "casual." Among elaborate stylings there's news in the carved designs of thick-pile rugs.

Textured Fabrics Take Lead, Put Big Emphasis on Mohair

Texture is the big fall fabric news—thanks to the chemise and the trapeze. Fashion's simple lines allow for added interest, and this has been brilliantly supplied by new and luxurious ideas in fabrics.

The three-dimensional look is favored and, more often than not, it's achieved with mohair.

Loops of mohair woven into wool show up everywhere in a variety of treatments, adding depth, sheen and soft, spongy feel. Lofty looped variations stress the light-as-a-feather, fluffy quality Liked too, are brushed surfaces and those with loops laid flat or incorporated in the weaves.

New arrival on the fashion scene is reindeer hair. It's often used as added surface interest for mohair and wool combinations. Besides mohair and reindeer hair, rabbit hair, fur and even ground goose feathers are employed to give a softer, more luxurious feel to fabrics.

The dimensional look is achieved too, in loose knits, open-look airy tweeds, diagonals, herringbones and basket-weaves, boucles and mohair-type woolens. Deep pile velours, often enriched with mohair for luxury and luster and nubbed or slubbed tweeds are other favorites.

The fur-look synthetic piles do their share for fall elegance by simulating furs such as chinchilla and otter, as well as mink and beaver.

Carrying out the interest in texture are matelasse crepes — a revival from the 20's — and fabrics of the faille family, with distinctively ribbed surfaces Tapestry looks and high-relief jacquards are other choices.

Notable, too, are satin-smooth, lustrous weaves, deep and rich in appearance.

The discreet use of metallic threads in fabrics of all sorts continues the feeling of elegance. Satins, ottomans, velvets, laces, brocades and even wool take the gold or silver touch.

'American' Emerges Important Design Trend In Fall Home Fashions

Homemakers will find, in the fall furniture collections, new opportunities to express their own tastes and personalities by creating distinctive room settings.

"Cabinetmaker" details give the new furniture a custom-made look, as well as greater elegance. The exceptionally wide choice of woods and wood finishes, fabrics and colors, contributes to custom-made appearance and makes it easy to achieve an air of individuality in home decor.

Of special interest are "American" designs. No longer just a copy of foreign styles, U.S. furniture reflects the melting pot character of our country and yet is particularly our own.

Many of these designs develop from Early American and Shaker styles, but one has only to look at furniture that is still frankly early American in design to see that fresh ideas are at work, resulting in scaling and flexibility more suitable for the modern home. "Handcrafted" looks are especially evident.

New fashions for the home will be presented by furniture stores and departments during the Furniture Fashion Festival, September 25 to October 4. This event was formerly known as Home Fashion Time.

An important factor in easier decorating is the closer relationship between modern and traditional. Modern designs embody touches of tradition for a softer, warmer look, while traditional furniture is made cleaner and simpler by adapting from modern the smaller scale and less cluttered look.

Blend Easily

This evolution of traditional is good news for those who seek true period styles featuring modern construction and material improvements. And either traditional or modern pieces can be easily blended with any type of design already in the home, from antique to modern.

The look of romantic elegance, gaining strength as a home fashion trend, derives in large measure from effective display of wood and fabric. "Simple elegance" is an appropriate term for the extensive use of wood in ways that show off the grains of walnut, teak, cherry and mahogany through 'faded,' oiled or matte finishes.

Marquetry and parquetry, carried out in exciting patterns of woods, give a luxury look to moderately priced furniture. The Oriental influence is seen in the frequent appearance of cane, teak and —newly important— bamboo, which is an elegant addition to all sorts of pieces.

Richness is Theme

One moderately priced sofa bed employs bamboo as a trim, while the designer for a well-known decorator line introduces a "bamboo look" in hand-turned solid walnut.

Home fabrics show richness through color, texture, pattern and soft sheen. Deep tufting and padding on the arms and backs of upholstered pieces repeat the theme of richness and warmth.

Finely turned, shaped or sculptured wood legs and bases in a variety of styles carry out the "custom look." Correlated groupings make good use of these varied treatments to assure unity without monotony.

New Hose Hues

Sports stockings appear in harvest hues of russet, orange, cinnamon, moss and emerald greens, bold blues and browns. All help to give a one-color look when coordinated with sports or leisure fashions.

Fill Necklines

Fresh white collars and other white neckwear provide pretty fill-ins for fall's open necklines.

New Wallpapers Dramatize Ceiling

To get a dramatic decorating effect, and to create unity between the top and sidewalls of a room, put wallpaper on the ceiling, suggests the Wallpaper Information Bureau.

Idea for a high-ceilinged dining room is to paper the ceiling with one of the new striped papers, bringing it down the sidewalls about a foot, to resemble a canopy. Paper the sidewalls with a plain or textured paper in a harmonizing color.

"Bower" for a teen ager is created by papering ceiling and one sidewall of her room with a floral pattern — scattered bouquets of perky violets on a white background, for instance, with embossed white paper for the three remaining sidewalls.

To brighten a dark closet, paper ceiling, walls and floor with a cheery flora, such as cardinal-red roses widely-spaced on a bone-white background. Lacquer-spray the floor for easy cleaning.

For a nursery ceiling, a new wallpaper of clear pink and blue stars on a white background can be teamed with sidewall paper in a blue and pink stripe.

A look at the new wallpapers will suggest many more pretty "papered ceiling" effects.

Sportswear Presents A Bolder Look

Men's sportswear really looks like sportswear this Fall. New models in sports jackets, new fabrics of bolder design, trimmer more comfortable slacks and outerwear garments patterned after the best American and Continental designs are the key features of the garments slated for new season leisure wear.

Sports jackets for Fall 1958 are seen more and more frequently with "action backs" which allow complete freedom of movement. Some of the new jackets are made in modern versions of the classic belted Norfolk styles.

Deep vents, roomy pockets in both set-in and patch styles, and colorful fancy linings are among the other features of these coats.

Blazers Are Popular

"Blazer" jackets in solid colors as well as in stripes are high up on the list of favorites.

Stripes, hopsackings, diagonals, herringbones and some bold checks and plaids lead the new pattern parade.

New slacks are slim and trim without being binding. Self-supporting styles made with one pleat, two pleats or no pleats at all are as popular as the belted plain front models in the "Ivy" styles. Many of the latter have discarded the familiar back-strap in favor of hip pocket flaps.

Flannels, wool-worsteds, whipcords, subtle stripes and checks, and winterweight washwear fabrics, all are available.

Outerwear jackets range from featherweight washable nylons and poplin blends lined with man-made fleece and pile to great big suedes with self-shearling linings and collars.

The "fur-look" is evident in linings as well as in collar treatments. Some of the furs are the real thing such as raccoon and mouton, while others are of the man-made fibers.

Car Coats Favored

Warm double-breasted models and longer lengths in finger-tip and "clicker" jackets figure to be big items. Suburban and car coats are more popular then ever and regular buttons are used more frequently than the old toggle and loop closures.

Water-repellent hooded parka-style jackets are ready for the outdoorsman and some of the coats with the new knit collars have sailor-like knitted toques to match.

Completing Costume Look Is Role of Millinery, Accessories

Handbags Take Varied Shapes Of 'New Look'

Following the chemise and trapeze silhouettes, or extending into the long, barrel shape, fall handbags are styled on clean simple lines that emphasize the soft, luxurious look of the new leathers. Decoration, if any, is confined to almost minute touches of gold or gilt at the closing.

The trapeze and chemise shapes, which are often wafer thin, feature gusseted sides that expand to hold various handbag essentials without bulging out of shape. These are shown in smooth or finely grained leathers for daytime wear, and in smaller versions in silky suedes for after-five.

Because of the conservative styling, handles are back in the picture bigger than ever. Wide, over-the-arm straps balance the slim, flat handbags and double-strap handbags appear on most of the elongated styles.

Even the envelope bag, shown heretofore without handles, features collapsible handles that disappear into the body of the handbag.

The smaller clutch bag, a perennial favorite, turns up for fall in a wide range of new leather colors to match practically any shade. Some of these have outside pockets held closed by a leather tab and buckle, and others feature a bit of trapunto detailing.

In the general color range, the deep, rich harvest tones are widely featured—true reds or those with a slight blue overtone; tartan and olive greens, golden browns, deep browns and basic black and navy.

Fabrics Coordinate

Coordinated fabrics play an important part in fashion.

Fur Silhouettes Going Modern, With Air of Luxury Apparent

Fur's greatest appeal, its air of luxury, is more apparent than ever this fall. Silhouettes are going modern, following fashion's favorites, and pelts are truly "handled like cloth."

This closer-than-ever relationship between styles in fur and fabric tends to point up the elegance and beauty of fur. When "Why fur?" is the question, "For luxury and loveliness" is the answer, or so furriers are going all out to prove, in an effort that seems, on the basis of this fall's fashion-wise furs, highly effective.

Like all current fashions, new furs make their silhouette stand on ease and variety. The choice includes the low- or high-waisted slim chemise, the trapeze for youthful fullness, and the bulky look coat with top width tapered to the hem, in many pretty adaptations.

Shirring, paneling, softening of shoulder and back lines all contribute to the relaxed look.

Furs as well as silhouettes are varied. There are such favorites as mink, seal, Persian lamb, broadtail, chinchilla and beaver. Stone marten and fisher are making a comeback, while sable and fox are gaining new popularity. Otter, raccoon, squirrel, spotted furs and even monkey fur get a place in the fall fashion limelight.

Extending the variety theme further are the neckline treatments, which range from bare and collarless (fine for the addition of a fur scarf, or that newly revived favorite, the boa) to the equally important look of the big, big collar.

"Fur on fur" gains fashion strength, in imaginative combinations such as natural opossum on black-dyed Persian lamb or silver fox on black-dyed broadtail, as well as the more expected pairings.

When the "fur on fur" is a collar, the use of the contrasting fur for buttons and Empire or low waistline bands provides a fresh look. Another newsmaker is the use of a second fur for cuffs on a collarless coat.

Gloves Feature Delicate Detail

Gloves are in the fashion spotlight this fall, featuring delicate decoration and a wide variety of exciting colors.

Elegant detailing and softness are favored in lengths ranging from shorties to four to eighteen buttons. The slim look of fashion is adopted in the tapered P.K. sewn fingers and molded fit of the longer lengths.

Leather gloves appear in pastel shades and a whole rainbow of high-fashion colors. These include browns in all shades from palest greyed browns to darkest chocolate, bronze greens, greys, blues from bright to dark, reds in deep wine tones and scarlet.

Pastels for late day and evening run the gamut from pinks to mauves and lilacs, palest yellows, blues and greens and, of course, the formal white kid gloves that sometimes reach as high as the shoulder.

Washability is a popular feature of new Launder Leather gloves, along with such detailing as tiny airy perforations, jewelled trims, light embroidery and floral touches, applique treatments, bows and buckles.

The trapeze silhouette has been adapted to Launder Leather gloves that have a flared cuff and are high belted under the finger line. The chemise look is seen in a low stitching at the cuff line highlighted with a tiny bow.

Pigskin and pig-textured deerskin and cape appear in casual styles, many with whip stitching in contrasting colors. They are often lined in silk, wool or fur.

Cottons, nylons and novelty knits also interpret the trends of the season. For dressy wear, velvet gloves appear with dainty beauvaise-type printing or embroidery.

Coordination reaches a high point in sets combining gloves with matching scarfs, belts, bags, collars or headbands.

Trapeze Might Be Fall Bride's Choice Of Something New

The bride's choice of "something new" this fall might very well be a trapeze wedding gown.

She can pick from a wide variety, including some with fullness falling directly from an Empire bodice and many more with flowing loose backs combined with fitted, high-waisted fronts.

Also very new looking are slim gowns with detachable bouffant overskirts, often with an uneven hemline that is "intermission" length in front and long in back. Harem poufs are favored, too.

Even traditional bridal gowns have a new look, with back details for graceful movement. Popular treatments include Watteau panels that spread from high placements into chapel-length trains and tiers of graduated ruffles.

Favorite fabrics for bridal beauty are taffetas and satins, along with lace, moires, brocades, velvets and a new crepe matelasse with a rich raised white-on-white pattern.

High necklines and long tight sleeves are liked. Lace appliques, seed pearls and bead embroidery and high-placed bows and streamers are among the popular trims.

All Hues Are News In Glowing Palette Of Latest Fashions

It's a season of color in fashion, the most brilliant in many years. Vivid tones take their cue from glowing autumnal landscapes, precious gems, stained glass, Scottish moors and sparkling wines.

The blazing palette of fall foliage is the biggest news. Rich russet shades, sumac reds, maple leaf golds, burnished oranges and forest greens appear alone or in combination.

"Daring" color combinations are, in fact, a leading feature of this colorful season. Expect to see orange and red, blue and green and other two-and three-color combinations.

Among the well-recommended colors are teal and other blue-greens, "hot pink" and purple, in a shade referred to as ultra-violet as well as winter violet and wild plum.

Reds, from clear and bright to gem-tone blue reds and wine shades; greens, from emerald to moss; blues in all hues and browns, ranging from rich coffee bean shades to greensh bronze, have great importance. Fashions in black benefit from the general trend to color, since they stand out with added drama against the many varied and vibrant hues.

Soft, Lofty Hats Blend With Clothes

The soft and lofty look prevails in fall millinery, and among the many interpretations of this look are costume-completing hats for each of the season's new silhouettes. Textures, colors and trimmings add to the effect of made-for-each-other luxury.

The soft slouch hat makes a perfect costume mate for the new walking suits, while the lofty, high-crowned fedora is particularly effective with easy, long-jacketed suits.

Casual tailoring of fall suit hats echoes the casual lines of the unfitted suit jacket. Textures and colors also match clothing, with wool jersey, mohair and other "bearded" woolens, iridescent effects, bold plaids, buttons, bows and leather trimmings making style harmony easy to achieve.

Bouffants Suggested

For the chemise and the blouson, milliners suggest bouffant, ballooning silhouettes in high, gently-rounded cloches and turbans. Fluffy, long-napped velours, shaggy tweed fabrics and long-haired furs make these bloused hats cloud soft and light looking.

With the increasing importance of fur-trimmed fashions, fur hats become more appealing than ever, in every known variety of pelt from sable, chinchilla and mink to broadtail, beaver, leopard and a wealth of novelty furs.

Wig hats, a summer favorite, play a return engagement for fall. Beautiful plumage in stained glass colors and tweed-like color combinations makes attractive head coverings. Fur wigs are cosy as well as fashionable.

Empire Influence Seen

Appearing in fashion, along with the trend to high-waisted dresses and coats, are tall-crowned bonnets inspired by the Napoleonic era. Inflated pillboxes soaring turbans and high hats with small forward-reaching or ruffled brims are designed to settle comfortably over tiny chignons and clusters of curls worn Empire-fashion high on the crown of the head.

The colors of fall hats are as exciting as their textures. Jewel-like tones and color combinations as vivid as those of stained glass are favorites, while jet blacks are a striking contrast to the color-drenched autumn palette.

PARTY-GOING CHEMISE is fashioned of luxurious lame wool knit. Two-piece costume is by Triocosa-Feder. The perfume, Houbigant's Chantilly.

Evening Wear Looks Two Ways for Fall

Short, youthful formals are fall favorits, with baby-doll fullness, windblown panel treatments or balloon shaped skirts to emphasize a leggy look. On the sophisticated side are long-sleeve Directoire dinner dresses, long, slinky sheaths and the bubble silhouette.

New Sweaters Have Bulky Look

Sweaters for Fall 1958 feature a big, bulky, hand-knitted look. Taking their designs from the very expensive hand made Scandinavian and European ski sweaters, the American versions are produced by machine to duplicate the originals in texture as well as in appearance.

Many of these new Fall sweaters use man-made fibers either entirely or in blends with lambs wool. These can be washed easily without loss of shape and no worries about shrinking or stretching. Ivy fans will go for shetland crew-neck sweaters.

Colorful Mohair Keynotes Exciting Sportswear Season

Styles Show Young Ease, Skip Waist

Colors of the fall countryside, waist-skipping styles and mohair, mohair, mohair! That sums up the sportswear news.

However, any summary can only hint at all there is to see —and wear—in sportswear this season. From separates to car coats, from knits to leathers, from sweaters to casual dresses, the sportswear fashion news is genuinely exciting, and the prices are pleasing, too!

The excitement begins with mohair and mohair-like woolens, in looped, spongy textures that take readily to color and effectively display such fall favorites as orange, rust, forest green, purple blues, red and amber. Brown is a well-liked neutral.

With mohair setting the pace, color and texture sweep the sportswear field. Basket-weave worsteds, jerseys with a printed or dimensional look, alpaca or fur blends, shetlands and shetland looks, open-face tweeds, wide and pin wale corduroys and a diversity of surface-interest fabrics appear in brightly colored solids, plaids, checks and stripes.

Taking shape in these fabrics and colors are separates usually styled to skip the natural waistline. Intended for matching are demi-chemise and double trapeze skirts and tops.

The demi-chemise often takes the form of a long over-blouse that closely follows the figure, with slim and straight or slim and flounced, pleated or low-belted skirt. For the double-trapeze, both skirt and overblouse take a jaunty flare, and linings preserve the shape.

Separates for mixing, too, have a lithe, young look and easy-going ways. Trapeze, chemise, blouson, Empire, scythe — all leading silhouettes of fall fashion can be happily achieved by combining sweaters, shirts, skirts, jerkins and jumpers.

Jumpers are especially newsworthy, making a fashion comeback in both chemise and trapeze styles. One favored combination is the plaid trapeze jumper with hooded jersey blouse.

Sweaters, bulkier than ever, are very new looking in elongated easy shapes. Shirts and blouses follow every line from the short and bloused to the long and relaxed, and are most often worn outside chemise-look skirts.

Changes Brighten Boys' Ivy Styles

Little boys have found the styling they want in Ivy, and they're staying with it. Ivy's even more popular this fall than in past seasons.

Some changes have been made. After several years of strict Ivy tailoring, this neat look is branching into brighter color and variations in style.

Being shown along with the classic dark stripes gray flannels and conservative tweeds are the new bold stripes bright-colored tweeds and a wide variety of prints.

New touches have been added with the introduction of fur and fur-like trim in outerwear, print shirts and the liberal use of bright red.

Outerwear makes news in a choice of several lengths and styles. Popular are the classic suburban coat, the surcoat, midway-length jacket and the toggle coat.

FALL'S CHEMISE LOOK is captured by ensemble that tops a rib-knit skirt with pullover featuring diamond pattern on sleeve. "Ban-Lon" ensemble.

THE NEW "wiggle-weave" gives greater pattern definition to this wool-worsted suit for fall. Styling shows more identation in the jacket for a trimmer fit. Wool bureau photo.

Fall Hats Are Light, Flexible

Comfort plus colorful good looks are the male hat story this Fall. American men have expressed their preference for lightweight flexible felts and these new hats give them plenty to choose from for wear with their cold weather outfits.

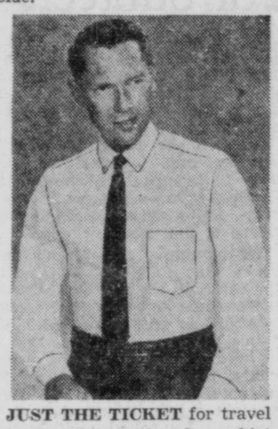
The new lightweight winter hats are available in both dressy and casual models. The newest shape is called the "Centre-dent." It is a becomingly small model that adds a smart front pinch to its center creased shape. It also has a narrow silk binding on its brim edge that ensures a smart snap.

The tight telescope with a solid color band and back bow continues as one of the most popular shapes.

All hats are smaller in overall size so that they are now an integral part of the slim fashion silhouette.

Mixture felts blended of multi-colored furs, hats with crown and brim in softly contrasting shades, and factory-shaped telescope effects are also very popular. Trim brims-up, off-the-face hats and homburgs set the pace in dressier hats while rough textured felts and smooth suede finishes and velours in Tyrolean shapes are great for sportswear.

While there is a complete range of colors available, middle tones of gray and brown, rather than deep char tones, are high fashion choices. There is also an interest in unusual shades of serpent green hickory brown and medium blue.



JUST THE TICKET for travel is this white cotton dress shirt with a permanent finish that requires no ironing and one-piece soft collar that won't wrinkle. Van Heusen's "Vantage."

New Raincoats Have Warm Liners

The rainy and snowy days that we are bound to get this Fall and Winter can be made a lot more pleasant with one of the new raincoats. The newest of these, have either built-in or attachable liners that make them comfortable for wear on even the worst days of the season.

New iridescent fabrics, solid deeptones, wash-wear constructions and other handsome new models have made these coats the favorite garments of men across the country. There are the easy-to-slip-into raglans for business wear that come in sand, oyster, white and putty shades; the formal blacks lined with deep red for evening wear with tails or tux; and the sporty short length car coats designed for skating.

FASHION ACCESSORIES

Correct jewelry rounds out the well dressed man's ensemble. This Fall's selections include both medium and small pieces in cuff links and tie bars crafted of silver and gold colored metals. Enamels and colored stones add color and eye-appeal. Designs range from modern to traditional.

WASH AND WEAR men's suits for year 'round wear are handsomely exemplified by this single breasted, three-button grey town suit, tailored in a fabric of "Dacron" and Avisco rayon.

Decorating Problem Eased With Custom-Made Look Furniture

FOULARD PRINTS make attractive sport shirts for both men and women this fall. This couple choose theirs in a carefully tailored "miracle" cotton that requires little or no ironing. She wears hers open at the neck and fashionably filled in with ropes of beads. By Van Heusen.

Many Looks Are Created For Subteen

A subteen's interest in fashion, and her good taste, can be indulged to the full this season, as she selects from the attractive new clothes designers have created for her.

Every important fashion "look" is represented — chemise, trapeze, blouson, bubble, empire, in dresses, suits, coats and separates flatteringly scaled to the figure of the growing-up girl.

What's more, a subteen's favorite classics — the boy coat, the car coat, the shirtwaist dress, the sweater and skirt—are freshly styled to give a real lift to young wardrobes.

Unfitted silhouettes, and especially the chemise, appear in abundance. Slim and easy straight - line or tunnel - back dresses, low-belted and bowed coats, chemise jumpers and blouses, and the overblouse or long sweater plus a straight or pleated skirt give the subteen a generous share of the fashion news.

Bloused-top chemises bid for popularity. Classic shirtwaists go chemise, and so do the well-liked tartans, in such styles as a long-torso dress with a patent belt low-placed at the point where the skirt flares into a flounce.

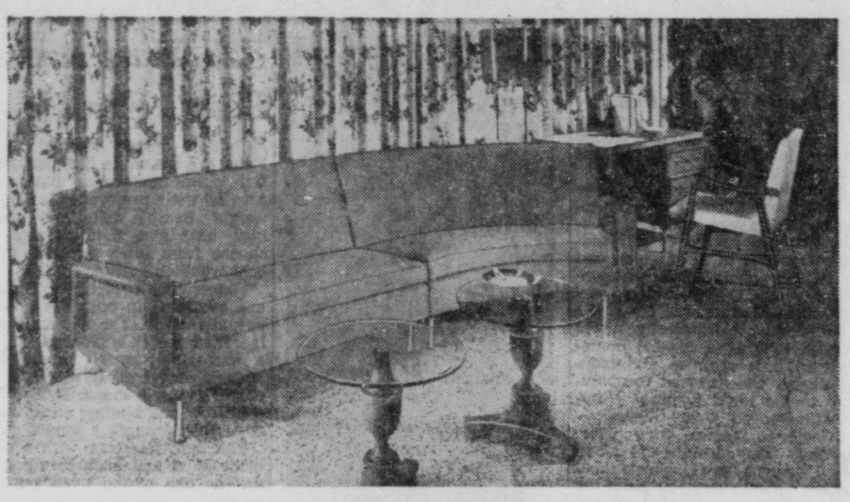
The trapeze, fitted through the shoulders and swinging free from under the arms, is subteen-styled in dresses, separates and coats. Important for party occasions are empire - waisted trapeze and bubble-skirted dresses.

Subteen coats, whether chemise or trapeze, semi - fitted, bloused or high-waisted, put the emphasis on bows and back interest. Bows decorate collars, yoke backs or fronts, and mark low waistlines. Leather belts outline high or low waistlines.

Among new treatments for the classics is the boy coat with striped nylon fleece lining, four-pocket front and low back waistline band.

Fur collars branch out from mink to include black Persian lamb, seal and beaver. They trim everything from dressy styles to car coats and most often, the fabric they accent is textured and colorful.

Subteens, like all ladies of fashion, share the fall enthusiasm for bright hues, bold plaids, rich prints and fabrics with surface interest.



GENTLE CURVES, for a softer look, distinguish this modern sectional grouping of two love-seats with walnut desk attached. Desk top and bases of the small baluster tables have a new spattered finish which resembles the speckles of a Plymouth Rock hen. White leather chair has butternut legs, arms. Furniture by Valley.

Bagged for Evening

Mother of pearl and rhinestones trim small, softly gathered satin bags for evening.

Well Oriented

Oriental splendor marks this fall's loungewear with jewel bright and glowing printed fabrics cut in flowing hostess gowns and dramatic lounge pajamas. Cotton velvets and corduroys are printed in paisley and cottons in Indian designs.

WALKING SUITS, fashion-important for fall, range from the hip-length jacket with skirt to the almost-full-length coat with either a skirt or dress. Suit shown pairs a thirty-four inch, patch-pocketed coat, in British woolen ribbed tweed, with an Empire sheath. It's by Huntleigh.

Lingerie Echoes Ideas Appearing in Outerwear

The stir caused by chemise, trapeze and other new fashions in outer wear is being echoed in lingerie styles this fall.

One indication of this is the big comeback of petticoats, notably the special petticoats required under the trapeze.

The newness of this silhouette, which starts from a narrow top and slopes out at the sides to a moderately wide hemline, is in its restrained fullness and smoothness of line. It's almost like a funnel in shape, with fullness accelerated only at the back.

The old bouffant petticoats don't meet the under-shaping needs of this type of garment. Hence, the popularity of the new petticoats and, also, the new trapeze slips.

The latter, for wear under one-piece trapeze dresses, have fitted bust sections and shaped, paneled skirts which are flat in front and back.

Trapeze petticoats are worn under two-piece dresses and suits. There are many variations, since there are full and less-full skirts. Some need really stiff but shaped layers underneath, while others require shaped layers in softer fabrics.

Chemise lines are repeated in straight, short slips, with such variations as high waists and "firecracker" flounces. Lace trimmings call attention to hemlines.

Panty legs are longer, the longest and newest length of all being the pantalette which stops just above the knee.

The ease of the new silhouettes makes them a "natural" for sleep and loungewear. The long, fitted nightgown is still a favorite, but there are many versions of the trapeze gown, usually flaring from an Empire bustline.

The chemise influence shows up in free-flowing pajamas and gowns of every length. It is often combined with the "covered-up" look of high necks and long sleeves or with shirtwaist tailoring.

A brand new color spectrum includes champagne shades, warm apricots and peaches, deep blues, soft greens and iced pastels. Red and black are also more important than ever.

FASHION - APPROVED hat shape for fall is the "Centredent." Lightweight, the overall dimensions of the hat are narrow. This one by Adam.

YOUNG, relaxed is jersey cocoon jacket that snugs to a stop at wool knit hipline border, has matching knit sleeves and collar. By Glentex.

MOHAIR AND COLOR unite to create some of the most exciting news in fashion for fall. Among the leaders in this trend are looped mohair sweaters, vividly colorful. Sweater shown is hip length, and distinctively styled with easy lines, perky pointed collar and tapered sleeves. It's available in a color choice of blue, mango, emerald, pumpkin, schoolhouse red, brisk brown, white or black. Sweater by Select.

THE CLUB extends an invitation to residents of Arlington Heights and surrounding communities to attend this meeting. Membership is open to both men and women and anyone desiring further information may contact the membership chairman Gilbert Krohn, at CL 3-3299.

Refreshments will be served following the program. Mrs. C. R. Durham, Mrs. Walter C. Krueger and Mrs. Walter B. Rutkowski will be hostesses for the evening.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

An Outstanding Art Show

Dear Peg:

Warmed by the amber glow of an autumn sun, in a graceful setting of crystal ponds, lacy red and white petunias, gray stone, slim trees and glossy green shrubbery, could be found one of the finest, most representative shows of Chicago area artists ever presented to the public.

Under the sponsorship of the North Shore Art League—a group easily recognizable by its high purpose and refreshing vitality—with the cooperation of the merchants of Old Orchard, the north and south malls were lined for two days wtih paintings of every type and medium. In the gardens, various forms of sculpture were on display.

From one of the information booths, in which I agreed to spend part of the afternoon as hostess, I was thrilled by the festive mood which seemed to have caught the people. Smiling, chattering crowds moved slowly up and down the aisles—many pushing strollers, carrying babies or just holding the hands of little children.

Ten prizes were offered to the winners of this invitational show. Among them was "The Clammer," a delightful canvas by Gladys Armstrong of a child whose orange-gold souwester, as he bends over to pick up a clam, catches the light and shines with the brilliance of a harbor light in the gray-blue mist that surrounds him.

Other prize winners were: Jeanette Kann's "Adult and Children"—an interesting contrast of strength and softness, John Kearney's "Oxen"—a vivid, sharply accented painting and LeRoy Neiman's "Roulette"—another work easily indentifiable by his use of blood-red, glass-bottle green, and tooth paste-thick patches of white.

Among the prize winners in the very modern group were: Garada—whose huge moving canvas, like shifting pink sand, is dramatically pierced with shafts and ribbons of red-orange and Perlmutter who, with streaks of white and bright color, slashes across the canvas and around in circles with the appearance somewhat of the "elevated" streaking into and around the loop.

In a very different style, Rappaport has painted yellow roof tops divided in checkerboard fashion with heavy black lines. Of the many water color ribbon winners, Victor Ing's "Skyline at Night" was outstanding. All of his paintings have the delicate, oriental use of fine lines and cloudy, transparent shapes. Mark Turbyfill also paints in this delicate manner—even when depicting what seems to be a tornado and other violent elements of nature.

There were whimsical paintings such as the smiling tiger of Roz Salzman's painting and Lucille Leighton's "Aerial View"—birds using a TV aerial for an effective perch and unusual ventures, such as: the collages of Rafilson—who frequently pasted tiny pieces of newspaper to the walls of his dark red brick buildings and June Lukosh who has fashioned a barn and farm buildings from pieces of calico material.

Among the most exciting paintings were those of Shelly Terman. There is a rigid quality of sameness about the olive, tan, black and brown general color of all her paintings, yet an individualistic approach in her combination of classic and contemporary form. I'll be interested in seeing her work several years from now when her young girls are not reminiscent of the "Mona Lisa" and her mother and children don't resemble those of Mary Cassatt's.

My love,
Patty

Roy Blackwood Takes Pennsylvania Bride

White gladioli, poms and ferns decorated the altar of First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights September 6 for the marriage of Miss Anna Marie Krivjansky of Pittsburgh, Pa. and Roy J. Blackwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl F. Blackwood of Arlington Heights. The service was double ring and took place at 2 p.m. with Rev. Hayes Fletcher officiating.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Krivjansky of Dunbar, Pa.

For her marriage the bride chose a gown of embroidered nylon over net fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, short sleeves and a 4-tiered, floor-length skirt. She wore a shoulder-length veil attached to a circle crown of pearled flowers and carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

MISS SARA JEAN Wess of Pittsburgh was maid of honor wearing a white embossed nylon over mint green taffeta with green cummerbund and back bow. She also wore a mint green net headpiece and carried a spray of yellow fuji mums. Miss Kay Marie Blackwood, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid and wore a gown similar to the maid of honor's gown.

The bride's mother chose a grey silk dress with pink hat and gloves while Mrs. Blackwood was in a peacock blue dress with blue sequin hat and black gloves. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

DR. WILLIAM Bissell of Pittsburgh was best man and Harvey H. Orndorff of Barrington was usher.

Seventy-five guests attended the reception held in the church parlor after which Mr. Blackwood took his bride on a week's wedding trip. Since September 15, the couple has been residing at 549 N. Neuille st., Pittsburgh, where the bride is employed by the government and the bridegroom as the Pennsylvania representative for the V. Mueller Co., Chicago. The bride previously studied at Duquesne university in Pittsburgh and the bridegroom at Northern Illinois State university and Northwestern university.

Palatine Girl Weds In Hometown Church

(Bak Studio

A college romance culminated in marriage August 30 when the former Virginia Rogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rogan, 756 E. Chicago ave., Palatine, became the bride of Gary F. Kuether of Menomonie Falls, Wis. The couple was united by Rev. Glenn G. Gumm at the altar of St. Paul United Church of Christ in Palatine at a 5 o'clock ceremony.

Mrs. Harold Berg sang "I Love But Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Harold Berg at the organ.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father the bride wore a princess styled gown of white silk organza over taffeta with a round neckline coming to a low V at the back. Folds of organza held by a wide lacing accented the empire waistline and ended at the back with a bow from which wide panels of organza fell to the bottom of the ballerina length skirt. A pearl tiara held the short veil in place, and the bride's bouquet was a lily of the valley nosegay.

Lorna M. Ramlow of Wauwatosa, Wis., a sorority sister of the bride, was her maid of honor in light blue lace trimmed with a sash and bow at the back. She carried a nosegay of feathered carnations, pink sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots. Five-year-old Deborah Dee Rogan of Lake Bluff, the bride's cousin, was flower girl in white cotton lace over pink satin. Pink feathered carnations and sweetheart roses were combined for a matching headband and also filled a pink basket which she carried.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Kuether of Menomonie Falls, had Kent P. Klanderman as best man, and ushers were Edward Rogan II, the bride's brother, and Donald R. Kuether, the bridegroom's brother.

FIFTY GUESTS greeted the couple at a reception and dinner at Landls restaurant in Skokie. The bride's mother was attired in a light blue embroidered silk organza sheath dress, and the bridegroom's mother chose a medium blue sheath. Both had white feathered mum corsages.

Following a honeymoon in Wisconsin the couple is at home at 14859 Riverside dr., Harvey, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Palatine high school and attended the University of Wisconsin where she met her husband, who graduated there recently. He is now employed by the Sinclair Research Corp. in Harvey.

Dist. Officer Installation

Two area women were installed as officers of ninth district American Legion auxiliary at ceremonies September 17 in Northlake, Ill. New chaplain of the group is Mrs. Lester Johnson of Palatine while the new sergeant-at-arms is Mrs. Larry Battisti of Rolling Meadows.

Mrs. Edward Wanders, past president of the Howard H. Rohde unit is the organization's new director, while retiring director is Mrs. George Anthony of Mt. Prospect.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 18, 1958

Democratic Women to Hear Harry Kinser

Wheeling Township Democratic Women's club regular September meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 23, in the Union hotel at 8:30 p.m. Special guest and speaker will be Harry Kinser, candidate for state representative from the sixth district.

All ladies in the township are invited to attend. Membership in the club is still open and all interested women Democratic voters are urged to join. Mrs. Albert Williams, CLearbrook 5-0542, may be called for further information.

Women needing transportation to the meeting should contact Mrs. John McGivney, CLearbrook 3-3468.

Schoolmates Wed in Local Church

(Jenart Studio

A local couple who attended both high school and college together were united in marriage August 22 in Our Lady of the Wayside church. The bride is the former Rose Balzano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Balzano, 113 N. Main st., Mt. Prospect, and the bridegroom is John Theis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Theis, 307 Wing st., Arlington Heights.

The ceremony was double ring and took place at 12 o'clock mass. Fr. O'Hara officiated amid a setting of mums and gladioli.

The bride's gown was of chantilly lace and silk organza, fashioned with full-length skirt. The bodice was of scalloped chantilly and the skirt was of the organza with chantilly appliques. Her fingertip veil was of bridal illusion and was attached to a crown of chantilly lace and pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of glamellias. Mr. Balzano gave his daughter in marriage.

MINT GREEN silk organza was used for the attendants' gowns which were made with chiffon bows and streamers down the back. They also wore matching green shoes and hats. The hats were made with a band of pleated organza with veils and their flowers were yellow plumeriams from Hawaii.

Maid of honor was Miss Marlene Kerschke of Mt. Prospect and bridesmaids were the bride's cousin, Mary Ann Balzano of Chicago, Mrs. Paul Fisher Jr., the former Dena Klingler of Mt. Prospect, now of Madison, and Mary Jane Serio, also of Chicago.

The bride's mother chose a dior blue silk dress with lace bodice and pink accessories while the bridegroom's mother chose a green dress with white accessories. Mrs. Balzano's corsage was of pink rosebuds and Mrs. Theis' of white carnations.

JAMES THEIS was his brother's best man and ushers were the couple's brothers, Cy Balzano and Mike, Tom and Phil Theis, as well as Ron Wenger of Chicago.

A buffet dinner was served to 300 guests in Carpenter's hall in Des Plaines after which the newlyweds left on a 2-week wedding trip in Canada and eastern United States.

Since September 15, Mr. Theis and his bride have been at home in Oxford, Ohio, where the bridegroom is finishing college at Miami university. The new Mrs. Theis attended the same college for two years and was affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. Mr. Theis is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. The bride has been employed by the First Federal Savings and Loan of Des Plaines.

This Sale by Invitation Only

A CLEAN SWEEP of all the salable merchandise at the Arrowcraft sales is what Mrs. Robert Abbott, left, and her committee are hoping for when the sorority holds its annual benefit September 23, 24 and 25. The sales are the only money-raising project of the group and are for the benefit of the settlement school in Gatlinburg, Tenn. Committee members admiring the hearth broom made by mountain people, seated, are Mrs. Joseph Faner, Mrs. John Kehe and Mrs. John Maun.

The Arrowcraft sale, annual autumn event of the Arlington Heights alumnae club of Pi Beta Phi woman's fraternity, is being held this year September 23, 25 and 26. The sale takes place at invitational coffees between 9:30 and 11:30 each morning and will be held in Palatine, Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect. Mrs. Gerald Hall, Mrs. John Kehe and Mrs. Roscoe Batts are the hostesses who have opened their homes to Pi Phi friends for the traditional affair.

THIS SALE IS the only money-raising project of the group and is for the benefit of the settlement school at Gatlinburg, Tenn. The sorority founded this school in 1912 for the purpose of helping to educate mountain people cut off by geography and poor roads from the rest of the world, and to contribute to their economic standing.

Pi Beta Phi maintains teachers in arts and crafts, wood working, physical education, health and music. Proceeds of the sales of these products by active and alumnae clubs all over the country and voluntary contributions by interested individuals or groups enable Pi Phi to keep the settlement school going.

IN CHARGE of this year's event is Mrs. Robert Abbott with Mrs. John Maun and Mrs. Kehe as her committee. There will be a large variety of articles, including hearth brooms, handwrought jewelry and stationery; the large majority of merchandise will be handwoven and loomed materials such as skirt materials, tablecloths, fancy aprons, place mats and many other linens. Orders may be placed.

Pi Beta Phi, oldest woman's fraternity, was founded at Monmouth college in 1867. The local alumnae club dates back to 1951 and is headed this year by Mrs. Oscar Cagann.

Life Membership Drive Opened by Hosp. Guild

A lifetime membership in the women's auviliary of the Northwest Community hospital is currently available and a life membership dirve is under way to acquaint women of the area with membership data. Mrs. Robert Provart, membership chairman, reports: "These distinguished memberships may be taken out for $100 and funds so raised will be designated for a special and separate fund for the benefit of the hospital, and will not in any way defray auxiliary expenses." The membership fee is payable over a period of two years and is deductible for income tax purposes.

Although women taking these memberships now will have the singular honor of being the auxiliary's first life members, a permanent plaque bearing the name of all life members will be prominently displayed in the hospital. Mrs. Provart says, "The auxiliary hopes this will be an ever-growing list of women who are aware of the importance of such a worthwhile community project.

WOMEN IN THE area interested in obtaining a lifetime membership are asked to contact one of the following: in Arlington Heights, Mrs. William Trude, CL 3-6241 or Mrs. Everett Wagner, CL 3-4435; Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Glenn Adams, CL 3-1581 or Mrs. Edward McDowell CL 3-6353; Palatine, Mrs. Robert Provart, FL 8-3383; Inverness, Mrs. L. E. Malley, FL 3434; Plum Grove Estates, Mrs. John Schumacher, FL 8-1546; Rolling Meadows Mrs. David Radke, CL 3-6906; and in Schaumberg, Mrs. Clarence Fuhrman, LA 9-1215.

No modern girl will bother to knit Argyle socks for a fellow, if she's already married to him.

A clever wife is one who lets her husband wear the pants as long as he lets her write the checks.

A sure sign that a person is grown up is that he realizes that there's room for improvement at the top.

A completely useless mistake is one that doesn't even give a friend a chance to tell you about it.

Quite Contrary by Mary

She Attracts Just 'Criseses'

Honey attracts flies. Magnets attract iron filings. Men attract women—and vice versa. But, alas, I attract crises. Pronounced, crises (long 'e') but I like to say crisises because it has a certain ring to it. Anyway, where I am, chaos reigns.

It was all brought home to me forcefully a short time ago. It seems that my Mother made arrangements to meet someone flying in from Scotland here in the middle west. Which is nice because Mother lives in Miami, Florida. In the meantime, she happily neglected to tell me that my house was the rendezvous point. Meanwhile, back at the ranch, I was about to take off on a flying vacation to Michigan. For about two minutes.

So, I went on vacation and had a ball. And then, what do you know, the California daughter informs me that she has to have a nice serious operation and would Mother, meaning me, fly out and hold son-in-law's hand while she was under the weather. Well, certainly.

I flew to California right after dear Mother flew in. Mother flew to Michigan to meet her nephew who just flew in from Lebanon where things were something less than pleasant. I flew to California but not before I had flown to St. Louis, Mo., to be a witness at the wedding of a dear relative. THEN, I flew to the sunny west.

By this time, I was so confused I didn't exactly know where I was flying, but in a plane I was. I was in this plane that managed to fly over the painted desert, which amazingly enough had just been painted. Pink. And then we flew over the Grand Canyon, which was also pink but deep. Very deep. The pilot was very decent and banked so that one minute I was headed for a solid wall of canyon and the next, I was headed for outer space. It was confusing but wildly entertaining.

In the meantime, while Mother was in Michigan with Lebanon nephew, who thinks things are quite bad as he had lost his boat, clothes, papers, furniture and secretary, he decided to fly back to the middle west with her to meet other Lebanese officials who also thought things were quite bad. Clairvoyant, you know.

As I was flying home from the land of the movie star and Trocadero, I kept thinking that it would be much cheaper and more efficient if my family grew their own wings and just flapped them in case of emergency. Which is always.

Ray Feind Jr. Takes Iowa Bride Sept. 6th

Friends and relatives traveled to Jefferson, Iowa September 6 for the marriage of Miss Carrie Peninger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N Peninger of Jefferson and Raymond A. Feind Jr., son of the senior Raymond Feinds, 905 Mayfair, Arlington Heights.

The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock in First Presbyterian church of Jefferson with Rev. Dick Harberts officiating. Mr. Peninger gave his daughter in marriage during the double ring service. Organist was Mrs. Robert Thompson.

FOR HER marriage the bride wore a street-length princess style dress of white rayon peau de soie fashioned with scoop neckline and short sleeves. Imported flowers were appliqued down the front of the dress. A head band of the peau de soie held her shoulder-length veil in place and she carried a bouquet of white rose buds surrounding a white orchid.

Mrs. Tommy R. Fisher of Grand Junction, Iowa was her sister's only attendant and wore a cocoa brown lace sheath dress with beige accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

James Fiocchi of Highland Park was the bridegroom's best man and Dale Peninger of Bagley, Iowa, was usher.

A RECEPTION for 30 guests was held in the home of the bride's parents where Mrs. Peninger received in a green tailored dress of sheer wool with dark brown accessories. Mrs. Feind chose a violet print silk suit and both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

The new Mrs. Feind has completed 2½ years at the University of Iowa and her bridegroom, three years at Coe college in Cedar Rapids where he is affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon. Mr. Feind will be employed by Arlington Heights post office until he begins six months training in the service, after which the couple will return to Iowa university to complete their education.

Wente-Klages Nuptials Held Aug. 23 in Palatine Church

(Bak Studio

Light blue silk organza dresses over blue taffeta were worn by the attendants of Miss Jean Wente, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wente, 1116 S. Quentin rd., Palatine, when she became the bride of Ronald Klages, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klages, 1135 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. The wedding took place at 7:30 p.m. August 23 in United Church of Christ, Palatine. Rev. Peter Beecken officiated at the candlelight, double ring service.

Baskets of gladioli and carnations decorated the church as the soloist, L. Hicks, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Fred Buehler was organist.

The bodice of the bride's gown was of chantilly lace over satin with sabrina neckline, while tiers of lace and nylon tulle made up the floor-length skirt, which ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tiara of pearls and sequins and she carried two orchids with stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

MRS. DON WENTE, sister-in law of the bride, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Betty Senne and Donna Jean Rose. All wore identical gowns fashioned with shirred bodices, V necklines and full, floor-length skirts. They also wore picture hats to match and carried cascades of pink roses and ivy.

The bridegroom's niece, Victoria Weidner, 3, was flower girl. She also wore a light blue dress and carried a basket of rose petals. The bride's 5-year-old nephew, Craig Wente, was ring bearer.

Best man was Fred Hildebrandt and ushers were the couple's brothers, Donald Wente and Richard Klages.

THREE HUNDRD fifty guests attended the reception held in the VFW hall after the service. Mrs. Wente received in a dusty rose lace dress with chiffon side panel and Mrs. Klages in a blue lace dress trimmed with satin. Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses and stephanotis to complement their gowns.

After a week's wedding trip to the Wisconsin Dells, Mr. Klages and his bride are at home at 1036 S. Quentin rd., Palatine.

Alpha Chi's Include Round-up In Fall Plans

Mrs. Eugene Moscaret of Mt. Prospect, chairman of the Lyrette group of Alpha Chi Omega alumnae, presided September 9 as members discussed plans for the coming year. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Butler, Northbrook.

Highlight of the fall season will be the "Alpha Chi Round-up" October 13 for activities and alumnae from Chicago and suburbs, sponsored by Alpha Alpha alumnae chapter of which Lyrette is a part. The round-up, to be held at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon temple in Evanston, will celebrate the founding of the sorority in 1885 at DePauw university, Greencastle, Ind. A style show, featuring costumes of the 1800's will be a part of the evening's entertainment. Assisting with decorations, will be Mrs. Jack Roberts of Wheeling and Mrs. William Lebsock of Arlington Heights.

THE WINTER season will feature the 11th annual Alpha Chi Omega cerebral palsy benefit, a dance to be held at the Congress hotel, February 21. Profits from the dance will again go to the ecrebral palsy speech clinic at Northwestern university. (S

CARRYING OUT K-P DUTY in St. Peter Lutheran school kitchen are these members of the church's mothers' club, preparing their smorgasbord to be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, September 25, in the dining room of the school, Northwest hwy. and Highland ave., Arlington Heights. More than 100 mothers will prepare and serve the dinner which has been one of the most popular culinary events of the community for the past 17 years. Standing are Mrs. Wayne Swearingen, co-chairman and Mrs. Lorence Bartelt, chairman of the affair. Seated are Mrs. Leonard Reckwerdt and Mrs. Elmer Meyer, chairman of the cooking groups, and Mrs. Fred Gieseke Jr., president of the club. Proceeds will be used to buy desks and other supplementary equipment for the school.

Plan Education For Marriage

Two series of education for marriage classes will be offered in October by the Planned Parenthood association with the cooperation of the Chicago Rabbinical assocition and the Church Federation of Greater Chicago. Topics of the four sessions, designed for engaged and recently married couples, are: Money Management; Sexual Harmony in Marriage; Spiritual Values in Marriage; and Emotional Adjustments.

The classes are held at 203 N. Wabash, room 706. One series will meet Wednesday evenings, from 7 to 9, October 1, 8, 15 and 22; the other Sunday afternoons from 3 to 5, October 5, 12, 19 and 26. Information regarding registration and fee may be obtained by calling DEarborn 2-4856.

Heights Juniors Outline Plans For New Season

Chairmen of the standing and special committees outlined the club's plans for the 1958-59 season when active and prospective members of Arlington Heights Junior Womans club met September 10 at Pioneer Park for their first meeting of the fall season.

Enthusiastic plans were then made for participation in the projects which will benefit both local and state philanthropic organizations.

Here's a Salad Ideal for Meals on Crisp Fall Days

by LOIS SEILER

Along with changes in the season come changes in meal planning. With autumn just around the corner, we are featuring a salad that has just the right tang for crisp fall days.

It is a Mincemeat Jello Salad that goes well with fowl or roast beef, and is excellent to serve with a Thanksgiving dinner.

The recipe has been shared with us by Mrs. George Gandsey of 501 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights. It is a favorite of hers because it is so unusual as well as easy to prepare. The salad contains only two ingredients: raspberry jello and mincemeat.

IT LOOKS attractive served on lettuce leaves, and Mrs. Gandsey always tops it with her homemade mayonnaise.

Made from an old family recipe, this mayonnaise is creamy and smooth and an elegant topping for molded salads.

Mincemeat Jello Salad

2 packages raspberry jello
3 tablespoons Nonesuch Mincemeat with apple

Prepare jello as per directions on package. Before the jello congeals, stir in the mincemeat.

Let set in refrigerator. Serve on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing.

Homemade Mayonnaise

2 egg yolks or 1 whole egg
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard
1 heaping tablespoon cornstarch or flour.
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon vinegar
5 tablespoons sugar
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup boiling water

Into a bowl put the salad oil and egg yolks or whole egg.

Into a saucepan put the salt, mustard, cornstarch or flour, butter, vinegar, sugar and lemon juice.

To this mixture add the boiling water and stir. Cook until it thickens.

Pour the hot mixture into the bowl containing the egg and oil and beat five minutes.

Store in the refrigerator. (Soc

Virginia Roetter Weds College Sweetheart

(Community Camera

Miss Virginia D. Roetter and James E. Hughston were married August 16 at four o'clock in Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, by Rev. Edgar H. Behrens. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roetter, 618 E. Golf rd., Arlington Heights, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mr. G. F. Hughston of Fairforest, S.C.

Vocalist Mrs. Florence Schelle, sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. H. Froemling, organist.

Approaching the altar with her father, the bride wore a white french taffeta dress trimmed with brocaded lace and iridescent sequins around the scoop neckline and on the long sleeves. The full skirt of the gown ended in a chapel train. A pearl and rhinestone tiara held her fingertip veil in place and she carried a bouquet of white roses, white orchids and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a necklace of cultured pearls, a gift from her bridegroom.

MATRON OF HONOR was Mrs. Robert J. Ryan of Arlington Heights and bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald Roetter of Chicago, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Erwin Zoellick of Woodstock. They wore light orchid sheath dresses of silk shantung with overskirts of embroidered organdy. Mrs. Ryan's bouquet was of pink roses and carnations while the bridesmaids carried yellow roses and carnations.

Nancy Hughston, 7, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a gown styled identically to the bridesmaids' dresses. She also carried yellow roses and carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, T. Newton Hughston, was best man and Ronald C. Roetter, brother of the bride, and Robert J. Ryan were ushers.

FOR HER daughter's wedding, Mrs. Roetter wore a light rose lace sheath dress with ruffles on the skirt and square neckline. Her corsage was of baby garnette roses and her beaded hat was of iridescent sequins.

Mrs. Hughston wore a beige lace dress with a corsage of yellow roses and beige picture hat.

The reception was held in Mt. Prospect country club for 125 guests. Mrs. Hughston then took his bride on a wedding trip to Lake Placid, N.Y.

The new Mrs. Hughston was graduated from Arlington high school in 1956 and then studied two years at the University of Rochester Eastman school of music. Mr. Hughston was graduated from the same school in June 1957 and is now at West Point. The couple is residing in Highland Falls, N.Y.

Womans Club Schedules Art Program; New Member Tea

The interest in original painting will be promoted under a new program adopted by the Arlington Heights Womens' club.

Artists in Arlington Heights and the adjoining areas who wish to display their works will be invited to participate.

The Women's club is making arrangements with park district officials so that the paintings can be displayed at the regular monthly meetings of the club at Recreation Park fieldhouse, 500 E. Miner.

Mrs. Clarence J. Hendrickson, seventh district art chairman for the Federated Womens' club and a past president of the Arlington Heights club, is in charge of the program.

"EVENTUALLY," Mrs. Hendrickson said, "We hope to set up a permanent exhibit for those who are interested in exhibiting their art."

Individuals or groups who wish to participate in this project can notify Mrs. Hendrickson at CL 3-1351. Her address is 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

A feature of the club's October meeting in the fieldhouse will be a display of original paintings done by Luc LeBon, Belgium-born artist who now lives at 900 E. Euclid in Arlington Heights. LeBon, who is art director for the Edward H. Weiss advertising agency in Chicago, has displayed his paintings in Europe as well as this country.

THE CLUB will hold a tea for new members Thursday, Sept. 25, 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Clarence J. Hendrickson, 743 N. Belmont, Arlington Heights to meet officers and members of the board.

Mrs. Peter J. McAndrew, membership and courtesy chairman and her committee have arranged a program which will include an address by Mrs. Herman L. Berthold Jr., president of the Arlington Heights Womens' club, in which she will outline the functions of the club.

"Our part in the Federation of Women's Clubs" will be given by Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson.

Little League Dance Saturday Open to All

Arlington Heights Little league will hold its third annual dance Saturday, Sept. 20, at the VFW Hall on Northwest hwy. and Yale. Dance will be held from 9 p.m. to midnight and is open to the public. George Allen and his orchestra will provide the music.

During the evening Dave Miller and his partner will do western make-up for the guests.

The annual dance is one of the major sources of funds for the Arlington Heights boys' baseball program. In 1953 the program began with six teams. During the 1958 program 880 boys participated on 52 teams making the Arlington Little League the largest program of its kind in the Chicago area.

ALL ACTIVITIES are run by fathers and mothers in Arlington Heights on a volunteer basis and funds are made available primarily on a donation basis. It is hoped that everyone interested in the League, regardless of whether they have a son in the program, will attend the dance. Tickets will be available at the dance.

Wake Up Morning Appetites!

Remember that people are cheerier all day if their morning meal is tasty and attractively served. People feel far better, too, when their first meal is nutritious and adequately filling.

This pleasant breakfast table, laid with a checkered cloth, set with stacks of gay pottery plates and oversized "Good Morning" coffee cups, offers a wooden platterful of individual casseroles of browned hash topped with poached eggs. Either canned hash or the homemade variety, using up leftovers from your weekend roasts, will prove filling and delicious. Meat, eggs and tomato juice are a wise breakfast choice for maximum energy during the day. To make the main dish a hit, set out the proper seasonings, salt and Tabasco.

A DROP OR two of Tabasco does wonders for a glass of tomato juice, by the way, and of course it is famous for its way with eggs. You can add Tabasco directly to poached eggs at the table. When making scrambled eggs, omelets and eggnogs, add Tabasco just after beating the eggs.

Egg poachers are inexpensive handy kitchen items but if you don't have one, here's what to do:

Fill a buttered skillet with enough water to cover eggs about one inch. Bring water to a boil, then lower heat so water simmers. Break egg into cup; lower cup to skillet and quickly slip egg into water. Add as many eggs as you need, placing them side by side. Cover skillet, keeping water hot but not simmering and cook eggs until whites are solid and yolks as you like them — from three to five minutes. Slip slotted spoon under each egg, lift to drain, place on hot hash, toast or muffins and season with salt and Tabasco. (Soc

Hospital Auxil. Enters Final Phase of Fair Preparations

Northwest Community hospital womens auviliary is entering the final phase of preparation for its second annual "Community Fair," coming October 9 and 10 at the Arlington Heights field house to culminate six months of planning and work.

At a recent meeting this month, fair committee members reported on the results of workshops set up in Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling and Arlington Heights, where hundreds of auxiliary members worked throughout the summer.

The distinctive handmade items that are the mark of every successful fair will be in abundance this year, exceeding last year's supply in both variety and number. The perennially favorite apron booth will be well stocked with dainty costume aprons and the equally popular utilitarian models. Hundreds of hand knits, stuffed toys, dolls and doll wardrobes, jewelry, Christmas and boutique items are completed but work will continue the rest of this month to insure an adequate supply in all booths.

SEVERAL ITEMS to be used as prizes are ready. Schaumburg workshops produced two, an intricately worked quilt and a unique yuletide tablecloth. Another, a 20-inch doll with an extensive wardrobe, has been on display in the business sections of towns in the area and will continue to be shown almost until fair time.

More space is being provided this year for the display of the Arlington Heights Art guild. Although not affiliated with the hospital auxiliary, guild members and many other area artists sustained an art booth that attracted wide attention at least year's fair. Guild President Mrs. Donald Hodges is again inviting all area artists to participate and reports that arrangements to pick up donations may be made by calling CLearbrook 3-2308 or CLearbrook 5-0829.

ANOTHER OFFER of service from a non-affiliated source was acknowledged gratefully at the committee meeting. Students of the Lu Staahl Studio of Dramatics and Modeling will again entertain children while mothers shop, repeating a contribution of convenience to shoppers made available last year.

While the burden of planning and organization has been on the fair committee, General Chairman Mrs. oJhn Heintz and her fellow committee members laud the enthusiastic and consistent work of the hundreds of auxiliary members representing Barrington, Roselle, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Des Plaines and Arlington Heights, and the generosity of friends of the auxiliary who have pledged materials and services to the fair.

Final arrangements will be made for the last minute details of the fair at a committee meeting October 2. (S

Little Girls Lead Way In Fashion

Everywhere in fashion, the "young look" is news, and the result is that little girls, who have the tremendous advantage of not only looking but being young, are setting the fashion pace for fall.

In recent seasons, girls' wear has copied adult fashions, but fall '58 reverses the process, and the grown-ups copy the girls.

This is apparent in the way a girls' favorite, the pyramid coat, has evolved into the trapeze-line coat. And the same thing is true of high-waisted trapeze dresses, fitted through the shoulders and then flaring out in a manner reminiscent of such young classics as the smock dress and the high-yoked, full-skirted dress.

Along with their enthusiasm for the trapeze line in both coats and dresses, grade-school-age fashion-plates are devotees of the chemise — especially the low-belted chemise coat and the low-flounced chemise dress.

Here again, the girls can claim a "fashion first," because this schoolgirl-look chemise, with its long, easy lines and low-placed pleats or flounce, also appears in adult wear and derives from children's styles of 1910.

Girls' separates, whether meant to mix or to match, whether chemise or trapeze in looks, share the basic idea that blouses, and sweaters, too, are to be worn outside their skirts, not tucked in. Long and easy or "bloused" blouses and sweaters appear with slim, pleated or flounced skirts, while jutting trapeze tops pair up with trapeze skirts.

An alternative silhouette for girls consists of traditional dresses and coats, with natural waistlines and full skirts.

SHORTIE GLOVES win fall favor for both evening and day wear. These are of pearl-trimmed Launderleather.

Costume Looks

Costume jackets this fall range from flaring Empire boleros to hipbone lengths.
